DAN SMOOT

THE TEN-YEAR PLAN

IN his budget message of January 16, 1956, President Eisenhower requested an appropriation of $4,860,000,000 for foreign aid.

This is an increase of more than two billion dollars over appropriations for foreign aid last year and the year before.

Taxing the American people to support foreign governments which are hostile to the American way of life has become so commonplace that there is hardly anything newsworthy in the President's annual announcements that he is again asking for more.

But the current foreign aid proposals do reveal that we have passed another significant milestone in the development of propaganda techniques which persuade the American people to buy their own destruction.

This year, President Eisenhower is asking Congress to authorize foreign-aid commitments for the next ten years.

For several years, high officials of our government have been considering foreign aid as a permanent feature of our foreign policy — have even been making oblique remarks about it in that vein.

But now, for the first time, the President has formally asked Congress to impose upon the American taxpayer the bottomless and endless responsibility of carrying the rest of the world on his back — permanently.

Nothing in our post-war foreign aid programs is more remarkable than the fine skill with which American taxpayers have been persuaded to endure them.

Each program was offered with threats of what would happen without it and promises of short duration; but each program was supplanted by a bigger one.

First it was United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation — UNRRA, financed practically 100 per cent by America — to help war-ravaged countries and prevent them from going totalitarian; but a heavy percentage of UNRRA expenditures went to Russia and her satellites and became the principal means by which communism solidified its hold on central Europe.

Shortly after V-J day, we were told that a four billion dollar loan to the British was the only thing needed to start Europe on the road to peace and recovery.

Later, the Marshall Plan was going to cure everything in four years.

President Eisenhower repeatedly assures us that dollars given in foreign aid buy us more defense than dollars spent at home.

Our own skyrocketing defense budget gives the lie to that argument and proves what we should have known without proof — that one dollar spent on bombs and planes and radar at home will buy more defense of our homeland than all of our wealth poured into the coffers of foreign governments who reduce their taxes while ours increase, and who threaten to take aid from Russia if we don't give them more.

Our foreign aid is spreading throughout the world the philosophy of getting something for nothing — and getting it, of course, from Uncle Sam.

The average American has to put in a pretty good day's work five or six days a week, to earn a living and pay his taxes.

He doesn't have a great deal left over for savings or luxuries because prices and taxes are so high.

Prices are high for the same reason that taxes are: not because merchants are gouging the public, but because of the policies and excessive costs of government.

When you pay a quarter for a loaf of bread that used to cost a dime, you are not giving the farmer or baker or merchant any more profit than he used to make. You are maintaining the labor czars in the manner to which they have become accustomed and you are paying hidden federal taxes made necessary by the wasteful spending of government.

You are helping subsidize foreign governments in areas where the fine old custom of the siesta prevails: where everybody — factory hands, laborers, barbers, shopkeepers, store clerks, government employees — knocks off three or four hours in the middle of each day to rest.

They don't have to work as hard as you do to pay taxes, because a part of the cost of their government comes out of your paycheck.

This is one of the beauties of our foreign aid programs: they enable more people abroad to rest.

And as they enjoy their leisure, they have more time to criticize us for the restless, aggressive, dollar-grasping lives we lead.

The money taken out of your salary each payday has provided your government with the millions needed for building private outhouses in the Philippines and public bathhouses in Iran: bathhouses, incidentally, which the people of Iran did not need, did not want, and would not use after we built them.

How much of this has been going on?

It is impossible to say. Our foreign aid programs are so vast that they defy intelligible reporting or even human understanding.

You can get numerous government publications on our direct foreign aid; but it is quite impossible to get details on our contributions to the United Nations giveaway, through such outfits as UNEPTA, UNOAS, UNREF,

UNICEF, UNRWAPR, AND UNKRA — these mystic symbols being letters standing for the names of United Nations specialized agencies which have been helping to give away the resources of the American people all over the globe.

But here is a safe estimate: the American giveaway abroad through 1955 had totaled more than one hundred billion dollars.

That is over one-third of our official national debt. Our official national debt is equivalent to the total value of all tangible property in the United States — land, farms, mines, mills, factories, homes, buildings, railroads, everything.

We are mortgaged to the hilt. Our federal government owes more than all of the property in the United States is worth, and more than a third of what our government owes results from foreign aid.

The federal government has already seized over a third of the total national wealth and sent it as gifts abroad where, in many cases, it was not wanted and not needed, and where, in most cases, it has been used to hurt the cause of human freedom.

And what do our foreign aid programs do to freedom at home, here in America?

Let us suppose that tomorrow morning two fine-looking young men ring your doorbell and identify themselves as agents of the federal government.

They politely explain that Mr. Eisenhower has decided to give one of your beds to the government of India, and they have come to pick it up.

You — perhaps a typical American housewife — say:

"Wait a minute! The beds in this house are mine, and I need them!"

The young men courteously reply:

"No, Ma'am, we have already checked into that. We have learned that you are a family of five and you have six beds. You can spare one. Mr. Eisenhower wants to give your spare bed to Mr. Nehru in India, so that he can give it to a big family of Indians who don't have any bed at all — who obviously need the bed worse than you do."

"Now look here!" you say. "What I do with my furniture happens to be my business. Mr. Eisenhower has no right to send you in here to take my bed away from me!"

The young men, still quite polite, say:

"Oh yes, Lady, he does. We are doing this in what Mr. Eisenhower calls the enlightened self-interest of the nation."

"What on earth do you mean by that?" you demand.

The young men say to you:

"You see, it promotes the general welfare of the United States — it serves the enlightened self-interest of the nation — for Mr. Eisenhower to take your bed away from you and send it overseas as a gift, because that helps to check the spread of communism, and of course communism is the great enemy of this nation."

You, of course, want to fight communism, but it's still a little unclear how taking your bed away from you can achieve that end.

The nice young federal agents explain it to you very patiently:

"You see, Lady, there are millions of people in India who don't have any bed at all, while you have one bed more than you need. Now, every time those Indians hear about this situation, they are filled with envy and hatred of all Americans.

"There are all those Indians, sleeping in the streets or on straw or standing up (or however they sleep), and here you are with a bed you are not even using. The communists keep telling them about this; Mr. Nehru himself tells them about it; and every time they hear it, more and more of them go communist. Now, as more of them go communist, communism grows stronger. And as communism grows stronger, the United States is in more danger.

"But by taking your bed away from you and sending it over to India to be used, Mr. Eisenhower is fighting all of this.

"When that big family in India gets your bed, they will realize that Americans are nicer people than the communists, because the communists have not given them any beds."

If, as we have supposed, you are a typical American housewife, you will probably at this point get out of your chair and say:

"Look! This is my house, and you get out of it!"

Up to now, the pleasant young federal agents have been scrupulously polite and patient. But now they can no longer be polite. They are obliged to say to you:

"Lady, stand aside. We have come to take one of your beds; and we are going to take it; and if you resist, we will put you in jail."

Wouldn't that be horrible?

If that happened to you tomorrow, would you believe that freedom is still alive in the United States?

Is it likely to happen to you?

Worse than that has been happening to you for sixteen years. The government has not openly sent agents to seize anybody's bed, but government has been seizing your money (a part of your salary, the product of your labor — taking it out of your paycheck before you ever see it) and with that money has been buying beds and butter and wheat and everything else imaginable, and has been sending those things as gifts to foreign governments.

What is the difference between the government's taking $75 out of your wages to buy a bed and send it to India, and the government's actually coming into your home and seizing your $75 bed and sending it to India?

As a matter of fact, if the government would limit itself merely to seizing articles of your household furniture and sending them abroad as gifts, the government would do far less damage to you, to the nation, to the cause of freedom in the world, than it does in seizing your money to send any and everything abroad as gifts.

Why?

Because the government, in many cases, gives away abroad materials that may some day be used by your most implacable enemy to destroy you.

At this moment, billions of dollars worth of American goods are going as gifts to a communist country — Yugoslavia — where the dictator, Tito, a dedicated communist, has shown by countless deeds and words that he has more sympathy and respect for the Soviet Union than for the United States. Moreover, and more specifically, the principal defense industries which our money and equipment have built in Yugoslavia are in the Bosnian Mountains. The Bosnian Mountains are quite open and accessible from the East.

They are practically impregnable from the West.

But the pretext for all this is that we are fighting communism. Communism is the system of social organization in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. Communism is Socialism.

Yet our foreign aid pays for socialism abroad. American dollars have kept socialism alive in Britain for seven years.

Mr. Nehru's openly announced plans are to convert India into a completely socialistic state. Most of the other governments of Asia and Europe are following the same course.

The enemy of freedom in the world is international socialism. Our foreign aid feeds — not fights — the enemy.

This year, it appears that we are to have no public debates on the merits of foreign aid. The argument now, apparently, is to hinge on the question of whether to approve Ike's ten-year plan for foreign aid, or whether to continue foreign aid on a year-to-year basis as before.

If the intellectual and political leaders of our nation had any understanding of, or respect for, the Constitution, there could be no legitimate debate on Ike's ten-year plan, because the proposal is clearly unconstitutional.

The Soviet Union has its five-year plans. Communist China has its five-year plans. And socialist India has its five-year plans.

But in the United States, the people are required by the Constitution to elect a new House of Representatives every two years; and the House of Representatives, under the Constitution, has sole authority to originate tax bills.

The obvious purpose of these constitutional provisions is to give the people a chance to clean house every two years.

But if the 84th Congress can bind all succeeding Congresses for the next ten years to a specific spending program, what good will it do for the people to elect a new Congress?

If Congress for the next ten years is to be nothing but a rubber stamp for approving what the present Congress and the present administration decide upon, we, the people, won't accomplish anything by voting for a change of faces in Washington.

We would be better off to avoid the noise and turmoil and expense of political campaigns and just let the present crowd in Washington do as it pleases.

This, in substance, is exactly what the powerful internationalists forces in America want us to do.

The New York Times, rejoicing over Ike's proposed ten-year plan for foreign aid, said:

"With such assurance we could plan ahead far more efficiently and effectively than is now possible. Soviet activity in this field is not burdened by the artificial one-year budgetary limitation our system imposes upon us. There is no sensible reason why we need have that handicap in one of the key fields of the struggle for democracy's survival."

In other words, the Soviet system which gives the people no choice but to slave for the Great Leader's five-year, or ten-year, plans, is better than ours!

The New York Times says:

"The central question is no longer should we have a foreign aid program. It is rather how can we have the most efficient and effective foreign aid program possible."

Thus, the Times takes the fundamental question out of the arena of public debate, arrogantly claiming that it is stating what the people of America want.

The Times claims that Eisenhower's proposed ten-year plan reflects a "change in the national point of view."

Here is revealed a basic propaganda technique of the eastern internationalists who are using foreign aid, not as a means of helping other people, but as one device for entangling the American economy with that of all other nations on earth, in preparation for the integration of America into the socialist one-world which is the internationalist dream.

Build the concept of Caesarism around the President of the United States. Cultivate a worshipful attitude toward him. Nourish the notion that he is a Great Leader who can do no wrong. And then proclaim all of his programs as reflecting the Will of the People.

This explains why Roosevelt and Eisenhower are much dearer to the hearts of the internationalists than Harry Truman ever was.

The robe of Caesar didn't fit little Harry very well, try as he did to wear it.

Has America — like Rome in her latter days — built a system of satellite nations who have become almost as great a source of fear to us as our enemies are?

Are we afraid to cut off foreign aid, lest our satellites join the enemy and murder us with our own weapons?

Have we completely lost confidence in our ability to defend ourselves? Are we haunted by the fear of losing the support of nations which we have been bribing to act as hired outer guards for us? Don't we know that hired guards have a way of going over to the other side when the other side promises better pay?

The communists can goad (they are goading) us into bankrupting ourselves by merely making promises which they cannot keep — which they have no intention of trying to keep.

Like the pagans of ancient Rome and the communists of our own day, America's intellectual and political leaders have accepted the materialistic philosophy that only a man's belly is important: feed him, and he'll fight for you; don't feed him, and he'll fight against you.

Yet, it is easy to see — in India, for example — that communism never starts among hungry people. It flourishes around the universities and among the intellectuals and politicians, who are prosperous and well-fed.

If it be true that the so-called free world will go our way only if we carry it on our backs, we can be sure of one thing: the free world will ride us until we die of exhaustion, and then join our enemies in the grand orgy of dividing up the carcass.

America couldn't possibly produce enough material goods to feed and clothe and transport and medicate and entertain the rest of the world.

But even if we could, material goods will not save people from slavery.

The American ideal of freedom—grounded in the Christian concept of individual responsibility under God — is a proven cure for the world's economic ills.

But that is the one thing which we no longer export or give away abroad.

Apparently, we have lost faith in it ourselves.

Note: A condensation of this article has been transcribed for my regular weekly radio broadcast.

The People's Pottage

"Between government in the republican meaning, that is Constitutional, representative, limited government, on the one hand, and Empire on the other, there is mortal enmity. Either one must forbid the other or one will destroy the other. That we know. Yet never has the choice been put to a vote of the people.

"The country has been committed to the course of Empire by Executive Government, one step at a time, with slogans, concealments, equivocations, a propaganda of fear, and in every crisis an appeal for unity, lest we present to the world the aspect of a divided nation, until at last it may be proclaimed that events have made the decision and it is irrevocable. Thus, now to alter the course is impossible . . .

"Who says it is impossible? The President says it; the State Department says it; all globalists and one-worlders are saying it.

"Do not ask whether or not it is possible. Ask yourself this: If it were possible, what would it take? How could the people restore the Republic if they would? or, before that, how could they recover their Constitutional sovereign fight to choose for themselves?" — Garet Garrett.

* * * * *

The Decline of the American Republic

"It is not possible to overestimate the significance of this curious twist of fate — the death of the Socialist Party and the rise of socialism as a movement in America. With the practical demise of the Socialist Party, the socialist philosophy has come to dominate the political and economic development of the United States on a scale so broad and at a gait so rapid as to give to it the dimensions and pace of an authentic revolution."

". . . it is essential to understand that our wars in Europe and Asia are mere by-products of one great central assault on our country. The truly Great War — the one which, as I have said, we do not seem to be aware of and do not fight — is the war on the American Republic. Strange as it may seem and difficult as it is to believe, we have been building up the vast Russian Communist tyranny in Europe and Asia and have been tearing down our own great constitutional system in the United States." — John T. Flynn.

* * * * *

The Twenty-Year Revolution

"There is overwhelming evidence that the primary menace to this Republic is not the Soviet military threat, but internal subversion through control of foreign policy and related armaments programs. World War II demonstrated that domestic policy, particularly in the economic field, can be determined by federal expenditures generated by a great emergency. Revolutionaries learned that a post-war external crisis would provide continued justification for the taxing and spending levels and the stifling economic controls by which they hoped to destroy the American free enterprise system."

"The hopes of the people have been frustrated. There has been no change in our foreign and military policies, which account for seven eights of the federal budget. The state department still is dominated by holdovers from the Marshall and Acheson regimes, which betrayed China to communism and involved the United States in a disastrous lost war in Korea. The Eisenhower administration's foreign and mili-

WHO IS DAN SMOOT?

Dan Smoot was born in Missouri. Reared in Texas, he attended SMU in Dallas, taking BA and MA degrees from that university in 1938 and 1940.

In 1941, he joined the faculty at Harvard as a Teaching Fellow in English, doing graduate work for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in the field of American Civilization.

In 1942, he took a leave of absence from Harvard in order to join the FBI. At the close of the war, he stayed in the FBI, rather than return to Harvard.

He served as an FBI Agent in all parts of the nation, handling all kinds of assignments. But for 3 and a half years, he worked exclusively on communist investigations in the industrial midwest. For two years following that, he was on FBI headquarters staff in Washington, as an Administrative Assistant to J. Edgar Hoover.

After nine and a half years in the FBI, Smoot resigned to help start the Facts Forum movement in Dallas. As the radio and television commentator for Facts Forum, Smoot, for almost four years, spoke to a national audience giving both sides of great controversial issues.

In July, 1955, he resigned and started his own independent program, in order to give only one side — the side that uses fundamental American principles as a yardstick for measuring all important issues. Smoot now has no support from, or connections with, any other person or organization. His program is financed entirely from sales of his weekly publication, Dan Smoot Speaks.

tary policies are indistinguishable from those which produced the present crisis except that even greater global commitments have been made."

"In 1948, Eisenhower was favored for the Democratic nomination instead of President Truman by Americans for Democratic Action, the party's extreme left wing. The ADA and the CIO-PAC collaborated in the production and distribution of a million pamphlets calling for the nomination and election of Eisenhower as a Democrat."

"... Minority control of the Republican nominating conventions has deprived the American people of the oportunity to redirect the course of the United States government. President Eisenhower, elected on the promise of 'a change in Washington,' is continuing policies and programs which the people opposed at the polls and which, if not arrested, will destroy America." — Chesly Manly.

The Key to Peace

"Despotism never advertises itself as such. Invariably it is a wolf in sheep's clothing. By its own definition it will be 'democratic,' 'progressive,' 'liberal,' 'humanitarian' and 'fraternal.' Those who oppose it will be called reactionaries, fascists and other currently bad names. It is not by its name, therefore, that you shall know Absolutism, but by what it proposes to do. Whenever relaxation of existing limitations upon the power of government is suggested, you are upon notice that your liberty is threatened. Unless you counterattack swiftly and sharply you are likely to be denatured."

"Unless constitutional limitations upon the spending powers of Congress are effectively and speedily established, all other constitutional limitations will soon be swept aside in our constantly accelerated drive toward centralized socialism. Money is power, and, when the materialistic concept controls, unlimited money is unlimited power." — Dean Clarence Manion.

DEAR AMERICAN –

WHO AGREES WITH THE STATEMENT OF HERBERT HOOVER, THAT:

"The spirit of nationalism springs from the deepest of human emotions. It arises from the yearnings of men to be free of foreign domination, to govern themselves. It springs from a thousand rills of race, of history, of sacrifice and pride in national achievement."

AND SO; AS WE REVIEW HAPPENINGS THE WORLD OVER – WHETHER THEY BE THE ACT OR aftermath of the death of Colonialism; the resistance to compulsory integration; the struggle against Zionism, Communism, domination of controlled mediums of publicity; or a hundred other similar happenings which can be mentioned – the keynote of all is man's inborn urge to do as he desires, so long as he does not deliberately injure his fellow man.

AMERICAN HISTORY HAS PROVED THAT NATIONALISM AND LIBERTY ARE BLOOD-TWINS. YET WE FEEL them slipping from our grasp. What to do about it? That's the problem! To think and act rightly, we know that we must have the facts. Simple experience is not enough. Aristotle, sensing that turmoil and disaster had come of Athenian democracy, spoke out against Plato's communism, saying:

"Let us not disregard the experience of the ages; surely, in the multitude of years, these things if they are good, would not have remained unknown."

And Athens declined to nothingness, never to recover.

People, seeking a better tomorrow, are inclined to forget the mistakes of yesterday which led to today's plight. They want today's facts, not yesterday's lessons. But, to uncover the facts is difficult because of today's planned confusion and its resulting chaos. The individual is placed in the position of the patron of a cook in Williston, North Dakota who recently proved that when ketchup, mustard, pickles and relish are served in a bun, the patron doesn't notice the absence of the hamburger.

LEST THE ABOVE BE CONSIDERED FACETIOUS, LET US REVIEW BRIEFLY, A PARTIAL RECORD OF THE courtmartial of Billy Mitchell on October 28, 1925. The questioner is Gullion, an army prosecutor:

"Gullion: You seem to have quite a bit to say about Hawaii, Colonel. For example you write that 'Pearl Harbor has no adequate defense against air attack' . . . and that a foreign power could attack and reduce the Hawaiian Island in a matter of minutes. Do you actually believe that?

"Mitchell: I not only believe it; if you will look into those letters, you'll find my specific observation as how it can be done.

"Gullion: I was coming to that . . . Your letter dated Dec. 14th, 1923. I'll read this slowly and distinctly because I want the court to know that you are second to none. That you are an expert in palmistry, table tipping and the reading of tea leaves . . . I'll let your words speak for themselves. 'Preceded by scouting submarines, enemy air craft carriers will lay off the Island of Oahu at a distance of about 150 miles. The attack will be launched in two waves and without warning. The first wave will strike at Pearl Harbor, Scofield Barracks and the Ford Island Airdrome, and the naval fuel and ammunition dumps. The attack will be followed by a second shortly thereafter, its objective being the city and wharves of Honolulu.' . . . Now, there's one piece of information I couldn't seem to find in your communications. Perhaps you could enlighten us. Does your crystal ball reveal by what enemy this mythical attack will be made?"

To an intelligent, specially qualified courtmartial board, Gullion had truth on his side; Billy Mitchell was fantastically and criminally stupid. Only one officer dissented – an officer named Douglas Arthur MacArthur.

WHICH BRINGS US TO . . . the latest notes from Moscow and the visit of Sir Anthony Eden, all as preliminary to World War IV in the offing! Mr. Eden is in trouble at home. So is Mr. Eisenhower, though he seems unaware of it. Both are personally-rather-nice chaps-and both are plagued by ill health. If you do not believe that such a state of affairs will influence what you say and do, think a moment of how you, personally, act in similar circumstances. But, there's a difference. When, as a nice chap in ill health, you pull a boner, you can apologize, repair the damage – but to a chief of state or prime minister this course is verboten –

UNLESS . . . the assertion of Mr. Dulles (also a nice chap in ill health) that within the past eighteen months America has stood, three times, on the threshold of war can be interpreted as such an apology! During this same period the White House repeatedly stated that we have been closer to peace than for many years. Then comes the question, which statement was the boner, which the apology? If, as Mr. Eisenhower has stated, we've been so close to peace, how could we also be on the threshold of war? Or, reversing the order of the question: if what Mr. Dulles said is true (and Mr. Eisenhower has not denied it, nor does Closer–Up) and if we really have been on the verge of war three times–and apparently without the knowledge of Congress–is it self-evident that Mr. Eisenhower has been personally about to plunge the nation into war without warning? Not just once, but three times since his advent to office? And he's raising the score to four by maintaining silence in the face of a crisis in the Middle East?

THE MIDDLE EAST WAR CRISIS WAS TREATED EXTENSIVELY IN LAST CLOSER–UP. THE SITUATION HAS eased in no respect whatsoever. Since the beginning of the year, Washington has been flooded with delegations, conventions and meetings of the representatives of U. S. and World Jewry – all pointed toward putting political pressure on Eisenhower, Dulles and Congress; to not just supply arms to Israel; but also to demand that U. S. and Britain guarantee to protect Israel's stolen borders. As we go to press the pressure is having its effect. In replying to a letter from 40 Republican and 87 Democratic House members that "Israel be allowed to obtain in the open market such weapons as would assure her protection against aggression"; Dulles declared that the U. S. policy is to save Israel and not to close the door on possibly selling arms to Israel." Dulles warned however that peace in the Middle East "cannot rest on arms alone."

Specifically, these pro-Israeli Congressmen request that Israel be permitted to spend $50 million for U. S. defensive weapons. The announced goal of the United Jewish Appeal (UJA) in the United States for the year 1956, is some $105 million–with half or more allocated to Israel. The sale of Israeli bonds will bring in additional millions. And these 127 members of the House would permit this money to be spent for arms for Israel in violation of the law; specifically Title 18, Criminal Code of the U. S. Statutes, section 13:

"ORGANIZING A MILITARY EXPEDITION AGAINST A FRIENDLY POWER:

Whoever within the territory or jurisdiction of the United States or any of its possessions, knowingly begins or sets foot or provides or prepares a means for or furnishes the money for, or who takes part in, any military or naval expedition or enterprise to be carried on from thence against the territory or dominion of any foreign Prince or State, or of any colony, district or people with whom the United States is at peace, shall be fined not more than $300 or imprisoned not more than three years or both."

The above statutes were deliberately violated by this minority pressure bloc in 1948, at the time of the Israeli-Arab war (See Closer–Up, Sept. 23, 1955.) It is certain to be violated again and without protest from the Administration or the Congress–this being an election year.

THE EISENHOWER "CLOSER TO PEACE" AND DULLES "THRESHOLD OF WAR" STATEMENTS BECOME more understandable in the light of domestic politics. It seems apparent that the Zionist apparatus wants Eisenhower again to carry the Republican colors in the presidential race; if only to retire later and turn the office over to a hand-picked running mate–probably Stassen. If the ailing incumbent should seem inclined to eschew the ardors of another campaign, then the Middle East crisis can be exploited on the basis that "we must not change horses in the middle of the stream." On the other hand, if Eisenhower determines to run of his own free will, we can expect a "play-down" of the Middle East crisis until it bursts upon us as war-in-fact.

WHILE TROUBLE BUBBLES IN THE MIDDLE EAST, NATO MAY BE COLLAPSING IN EUROPE. AGAIN FACTS are being concealed from the general public; but it is not news in Washington that the Pentagon and the Joint Chiefs of Staff have a genuine fear that the whole Western defense system is about to crack up. Britain, with gold reserves dropping, faced with economic difficulties at home and abroad, is in a bad way; is in no mood to do other than survive. Britain must make whatever concessions seem necessary to maintain her vital trade in the Middle and Far East. Eden came to Washington urging the U. S. to soften its trade embargo against Red China. Only the degree of success attained by Mr. Eden is unannounced.

Strongly influencing the British position is the well founded fear that France not only will not stand firm, but that she may go communist in the political sense. In the recent election the Communists (led by Thorez) polled 5,460,000 votes giving them 150 seats in the Assembly. The left-wing Socialists (under Mendez-France) won 181 seats with 5,880,000 votes. The combined Socialist-Communist bloc has 331 seats; and only 298 seats are necessary to control the Assembly. The Conservative bloc (Faure-Pinay) polled 6,300,000 votes to gain 196 seats, the Rightist Extremists (Poujade) received 2,940,000 votes to win 55 seats. So, against the left wing bloc of 331 seats, the combined Conservative and Rightist groups can muster only 251 votes. Various other minority parties control but 12 seats.

There is no majority party in France, political differences between minority parties are delicate but fixed, and long-time blocs are rare. But left wingers usually hold together on economic policy. And with further economic and political distress in France, the Communist-Socialist bloc may take total control. In the event of a war crisis, Britain then might be faced with a potential enemy just across the channel – and NATO troops in Europe would find Communist forces both front and rear – and even in-between.

A PATTERN FOR INTERNAL REVOLUTION MAY BE FORMING IN FRANCE: A BATTLE BETWEEN THE Communists and the Rightists led by Pierre Poujade. The 35 year old, small town shopkeeper stunned older, more experienced politicians with his nearly 3 million votes. Poujade's party is one of most rigid discipline, reminescent of the early days of the Nazi Party in Germany. Poujade himself threatens death by hanging for any disobedience to party principles on the part of his 55 party members in the Assembly. His campaign was accompanied by open anti-Semitism, and he has not objected to being called "fascist."

Also worthy of note is a recent upsurge of nationalism in Western Germany. How long Chancellor Adenauer can keep this under control is problematical.

THE CONSERVATIVE BLOC ON THE HOME FRONT IS ON THE MOVE!

Substantial and important progress is being made among Conservative and Rightist organizations in the United States; in that they are beginning to combine for political action in this election year. Florida has taken the lead in this respect, the combined groups offering a conservative slate in the coming Democratic primaries. Leading the ticket for Florida's post of Governor is the forthright retired National Guard General Sumter L. Lowry. Born in St. Augustine, educated in Tampa public schools and a graduate of Virginia Military Institute, Gen. Lowry was a Florida National Guardsman for 35 years, served through all ranks and overseas in two World Wars, and holds both the state and national distinguished service medals. 62, he is director of an insurance firm in Tampa. He will campaign openly on the subject of integration in the public schools, which he calls, "the greatest threat to our constitutional government and will destroy our way of life."

General Lowry's announcement is being followed by others for all important state offices – insuring all conservative groups and individuals an opportunity to vote for the principles of state and constitutional rights. Urgent pleas are being made to all conservative groups such as Federation for Constitutional Government, For America, We – The People, the Constitution Party and others to vote for General Lowry and the entire conservative slate. If this is done and an active campaign waged, these candidates can be elected, and the delegates to the national convention controlled.

Similar action is being taken in 10 other Southern States; action in still more States is "in the works."

Every Closer-Upper is urged to support this movement for Conservative and Right Wing coalition to select one slate of candidates in every State. Disregard Party labels; form a Third Party if such action seems best for the particular State – but combine and cooperate on one slate. Don't split the conservative vote! This may be the last chance we have to create a balance of political power on behalf of State and Constitutional Rights!

CLOSER-UP HAS BEEN ASKED TO EXPLAIN "INTERPOSITION".

The word is being used in news reports but isn't being explained; or, at best is being treated as something of a novelty invented by contemporary Southerners who grope for legal straws and whose mental health is in doubt. Actually, "The Right To Interpose" is an old and honored doctrine which gives the people of the several States the right to call a halt to Federal encroachment, and is directly applicable in the current forced integration controversy.

In the segregation squabble, "Interposition" means this: The Supreme Court exceeded its Constitutional Authority in May 1954 when it handed down a "legislative" decision outlawing segregation. Whenever such an "exceeding of Constitutional Authority" occurs, the State has a historic right to interpose its sovereignty to halt the federal encroachment. The "Right To Interpose" was stated in the Virginia Resolution of 1789: In the event of a "deliberate, palpable and dangerous" exercise by the Federal Government of powers not granted to it by the Constitution, the States who are parties to the Constitution "have the right, and are in duty bound, to interpose for arresting the progress of the evil and for maintaining, within their respective limits, the authorities, rights and liberties appertaining to them."

Traditionally, when the "Right To Interpose" is asserted by one or more States, the controversy is referred to the States and the people, and to Congress, by the presentation of a Constitutional Amendment. As it concerns the segregation controversy, it is felt that the necessary three-fourths of the States (36) would never ratify such an amendment to the Federal Constitution and that, therefore, the power to maintain "equal but separate" facilities would be re-affirmed; and the authority-to-segregate or integrate would remain with the States.

There is the legal precedent for such action. In the 1790's, Georgia insisted that the Supreme Court had overstepped its authority in a claims case. The State flatly refused to pay the claim; the Georgia House even passed a bill providing that any marshal who attempted to enforce the Supreme Court order would be hanged. The result of the controversy: the Eleventh Amendment to the Federal Constitution which, in effect, declared Georgia right and the Supreme Court wrong.

The historical and legal background of the "Right To Interpose" has been most ably presented by James J. Kirkpatrick, distinguished editor of the Richmond News-Leader, in "Human Events," December 24, 1955. Copies are available at 6 for $1.00. Write to Human Events, 1835 K Street, N.W., Washington 6, D.C. Mr. Kirkpatrick, in the 4-page article, makes this important point:

"What could be more capricious than government by a (Supreme) Court that has reversed itself 36 times in the past 18 years? . . . Our hope in espousing the doctrine of interposition is that others will see, as we have come to see so plainly, that Federal encroachments upon the reserved powers of the States far transcend the issue of schools or segregation. . . . If three-fourths of the states agree that this power to operate racially separate but equal schools should be prohibited to the states, then so be it. We will then meet the enormously difficult problems as best we can. But until this verdict is handed down, we can plead only that so violent a disruption in our long established customs, which we ourselves have been struggling desperately to resolve, should not be thrust upon us by judicial fiat alone, but should come as the sober, considered act of not fewer than three-fourths of the sovereign States."

RABBI COMMENDS OVERSEAS FORCES

Dr. Mark, Back From Mission, Reports 'Excellent Morale' —Newman Assails Dulles

The senior rabbi of Temple Emanu-El, Fifth Avenue and Sixty-fifth Street, reported yesterday that the morale of this country's uniformed personnel serving overseas was "generally excellent."

Rabbi Julius Mark returned recently from a three-week "preaching mission" in the Pacific and Far East undertaken at the invitation of Donald A. Quarles, Secretary of the Air Force.

In his sermon, Rabbi Mark declared that "our young people in military life are not more immoral than those in civilian life."

He emphasized that young men and women who have enjoyed wholesome upbringing in the home "are not likely to stray from the path of rectitude when they are away from home, nor will they suddenly abandon a way of life which has been taught them by loving and understanding parents."

The clergyman praised the Department of Defense for what he described as its "keen and personal interest in the moral and spiritual well-being of our young people in uniform."

He likewise commended commanding officers, who "without exception have manifested a genuine desire to cooperate with religious agencies, military or civilian."

At the same time, Rabbi Mark noted that for the most part troops serving overseas "exhibit a remarkable interest in cultivating a religious outlook upon life."

He commended the National Jewish Welfare Board and the United Service Organizations for providing "wholesome" off-duty recreation.

Rebuke to Dulles Suggested

Preaching at Temple Rodeph Sholom, 7 West Eighty-third Street, Rabbi Louis I. Newman was sharply critical of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

The rabbi urged that Mr. Dulles' "superiors" take steps to "repudiate" him and that the Secretary of State be "soundly reprimanded for his ignorance, his flagrant appeal to racial hates, and his smooth rejection of responsibility for words and acts which will hasten the Arab attack on Israel."

"When the winter rains are over and the spring arrives, the Arabs, encouraged by the remarks of John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State of the greatest nation on earth, are certain to launch an airplane attack on Tel Aviv and Haifa," Rabbi Newman said.

"When this occurs, the blood-guilt will be on the heads of all who, like Secretary Dulles, have played directly into the conspiratorial designs of the Arab war-makers, the present-day imitators of Hitler."

War Dead Honored by Hulan Jack

The New York Times

A wreath is placed at Eternal Light by Borough President Hulan E. Jack, in observance of Army and Navy Union Day.

Borough President Hulan E. Jack of Manhattan became an honorary life member of the Army and Navy Union yesterday.

Mr. Jack received a silver membership card at a luncheon that commemorated the seventieth anniversary of the organization. The Army and Navy Union is said to be the oldest veterans' group in the country. The luncheon was held at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory, Park Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street.

In accepting the membership card, Mr. Jack observed that a person in public life "sometimes becomes a target for character assassination."

He equated the efforts of the White Citizens Councils of the South with those of the Communist party. Either, he said, "would destroy our democratic way of life."

Last week in New Orleans, Mr. Jack was the subject of charges that in the past he had associated with subversive organizations. He denied the charges.

Before going to the armory yesterday, the Borough President proclaimed March 3 as Army and Navy Union Day at a ceremony at the Eternal Light in Madison Square Park. He laid a wreath at the monument commemorating the dead of all wars.

SEASICKNESS HIT ON A NEW FRONT

~~ENCLOSURE~~

Experiments by Navy Cutting Down on Pitch and Roll in All Its Newer Ships

United States Navy engineers stage life-like ocean storms only a stone's throw from the nation's capital to help find ways of building better and more economical ships, says The United Press. And, in the process, they're uncovering ways of safeguarding against seasickness by decreasing the pitch and roll.

Before millions of dollars are invested in building the real the water, the way sound travels underseas, the effects of explosions on a ship's structure, development of underwater television, and dozens of other related subjects are under study.

At speeds up to 60 knots an hour, ship models are towed through the water by electrically operated carriages made of steel tubing that travel on rails running alongside. Precision instruments are carried either on the carriage or the ship model.

Waves simulating ocean conditions that could batter ships to pieces are controlled by engineers while every stress and strain, pitch and roll of the model is recorded. Men on the carriage and operators of wave machines coordinate the operation by short-wave radio.

Self-Portrait of Two Men Who Were President Truman

On April 12, 1945, Harry Truman became President of the United States by circumstance. On November 7, 1948, he became President by right of election. In the contrast between these two events there lies the key to the strange, and certainly fascinating, story of the two men who were President Truman.

Thinking back to that first April, if you can close the mind to what happened afterwards, there is no reason to doubt that a humble man came to the White House. Not only does the adjective and the attitude dominate the first volume of his memoirs written long afterwards; it shows in the correspondence of the time, including the famed letters to Mama and Mary, and in the recorded actions. This was a man to seek advice, to listen to it, to struggle with decision. He was a man who felt overwhelmed by destiny but wanted to meet it as best he could.

In 1948 it was the country that was overwhelmed, with all its prophets confounded. The man who proved all the wise men wrong and himself right was Harry Truman. And although the country did not then know it, it was therefore a different man of the same name who went back to the White House.

For that reason, though Mr. Truman himself very next-honorable, second volume of memoirs is a wholly different book. It has a different leading character, a new assortment of villains and an altered spirit. Here is no view of the world seen through humble spectacles.

The second Harry Truman did not, of course, burst full blown upon election night. Indeed, one of the things that makes this volume so interesting is that the watchful reader can observe the first Truman being gradually submerged by the man who was supremely confident, and always supremely right. There is only one place in all the book where Mr. Truman entertains the faintest notion that he might have been wrong, and that was about something that happened in 1939, long before he dreamed of the Presidency.

Open the book at random and on one set of facing pages you will find, phrase after phrase: "I gave positive direction" "I expected them to carry out" "I therefore insisted" "I compelled" "I had to put a stop" "I ordered" "I was able to inform Congress" "I had to watch them all the time" The monotony of the rhythm is such that in the single span of forty-two lines there is the beat of seventeen first person pronouns.

Against the background of this beat there begins to emerge the outline of the developing Truman. At least two years before the 1948 election he already saw himself being assailed by such an assorted cast as Herbert Hoover, the American Medical Association, General Wedemeyer, the Democratic Congress, Chiang Kai-shek, the British, General Marshall, the meat packing lobby and Henry Wallace. By the time the Republican Congress came in and was abetted by the Southern Democrats, Harry Truman saw himself as left alone to withstand the onslaughts against the Presidency and to save the Republic. On his own reckoning he seized more pieces of major legislation in three years than his predecessor did in three terms.

This growing sense of his own role prepared the stage for 1948. It does not take a psychologist to recognize the effect of that year's event on the personality of Mr. Truman. For here he was, presumably disgraced and beaten, abandoned by two segments of his own party, setting out against odds which even his best and closest friends told him were hopeless. Yet set out he did, with pluck and vigor and an inner confidence built on the ability to submerge all doubts about his own essential rightness.

The effect of that victory on Harry Truman was electrifying. Whereas before he submerged doubts, now he felt himself justified beyond question. From that moment the memoirs take on a new tone because Harry Truman was a different man. From that moment Mr. Truman began to lose all patience with anyone, from a music critic to a General of the Army, who would differ with the man who had been right when everyone else was wrong.

What is fascinating about all this is the ingenuous way in which Mr. Truman sketches in this self-portrait in his own story. He admits that MacArthur did not understand war as well as he. The Supreme Court, in the steel seizure case, did not understand Constitutional law as well as he. Adlai Stevenson did not understand politics as well as he. And if these people had just listened to the new Truman, all would have saved.

What is curious about all this is the fact that Mr. Truman, the author, manages to reveal all in undisguised fashion and yet leave his central character, Mr. Truman, warm, understandable and even appealing. It is the kind of artlessness that is the despair of Hemingway or Steinbeck. The secret, whatever it is, is the same one that confounded the pollsters and proved the despair of Mr. Dewey. Perhaps it lies in the candor with which Mr. Truman displays a direct egoism that other men may feel but are too inhibited to express.

Whatever it is, it makes the reading of his memoirs a memorable experience. Unlike most statesmen's memoirs, their value lies not so much in the dull story of history as in the narrative drama of stirring events and the fascinating character study of the extraordinary man at their center.

Indeed, the historians will have some trouble with these memoirs and the reader who comes to them ignorant of the times will get a strange picture of that history.

This is so not only because some of Mr. Truman's asserted facts are disputed by a distinguished list of former friends and associates — including MacArthur, Baruch, Byrnes, Francis Biddle, Leo Crowley, Admiral Leahy, Generals Wedemeyer and Hurley, and Henry Wallace—although these disputes naturally put the truth in doubt.

The picture is also made strange by some startling omissions. For instance, Mr. Truman manages to tell the story of his Administration without discussing the great controversies over the files or the Harry Dexter White cases. Likewise with the oil-tidelands and tax scandals. They are dismissed in a phrase ("fireworks on the window") and the names of many of the major actors do not even appear in the index.

Similarly, he tells the events leading up to the Korean war with quotations from many documents but leaves out of the account the vital statement of Secretary of State Acheson just six months before that war which put Korea outside our claimed sphere of defense. The unwary student would never suspect that this had anything to do with the origin of the war.

He thus seems to ignore the things he does not want to remember, as though he feels that if they can just be forgotten then they never happened.

All this, of course, is a pity, for it deprives the future of a fair and earnest statement of Mr. Truman's point of view and the reasons for his actions in many particulars. It actually creates a distortion which could be unfair to Mr. Truman himself. The writer Mr. Truman, the man who tried to act honestly and conscientiously, cannot really have disappeared so completely as Mr. Truman's latest writings sometimes make it appear that he did.

Historians, as well as his contemporaries, will debate the wisdom of many of his actions. But Harry Truman was President of the United States at a great moment in its history and there can be no question that many of his actions had a profound importance to that history—the unleashing of the atom bomb, the reversal of the pro-Russian policy, the decision to fight in Korea, the creation of the North Atlantic Alliance, the Berlin airlift, the Marshall Plan and the Truman doctrine.

Among these are some things for which posterity will give him great credit. Reading these memoirs one cannot help but wish at times that he had not been so preoccupied with the image in the mirror; posterity might have had then a better glimpse of things as they were. As it is, someone else will have to do the real job of recounting the accomplishments and failures of the Truman Administration. Mr. Truman cannot measure the one because he cannot see the other.

But for all that, Harry Truman has done one job that will help the historians and instruct his contemporaries. He has offered some candid clues to the two men who were President Truman.

The week's sales raised the U. S. total since the quota year began June 27 to 70,321,000 bushels, leaving a balance of 130,969,000.

World sales by members of the agreement totaled 161,144,000 bushels since June 27, leaving a balance of 253,814,000, officials said. Figures for countries other than the U. S. cover sales only through February 24.

Letters To the Editor

Title and Authors

Editor, The Wall Street Journal:

I never before read a review of a book without knowing the name of the author and the title of the book. Now I have done it in William J. Ackerman's letter, "Courses in Economics" (Feb. 24).

If this is a riddle, I give up. I thought I had a fair knowledge of the text books in general economics used in such institutions as Iowa State College. But this one has me stumped. Since there may be other professors of economics also mystified, why not identify the author and his book?

HAROLD W. GUNST

Baldwin, Kan.

[Mr. Ackerman's letter to the Editor was not a book review. The title of the book he discussed is "Economics: Experience and Analysis," published in 1950 by William Sloane Associates, Inc., of New York City. The authors are Broadus Mitchell, Anatol Murad, Monroe Berkowitz and William C. Bagley, in collaboration with Harold H. Hutcheson, Norman Leonard, Louise Pearson Mitchell, Sidney Simon and Kingsley Davis. —Ed.]

Three Assumptions

Editor, The Wall Street Journal:

A serious charge was made in a letter to the editor on February 24 by William J. Ackerman, an engineering student at Iowa State College. Our system of free enterprise will be unable to survive, Mr. Ackerman charged, "if long as there is no effective effort to contradict the Socialist propaganda now being taught the majority of college students."

To document this allegation, he quoted at length from an economics textbook in use at Iowa State. Calling upon businessmen to look into college textbooks, he warned, "the subject matter in other courses follows the same general trend."

In view of the gravity of this charge that the young men and women of America are being intellectually seduced by their own textbooks, we are constrained to review carefully the argument Mr. Ackerman presents. Since we agree with The Wall Street Journal that "parents have a right . . . to know exactly what is being taught their sons and daughters", we believe it is absolutely necessary to set the record straight.

Mr. Ackerman's argument is based on three assumptions.

To evaluate his first assumption that all the statements he quoted were indicative of "Socialist propaganda" (as opposed to "free enterprise"), it is well to review some of those quotes. In regard to "social progress," Mr. Ackerman's textbook apparently stated, "At the present time, the most urgent needs are extension of benefits and coverage of social security, further guarantees of civil liberties, elimination of slums, raising diets to 'minimum adequacy' and 'effective educational opportunities made available to all.'"

Perhaps it is enlightening to compare that alleged "Socialist propaganda" with a statement which appeared on February 1, 1950: "We shall help ourselves and others to peace, freedom and social progress, maintaining human rights where they are already secure, defending them where they are in peril, and peacefully restoring them where they have temporarily been lost . . . (signed) Dwight D. Eisenhower and Anthony Eden."

Further, the Republican Eisenhower Administration, certainly no known friend of Socialism, has issued an Economic Report which "accepts Government responsibility for correcting unemployment, raising farm prices, reducing regional 'pockets of poverty,' and expanding social security." Thus, the tentative conclusion might be drawn that Mr. Ackerman may be confused on exactly what is, and is not, exclusively "Socialist propaganda."

In fairness to our colleague from Iowa, we must also point out that one statement he quotes, namely, "the logic of Marx's position was irrefutable," does seem to be socialistic.

Mr. Ackerman's second major assumption is that from his experience with only one book, in one course, at one college, he can logically infer that "a majority of college students" are being intellectually subverted by "Socialist propaganda."

His third assumption is that the proper remedy for this situation lies in the hands of businessmen in their roles as businessmen. May we respectfully suggest that businessmen, per se, have neither the authority nor the responsibility—to say nothing of the time—to review college textbooks? But, as The Wall Street Journal's editorial pointed out, parents do. It is both their right and their duty.

In conclusion, it would appear first, that Mr. Ackerman is vague on just what is "Socialist propaganda," and second, that he has drawn an unwarranted conclusion from his isolated experience.

REVIEW and OUTLOOK

Changing Systems

Among the proposals before the Congress to change the political campaign contributions system is a bill introduced by Senator Johnson, Democratic majority leader.

Mr. Johnson's measure sets a ceiling on all spending for election to Congress. A man running for the Senate, for example, must limit spending either to $75,000 or to a total of a sum not to exceed twenty cents for every vote cast in any election for the seat in the prior four years. A man who seeks election to the House is limited to $25,000 or the same as twenty cents per voter spending ratio.

There are two reasons, we think, to question Mr. Johnson's measure. For one thing, the bill specifically exempts primary campaigns, except to require filing statements of campaign contributions with the Congress where state laws require such filing with state governments.

Thus there is a limitation on contributions for general election campaigns where Republican is running against Democrat, but the sky is the limit in the primaries where Democrat runs against Democrat and Republican against Republican for the party nomination.

How would this work out in practice? Everybody knows that in the majority of the Southern states—and in a few Northern ones, also—the primary is the election that counts and the general election is only a formality.

So the effect of such a law would be that in some states there is a limit to the number of dollars a man can spend to campaign for Congress but that in other states there is no limit to the number of dollars other men can spend for election to a similar office. Somehow we doubt that the limited Congressman will look kindly upon a proposal that will allow some of their fellows banks unlimited.

That, though, is not the only objection to Mr. Johnson's bill; for that objection might be cured by amending the measure to include primary as well as general elections.

The second question is whether the limitations are realistic. On the books already is a law which purports to limit campaign spending. But everybody knows how ineffective it turned out. All the candidates have to do is to set up different groups and committees to spend money—which they themselves never see or touch—in their behalf.

Mr. Johnson now seeks to cure this by also limiting the spending of committees. Anyone who contributes annually more than $5,000 to a political war chest is required to report the same. Also, anyone who spends $100 or more in a year on an election, aside from contributions to a recognized campaign committee, must report that spending.

The purpose is to discourage large contributions and to encourage small ones—up to $200 can be deducted from income tax payments under the bill. One may agree with the worthiness of the purpose, and still question whether it will work.

The realities of politics suggest that people who need money for political campaigns will legally get around even these restrictions. So far as we know, there is no penalty on individuals who may want to spend money in excess of the prescribed amounts. What is to prevent "unauthorized" committees or individuals from acting in behalf of any candidate? And would money spent attacking a candidate's opponent be considered a contribution within the limitations of Mr. Johnson's bill, to that candidate's campaign?

The Congress may some day find a way to change our accepted system of the right of any individual to support the candidate of his choice with his time, advice, experience and money. When that day comes Congress will also have found a way to change men. And we are not at all certain the change will be for the better.

Enormous Error

The Western powers, in the opinion of the French Foreign Minister, have for years been making the "enormous error" of thinking primarily in terms of military security while the Soviet Union incessantly talks peace.

The notion is not new or confined to France. It also represents the fear of some officials in Washington, who have been disturbed by Soviet peace propaganda and the apparent impression in some parts of the world that the United States is belligerent.

It is easy to see some superficial reasons for the concern. Foreign Minister Pineau cited as one example the recent military exercises the anti-Communist powers held in Thailand—at the same time that the Soviets are prating of trade, aid and peace in Asia. Today the council of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization—a military alliance—begins a series of meetings in Pakistan, a nation the Soviets are assiduously wooing with sweetness.

Such seeming contrasts may dispose some Asians favorably to the Soviets. But before concluding, as M. Pineau does, that Western policy has been wrong in its emphasis, it is well to recall the circumstances that gave it that emphasis.

The West gave serious thought to rebuilding its defenses only after the Soviet Union had subjugated half a dozen European nations through the actual or threatened presence of the Red Army. Western rearmament went into high gear only after the Communists cut off Berlin, conquered China and attacked South Korea. So much for the Soviet "peaceful" record.

Now, what if the West had pursued some course other than rearmament these last years? Would France be free today if the West had not stood up to Moscow? Would India be enjoying the luxury of "neutralism" if the West had not been firm in the Far East? What other policy would have stopped the Communists in the career of aggression they were so well embarked on?

The fact is that the Communists abandoned their policy of force only when they came up against the wall of Western strength and determination, when they realized that another aggressive move anywhere would in all likelihood land them in a lot of trouble.

Only political unsophisticates and fellow-travelers can believe that the continental military alliance of peaceful and the non-Communist alliance belligerent. Unfortunately the "uncommitted" Asians seem to have their share of both. M. Pineau and others apparently think we should strive to convert these by underplaying our military defenses and outdoing the Soviets at their new tactics of peace propaganda and economic promises.

We do not wish to be misunderstood. As much as anyone, this newspaper has consistently cautioned against a reliance upon arms alone in the struggle with Communism; we have urged the exploration of every avenue of negotiation and of winning the good will of the world through a clear showing of peaceful intent.

Yet there is an equal danger in undervaluing the role of military strength in the Communist expansion. We cannot negotiate from weakness; we cannot count on buying friends — and this has been a costly lesson—with our dollars. In the last analysis we cannot make any government see the plain facts of the Soviet record if it is determined not to see. The penalty for political blindness can be heavy, but only the governments themselves can cure the disease.

It is still true, though, that strength and a firm purpose is necessary to influence enemies if not to win friends. And if the West should now adopt the theory that it should dismantle its military strength just to meet the new "challenge" of Soviet peace talk, then it might indeed be committing an enormous error.

Thinking Things Over

By WILLIAM H. GRIMES

Sign of Strength

Suppose that the people of Great Britain had assembled a great conclave and that the proceedings went something like the following:

Queen Elizabeth made the first address to the assembly. The Queen referred only briefly to the reign of her father, George VI, and those brief references were lukewarm and even uncomplimentary.

Prime Minister Eden and other members of his government followed with addresses which condemned the actions of Sir Winston Churchill during the periods in which he was the leader of the British government.

Finally the Lord Chief Justice solemnly laid down the doctrine that certain passages of the Magna Carta did not mean at all what they said and what the British had always supposed they meant.

Well, in those circumstances the whole world would conclude that Great Britain was passing through some great internal crisis; that it had become necessary for the British to turn their backs on those very actions and policies which they had always regarded as the highest achievements of their government and their society.

Or to leave the realm of supposition for actual reality, look at France. After World War II, the French tried and convicted one of their great military heroes, Marshal Petain. Pierre Laval, who had been one of France's political leaders and its premier, was executed by a firing squad.

Obviously such measures were taken because the French were deeply ashamed of the course of their country during the war. The men responsible for that course had to be punished. But no one pretended that the measures did not leave some ugly scars which are all too apparent when one looks at France today.

The Russians have just concluded a great convention representing the governing elite. The members of that assembly listened to, and apparently approved, criticism and rejection of the policies of the man who had ruled the country for a long period of years. Say what you will of Stalin, his tenacity and cunning carried an apparently shattered nation from the brink of defeat to victory. Yet three years after his death the process of "debunking" the Stalin legend is under way; his philosophy is declared false and apparently his name is to be blackened.

But the puzzling thing is that almost no place in the world is this interpreted as a sign of Russian weakness. When Secretary Dulles suggests it might be that, his critics denounce him. The Soviet reversal is hailed as a sign of strength and of a mounting self-confidence on the part of the present Russian rulers.

One thing seems certain. In the period between the end of the war and the death of Stalin Russia's internal situation must have been far more critical than anyone outside Russia supposed.

Those men praised Stalin then because to do anything else meant their death. One begins really to sense that the news of his death must have been the occasion for actual rejoicing among those supposed to be his most trusted lieutenants; indeed, they may have found ways to hasten his death. For years they must have gone about feeling that most with a dagger poised at their heart, held by a hand which could thrust it at will. Then suddenly they were given a reprieve.

So the men who lavished praises on Stalin now make it the official line to inveigh against the "cult of personality," which in plain language seems to mean that there shall not be another Stalin. One can easily understand that Khrushchev, Malenkov and the others who went through the Stalin years must understand—leaving all feelings of humanity aside—that a nation governed by the suspicion, cruelty and whims of a man almost certainly demented can never be strong internally nor find in the rest of the world anything but the reflections of the suspicion which governs it.

Furthermore the Soviet rulers must know that when Stalin died, the vestments of Stalin had to be employed to determine the succession. Beria was killed. Malenkov was first shorn of part of his power and then demoted. There has been a purge of the Beria followers. With or without the aid of the firing squad the favorites of Khrushchev are being brought into the positions of power.

There are indications that the Soviet leaders are beginning to understand that their regime contains a fatal flaw. That flaw is that it lacks legitimacy. There are no accepted rules for succession and as long as they are lacking there can be no continuity.

It may be that the Soviets can repair this lack. It may be that they can establish rules of succession which will be generally understood and accepted by the Soviet people. A self-perpetuating oligarchy which provided for succession without periodic upheavals is a phenomenon not unknown in history. But to accomplish that the Soviet rulers may find that they must change their governmental system to an extent to which they would not be willing to go.

Despite all the Congresses, the Central Committee and the Presidium, the Soviet system is a system of dictatorship. And to run a dictatorship, you have to have a dictator. It is the nature of a dictator that he must be all-powerful. He may be a cruel and suspicious fellow like Stalin or he may be a smoother and more urbane individual. But to the end his word must be law.

The one thing that the dictator cannot do is to train his own successor. Lenin did not trust Stalin but Stalin succeeded him. Stalin tried to nominate Malenkov but he lasted only a few months. A system which is in itself ruthless must finally settle power into the hands of the most ruthless individual.

Stalin murdered Trotsky and suppressed the testament of Lenin. Khrushchev and his company now begin to blacken the name of Stalin and to attempt to restore the names of Stalin's victims.

What it all means no one knows. But those who are now saying that it indicates Soviet strength and confidence may in the course of years be shown up as very bad prophets.

Maritime Board Denies Trans-Pacific Freight Group's Dual Rate Bid

Shipping Conference Sought to Give 9½% Cut to Shippers Using Only Its Services

By a WALL STREET JOURNAL Staff Reporter

WASHINGTON — The Federal Maritime Board denied an "unjustly discriminatory and unfair to shippers" an application by the Trans-Pacific Freight Conference of Japan for authority to give a 9½% reduction in shipping rates to shippers who patronize conference members exclusively.

The shipping conference is expected to appeal the Maritime Agency's decision to the Court of Appeals. Maritime Administrator Clarence G. Morse dissented from the two-to-one opinion.

The Trans-Pacific Conference includes foreign shipping companies as well as such U. S. lines as American Hawaiian Steamship Co., American President Lines, Ltd., United States Lines and Waterman Steamship Corp. Its member companies operate between Japan, Korea, Okinawa, Hawaii, and the U. S. West Coast.

In September, 1953, the group asked the board for authority to institute a so-called dual rate system. This would allow the members to give a 9½% reduction in freight rates to shippers who signed an exclusive patronage contract with the group. The dual rates, the organization said, were necessary to enable it to compete with important independent lines such as Isbrandtsen Co.

Opposing the dual rate application were Isbrandtsen Co. and the Justice and Agriculture Departments.

In turning down the application the Maritime Board's majority said there is no "competitive need" for the dual rate system in the area served by conference members. However, it declared the denial had nothing to do with the "possibility or necessity" in the dual rate system, but only on the lack of a need for it to meet competition.

Dissenting with this opinion, Mr. Morse said there is a "critical need for a dual rate system" in this area.

The Maritime Agency in December approved a dual rate system for the Japan, Atlantic and Gulf Conference, which serves Gulf ports in trans-Pacific trade and which includes many of the same members as the Trans-Pacific Freight Conference.

Business Failures Rise

NEW YORK—Commercial and industrial failures climbed to a new post-war high of 286 in the week ended March 5 from 230 in the preceding week, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported. Reaching the highest level since the week ended March 27, 1941, the total exceeded the 222 of a year ago and the 228 in the comparable week of 1954. Failures were 15% above the pre-war toll of 334 in 1939.

I Love America

"I WAS BORN AN AMERICAN: I live an American: I shall die an American, and I intend to perform the duties incumbent upon me in that character to the end of my career. I mean to do this with absolute disregard of personal consequences. What are the personal consequences? What is the individual man, with all the good or evil that may betide him, in comparison with the good or evil that may befall a great country, and in the midst of great transactions which concern that country's fate? Let the consequences be what they will, I am careless. No man can suffer too much, and no man can fall too soon, if he suffer, or if he fall, to the defense of the LIBERTIES and CONSTITUTION OF HIS COUNTRY!" (from Daniel Webster.)

America is a White-founded representative republican Constitutional form of limited government: see ARTICLE IV section 4 of the CONSTITUTION: (NOT a "Democracy.")

Debating with Judge Douglas at Charleston, Ill., Sept. 18, 1858, Abraham Lincoln said:

"I am not, nor ever have been, in favor of bringing about in any way the social and political equality of the white and black races—that I am not, nor ever have been in favor of making voters or jurors of negroes, nor of qualifying them to hold office, nor to intermarry with White people . . . and I, as much as any other man, am in favor of having the superior position assigned to the White race." (see p. 98 Alien Minorities.)

The Biblical LAW of "Everything after its kind," is laid down in the first chapter of Genesis. Racial purity and segregation is recommended throughout the Bible.
Answering Douglas at Springfield on July 17, 1858, Lincoln said, in part:

". . . . As God made us separate, we can leave one another alone, and do one another much good thereby if we do not let them get together in the territories they won't mix there."

Abe Lincoln's SOLUTION for the race question was PHYSICAL SEPARATION OF THE TWO RACES.

THE EFFECTS OF LABOR UNIONS.

"In principle, a "Labor" union is simply a club or society of individuals who act in concert to obtain financial benefits for themselves. It has no more virtue than any other club organized for selfish purposes. The title "labor" loosely connoting an uncertain nobility, actually means nothing. Most of us labor most of our lives. The great majority us never joined a "labor" union and thus are the intended victims of the acknowledged greed of the unions. All the rest of us who labor are at least as noble in this respect as "laborers" who join unions. The principle of unionism vanished long ago. The unions became predatory job monopolies in the hands of a very few bad men. The late Phil Murray and Wm. Green were scoundrels, without courage or principle. They had no respect for the human rights of others nor for any law but the law of the gang or jungle. The recent faint roars of righteous journalistic fury against Joe Ryan and the petty bosses of his locals in New York Harbor confirms the fact that the press dares not attach the menace of unionism in its massive whole. Ryan and his union are no worse than Meany and Reuther and the AF of L and the CIO. As a club, a union deserves no special privileges over the rest of society. But the spiritual magic of the work "labor" addled our judgement long ago, and the political organizations saw the value of mass endorsements by union in Congress assembled. Unions extorted assessments from their members to pay campaign expenses, of State Senators and Governors, and the corruption of the political life of the nation was inevitable and quick. At the same time, mayors, such as the late Laguardia callously ordered their cops to let unions get away with murder at the order of boss goons who were known to be criminals. Even if the individuals would vote to strike and the effect were as harmful as the effect of the recent steel strike, the law should forbid them to strike, because the strike is a conspiracy against the public interest. It is no great hardship to continue at work at a normal occupation, so the denial of a debatable "right" of these many individuals by a law against strike-conspiracies would do them no harm at all, and would prevent great harm to the rest of society. The proposition that a strike is a voluntary cessation of work by one individual multiplied by one or ten thousand is a fraud which has weakened the position of government. The people, depending on the press, and on ignorant preachers with no higher motive than to be popular, were led to believe that the right to strike is sacred. The people are ignorant, and think only as they are desired to. So, for no fault of their own, they came to a dumb, hopeless belief that a mob of wild men and women, brandishing clubs with razor blades in them, throwing bricks and swinging tire chains at unoffending citizens, and driving the cops before them in abject default of government, were only exercising a right to strike. As a matter of fact, a strike is a conspiracy. No body of men can just happen to stop work all for the same purpose at the same time without planning and discipline. The presence of a conspiracy in such cases doesn't need debate. Most strikers are morally as wrong as so many lockouts of an equal number of workers would be. We told ourselves that the lockout was wrong, long before we bowed to the equal fallacy that a strike is always necessarily right. The ramifications of any big strike nowadays are so vast and expensive that they should be forbidden by some law, even stronger than the Taft-Hartley ordinance. These strikes are not voted for by the workers through secret ballot, but are ordered by some one or more boss goons, as in the Murray steel Strike"--Westbrook Pegler.

Most unions are "loused up" with ideologies of communism, and are un-moral, un-Christian and Un-American, because a union member is required to put the interests of his union above the welfare of his family, and above his duties to his God, His country and His fellowmen. Let's force Congress to abolish all un-American labor organizations, force all persons holding union cards to obey ALL laws just the same as good Americans not affiliated with a labor union, let's kick the communists out of the USA, stop wasting our money on other nations, ditch military conscription, keep our money and boys at home, get our boys and girls out of the armed services, start WORKING for aliving, and make the USA once more a peaceful, prosperous nation.

W.B.Tuttle, Moundsville, W. Va.

At our Congressional Election on Nov. 2nd, Communists, the Communistic CIO andAFofL and the Red Anti-McCarthy Republicans, succeeded in electing for Eisenhower a Democratic Congress. Election Results in West Va.--Landslide for Red CIO.

OPEN LETTER TO PRESIDENT EISENHOWER

Dear Mr. President:

Of late, facts have been coming to the attention of the American people which are so damaging to you, personally, and even to the honor of the American Army, which you commanded, that RIGHT hopes that you will do us the honor of supplying an answer to these vexing questions.

The implication of the below is so utterly fantastic that we are tempted to ignore the whole thing. Yet, we cannot. The facts, unfortunately, exist, and the people must be supplied answers to these disturbing facts if they are to not draw their own ghastly conclusions.

First of all, there are some very minor questions bothering RIGHT--and millions of patriotic Americans. Then, there are some very big questions. More of that, later.

RIGHT would like to know if the rumors about your early career are true: were you sent home from the Philippines by General MacArthur because of your incompetence? Is it true that you are, even today, uneasy in the great man's presence, and that this is the real reason you have refused to draw on his vast store of wisdom? Following your return to America, is it true that you visited the "elder statesman," Bernard Baruch, and then your phenomenal rise to Supreme Commander of all Allied forces began? (You were jumped over the heads of more than 250 outranking officers, remember?) Did your visit to Mr. Baruch have anything to do with this? If so, what was the agreement between you and Mr. Baruch?

Is it true that you and you alone are responsible for the surrender of Berlin to the Russians? Did you cut off General Patton's gasolene, so that he was unable to take the Balkans, as he was in the process of doing? Did you and Harry Dexter White--who was then known to be a Communist spy--hatch the Morgenthau Plan, in your London headquarters? What part did you play in the cover-up of the horrible Katyn Forest massacre, and why? Were you responsible for turning over to the Russians some 70,000 highly-trained German scientists, while we received only a few hundred? And are these the men responsible for building Russia to a point of aerial and atomic superiority to us?

How about the Austrian State Treaty? How does this in any way benefit America and the West? Is it not another sellout to Russia? Lastly, why did you appoint the infamous Lyman Lemnitzer--who is either an utter incompetent or a traitor--to try and fill MacArthur's shoes?

RIGHT would appreciate the answers to the above questions. However, all these matters are relatively unimportant! The truly urgent question that you must answer is this:

ENCLOSURE

Mr. President, are you responsible for the murder of some two to five million anti-Communist Russians, Poles, Balts and Balkanese?

As you know, the Yalta Agreement has been justly condemned as a sellout. But as bad as it was, it had no provision in it for the forcible "repatriation" of millions who had fled into Europe to escape the bloody clutches of Godless Communism. Stalin, of course, had to have these millions back, else other millions of his subjects would get ideas of their own about freedom.

Mr. President, according to mounting documentary evidence, it was you, yourself, who sent thousands of these hapless refugees back to Russia and death and torture!

The record also indicates that this butchery finally became too much for your war-hardened officers, and that finally you asked the Pentagon to hand down a decision as to whether or not force was to be used in this bloody business. It is extremely interesting to note that your officers, Mr. President acting directly under your own specific orders--had been employing force for months!

After this matter was reffered to the Pentagon, Mr. President, the unbelievable happened. Three months went by; it began to look as if the millions still in American hands would be saved. AND THEN PRESIDENT TRUMAN APPOINTED YOU CHIEF OF STAFF--TO SUCCEED GENERAL MARSHALL--on November 19, 1945.

Mr. President, the record from here on speaks for itself: ON DECEMBER 20, 1945, THIRTY-ONE DAYS AFTER YOUR APPOINTMENT, THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF ORDERED THE ARMY TO USE FORCE TO REPATRIATE THE REMAINING TWO TO FIVE MILLION ANTI-COMMUNISTS!

Mr. President, this Order is the foulest in American history. It has stained black the Army of Washington, and countless heroes who battled in the cause of liberty. It makes liars and hypocrites out of American statesmen. But it is all in the record. It initiated what history will record as probably the foulest war crime ever perpetrated by a "Christian" nation.

Literally tens or hundreds of thousands of these pitiful people committed suicide, rather than return to Red torture. Our own American Army used bayonets, bullets, dope and lies to induce these millions to return to their death. The ghastly story is almost beyond belief. Your own Pentagon named it "Operation Keelhaul!"

Mr. President, here are our questions: Why is the Army still suppressing (illegally) all official documents dealing with this horrible crime? Who was the man responsible for pushing through the order to use force to "repatriate" these innocent millions? Mr. President, was it you? If so, why?

Finally, Mr. President, is it true that "the Communists are going to support Ike for the Presidency in 1956," according to the Socialist "Weekly People" for October 22, 1955? If so, we ask, again, why?

FORCED INTEGRATION — In the District of Columbia

By Homer Dodge

Experienced newspaper man and veteran observer of Washington and world affairs.

No. E-340

World attention has been focussed upon forced racial integration in the public schools of Washington following the Supreme Court's adventure into the legislative field, in attempting to end the system under which pupils of the white and Negro races had been separately instructed. This wide attention has been due to the circumstance that Washington has become a world capital and also that, through the efforts of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, there has been insistence that the District of Columbia should be shaped into a model for school integration everywhere.

After two years of earnest effort on the part of well-meaning educators and administrators, the experiment has proved something less than successful. Wholly aside from any racial question, the experience at the National Capital is being increasingly pointed out as an example of the ill-fortune that follows attempts of a judicial tribunal to legislate, especially when the legislation runs counter to such experiences as those which normally are reflected in representative legislation.

Washington's school system, in this two-year period, necessarily has been operating in what amounts to a show-window. Every move has been jealously watched. A difficulty in the position is that most of the onlookers at the spectacle view it from the standpoint of copy-book rules rather than from a groundwork of history and experience.

A major fact not often appreciated outside the District of Columbia is that the jurisdiction's tax basis is utterly different from that of other large cities. Because the District is a Federal reservation, created by the Constitution, the Federal Government annually appropriates a lump sum as a very minor contribution toward the District Government's support. Aside from the purely jurisdictional aspect, it must be remembered that Federal buildings, Federal parks, Federal monuments, military installations and other properties amounting in all to a very large segment of all the real property in the District, are not taxable.

Before the Emancipation Proclamation, Washington had a large Negro population, both slave and free; after the Proclamation, Negroes swarmed to the city by the thousands. It was the Mecca of the Prophet which had set them free. And ever since, the National Capital has attracted members of the race. All during these long years, schools, high schools and normal schools have been provided by the taxpayers of the District. The Negro schools have been given the names of distinguished members of the race. There is not only the Paul Dunbar high school named for the Negro poet but the Wheatley, named for a local Negress school teacher and that pattern generally was followed.

With the advent of the automobile and the movement to the suburbs, the balance of races in the District has changed. For years, it was roughly figured that the capital was one third black and two thirds white. But now the whites have moved into the suburbs of adjoining Maryland and Virginia, although they retain their businesses and employment in Washington. The Negro has not moved, indeed his numbers have increased so that now it is estimated that the National Capital is 60 to 65 per cent Negro.

It will be seen that this has meant a tremendous tax problem. While it is true that many Negroes have acquired property over the years — indeed, there are a number who might be termed rich — there never has been anywhere near an approach to the white tax-paying responsibility which obtained before this shift. In spite of this, the District schools were maintained on what usually was regarded as a high level of efficiency although thousands of the parents of the colored children attending these schools are being supported on the taxpayers' relief rolls.

Some figures here should prove enlightening. In the school year 1950-51 the enrollment of white pupils in public schools was 46,080 and of Negroes, 47,807. The figures for the 1955-56 school year are: white pupils, 38,768, and Negroes, 68,877. That is, the Negroes outnumber the whites almost two to one. No other American large city has so great a proportion of black to white public school pupils.

This is the situation in which the vexed problem of racial school integration must be met.

In the first place, there has been an evasion, according to many observers, of the intent of the Supreme Court decision, made effective through arbitrary assignments of pupils to schools. Presumably, it can be advanced that more time is required to make the shifts necessary, taking into consideration location of schools and places of residence of pupils. While Negroes live in every section of the city, nevertheless there are some neighborhoods almost exclusively colored and others almost exclusively white. In the past, Negro schools were built for the convenience of Negro families in the sections where they dwelt. This has resulted in some very unbalanced distribution. Bowen School with a total of 519 pupils, Carver with 712, Langston with 327, Grimke with 816 and Barrville with 713 has one lone white child at each school. On the other hand Spingarn School has 519 pupils with one Negro, Woodrow Wilson High School has 1207 with 2 Negroes while at Cardozo High School there are 6 whites among 757 Negroes. But at Eastern High School, formerly white, the student body is fairly evenly divided with, however, Negroes in the majority.

In these difficulties, it has not been possible to maintain educational standards. There has been a steady deterioration in relation to national averages, since integration began. As in the case of money, where the operation of Gresham's Law results in an inferior currency driving out a superior, so, it appears, in school integration, an inferior standard of education drags down a superior.

Dr. Rowland F. Kirks, a member of the Board of Education of the District of Columbia, has said that, in effect, school pupils have been promoted from class to class "on the basis of poundage and height." Dr. Hobart M. Corning, Superintendent of Schools, while denying this simplification, agrees that standards of promotion have had to be set to accommodate the average! At a School Board meeting, Dr. Corning is quoted as having admitted to a statement of Dr. Kirks' that there are pupils at both junior and senior high schools who cannot read!

Some definite data have been obtained by a careful survey of what might be termed academic standing in the Washington schools. Last Spring 4,155 pupils in the ninth grade (formerly the first year of high school) were given a test. It was found that 1,004, or 24 per cent, could read only at the 6th grade level on the basis of national school averages. Then 1,568, or 38 per cent, could read at 7th to 8th grade averages while only 1,583 passed the test at the 9th grade level.

In arithmetic 3,979 pupils were given a test; these, too, enrolled in the 9th grade. Of these, 1,798 were at 6th grade or below in ability to figure; that is, 45 per cent. Next, 1,226 pupils or 31 per cent of the 9th grade could cipher at 7th to 8th grade skill while only 955 or 24 per cent could make the arithmetical calculations average for the grade in which they were enrolled!

Similar sub-average findings were made. For example, 47 per cent of pupils in junior high school were able to read only at the fourth grade level or below. Thirty nine per cent were at 4th grade level or below in arithmetic. Sixty-four per cent of all pupils at the National Capital belong to the colored race and it is not denied that the integration of these white pupils has brought the standard of school attainment far below the national average.

There is the widest divergence of opinion as to why the Negro pupil is not as far advanced as the white. Many teachers insist that the Negro children are backward because for years they were given inadequate school facilities with over-crowded school rooms and teachers assigned to classes too large. Other observers, teachers and otherwise, explain that low economic conditions are bound to produce backward pupils.

These explanations are of the type that are scarcely susceptible of either proof or disproof save to cite the very large numbers of the world's famous writers and scholars of various races who rose from the lowest economic conditions. As to the Negro race, Senator Eastland of Mississippi compiled a list of 85 eminent American Negroes who sprang not only from low economic environments but received their early education in segregated schools.

A point which should be made in relation to the low economic condition of the families of colored pupils is that, over the years, the economic position of the Washington Negro has been above the average for the country. From early times, thousands of Negroes have been employed by the Federal Government. In the earlier period most of the jobs were as messengers, janitors, drivers of horses or, later, automobiles but in the last generation — almost two generations — the number of stenographers, clerks and minor officials has markedly increased.

Since the enactment of Fair Employment Practice legislation, the Federal payrolls at Washington have been thrown wide open to the Negro and there is not a Government office in the Capital where members of the race are not employed and at high salaries. This situation must be compared with industrial and commercial cities having large colored populations throughout the country and where business cycles create variable employment. Washington, perhaps more than any other large city in the world, has a guaranteed payroll. Twice a month, millions of dollars are paid to Washingtonians, workers in the Civil Service, whose jobs are not affected by the tides of industry and business in the outside world. So, inevitably, large numbers of Negro pupils must come from these thousands upon thousands of prosperous Government employee families.

A solution of the problem in strict accordance with the Supreme Court legislation seems not to be now discernible. However, certain expedients have been resorted to which, in one sense, almost nullify the Court's dictum, in that they produce a renewal of segregation. Some school principals have divided classes in accordance with standing in studies. One case reported upon showed that placing backward students in a separate class room automatically resulted in a 95 per cent segregation — 95 Negro children out of 100 and 5 white. Whether this is in the spirit of the Court decision might seem questionable but it has had the effect of permitting the white children to keep their standard and not be dragged down to the mixed level.

Dr. Walter E. Hager, President of the District of Columbia Teachers College, has expressed the hope that within ten years Washington pupils will be able to climb to the average of the Nation of which the city is the Capital. Dr. Irene C. Hypps, a Negro Assistant Superintendent of Schools, thinks that a longer time will be required because she feels that educational equality must wait upon economic equality. That, of course, is a Utopia that even Soviet Russia falls far short of in this age.

TO ALL EDITORS: Thanks for tear sheet showing how this was used.
TO THE PUBLIC: This Spotlight gives a factual account of the results of desegregation in the District of Columbia schools.

The most important lesson it brings, concerning the likely time element required to raise the scholastic level of Washington schools to the Nation's average is summed up by Dr. Irene C. Hypps, a Negro Assistant Superintendent of Schools, who thinks a longer time (than ten years) will be required because educational equality must wait upon economic equality.

In 1916, after ex-President Theodore Roosevelt had refused to accept the nomination of the Progressive Party, groups of Progressives called upon him to plead that he keep the Progressive Party alive so that, free from the antagonism of the Republican name, an opposition party could operate in the South, and help solve the Negro problem. He declined saying:

"The viewpoints that you have presented are based on theoretical reasoning; but I have had first-hand experience with the problem. First, I invited Booker T. Washington to dine with me at the White House, in order to do honor to the achievement of a great Negro. The result of the publicity was a demand of Negroes generally for immediate social equality and an outburst of mass emotion against them.

"Later at Brownsville, Texas, the privates in a Negro regiment stood against their officers to protect misdeeds of members of their race. After patient effort to have the problem solved, I had no other course than to dismiss the regiment. Then, another outburst of mass feeling arose, and white men took this as an occasion to push every Negro into the gutter.

"The Lord put the Negro into Africa and the white man on other continents, and I am not going to waste the remaining years of my life attempting to solve quickly a problem that only time, probably generations, can resolve."

MINISTER SAYS NEGRO RACE BEING LED TOWARD DESTRUCTION

Reprint from Statesville (N. C.) Record and Landmark of May 10, 1955.

The Negro race in this country is being pushed toward destruction under the present plan for desegregation, according to Rev. James Dees, rector of Trinity Episcopal church.

Rev. Mr. Dees made that charge last night in a speech before Statesville Lions. He cited as qualifications his southern nativity, his life-long association with the race, and his work among Negroes as a priest.

De-segregation is a misleading term, Mr. Dees said, and is not aimed simply at doing away with Negro schools and combining Negro and white children in school.

"What the National Association for Advancement of Colored People and the radical leaders of this thing are aiming at should be stated more positively," Mr. Dees said. "They are aiming not simply at desegregation but rather at unification and integration of the races. It is not just a question of them getting along among the white race but rather a mixing of social structures, cultures, and blood itself."

Mr. Dees said he is convinced that the ultimate goal of NAACP and other radical de-segragation supporters is intermarriage and blood fusion.

"Perhaps you remember the recent attempt made in the state by the movement to do away with the statute prohibiting intermarriage. Let us not deceive ourselves that blood integration would not come. Already we see in some places young people of the white and Negro races going together, dating, a condition that is abhorrent to me, and I believe abhorrent to God," he said.

Unification of the two races, or blood fusion, would doom the Negro race, Mr. Dees said. Its ethnic integrity would be devoured by the white and as a race it would cease to exist. The white race in turn, would become a hybrid race in which the Negro race is exterminated and the white race appreciably degenerated.

Discounting the probability of blood fusion, Mr. Dees said de-segregation violates principles intrinsic to the created order and apparent to universal moral law. God created the Caucasian race white and the Negro race black to witness to Him as faces, just as individuals were created to answer as individuals, he said.

What is at stake, Mr. Dees said, is the maintenance of integrity of the Negro race. The loudest voices are proclaiming indirectly that there is virtue in the destruction of the Negro race. "This," he said, "I fail to see, and, I declare, I believe it is contrary to Divine will."

"Some of us who hold to this position have the charges hurled at us that this is un-Christian, and indeed, anti-Christian. I believe, to the contrary that this position is more in harmony with the ultimate Christian position and certainly more in accord with natural law, which states should tend to be synonymous," he said.

Mr. Dees quoted Rt. Rev. Albert S. Thomas, retired bishop of South Carolina, saying: "Where segregation is un-Christian, this is due to man's fallen nature, not to segregation itself."

What we need, Mr. Dees said, is not de-segregation but more Christian social action in segregation.

He joined Senator Sam J. Ervin in criticizing the decision of the Supreme Court, calling its de-segregation ruling "what amounts, in fact, to a high-handed assumption of unconstitutional legislative power.

He also labeled NAACP "the greatest enemy the Negro people have . . . one driving the Negro race to destruction." If NAACP's aim is realized, he said, we will have a mongrel race for which they may have the credit.

The Rev. James P. Dees is Rector of Trinity Episcopal Church and Priest-in-Charge of Holy Cross Church, both of Statesville, N. C.

Born in Greenville, North Carolina, Dec. 30, 1915 and raised there. He is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and The Virginia Theological Seminary (Episcopal) near Alexandria, Va.

During World War II he served with the 88th Infantry Division in North Africa and Italy.

Copies of Rev. Dees' complete address are available by writing him at Statesville, N. C.

ReBulet of 5/17/56 captioned above, and Bulet dated 5/18/56, captioned "RIGHT", MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION CONCERNING (CENTRAL RESEARCH SECTION).

This is to advise that a yearly subscription to the publication "RIGHT" has been obtained by the San Francisco Office under the cover name of [redacted] b6 b7C Copies of the March, April, May, and June, 1956, issues of "RIGHT" have been obtained and forwarded to the Bureau under the Central Research Section title. Future monthly copies will be forwarded to the Bureau as soon as they are received by the San Francisco Office.

From its published articles and letters from the editor, it would appear that "RIGHT" is an extreme right wing publication. "RIGHT" intends to support without bias or favoratism all significant activity of the American right wing, which was defined as groups opposing Marxism and Internationalism. "RIGHT" has indicated that they might attempt to split both the Democratic and Republican parties between the right wing elements and the others, and marshall their right supporters and elect their own candidates for the presidency, etc. "RIGHT" has stated that their financial support comes mostly from their subscriptions, and that for every subscription they get, they are thereby enabled to send one complimentary subscription to some important person.

The San Francisco files contain no information concerning CHARLES W. THOMAS, former editor of "RIGHT", other than that he has been connected with "RIGHT" up to February, 1956, and is an extreme right winger. The issues of "RIGHT" for March, April, and May, carry no person as editor. The June, 1956 issue carries one BRADFORD MARTIN as editor. The San Francisco indices are negative on MARTIN.

SF CS 33X, a private research agency, advised that CHARLES W. THOMAS is an anti-Communist and extreme supporter of the right wing.

ALL INFORMATION HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 1-3-2000 BY 60269 NLS/EP/BS #445194

In view of the above information, the San Francisco Office is not recommending that a security investigation of "RIGHT" be opened at this time.

Carto. The organization has the stated purpose of coordinating activities of rightist groups in the United States. "Right" Newsletter has reported that financial support comes mostly from sales of subscriptions and that for every subscription that is received one complimentary subscription is sent to some important individual. The name of C. D. Thomas who is listed as editor in the publication did not appear in the March, April and May, 1956, issues of "Right" Newsletter. However, Rightwingers who are interested in forcing a full exposure of this matter should get behind HR 137, introduced by NY Congressman Albert H. Bosch. Only the demands of an arcused America can save this Resolution from the oblivion desired by its enemies.

Flash! ANOTHER SCOOP! EXCLUSIVE TO RIGHT: On the highest authority, RIGHT learns that a very important meeting was held in Chicago on January 27. Present were the heads or representatives of many patriotic organizations, including, WE, THE PEOPLE, FOR AMERICA, NATIONAL ECONOMIC COUNCIL, LIBERTY & PROPERTY, CONGRESS OF FREEDOM and certain Southern groups.

The purpose of this meeting, RIGHT is informed, was to determine means through which all patriots can take patriotic ACTION together. Elected chairman by those who attended was Harry Everingham, energetic executive for WE, THE PEOPLE. These things were decided: (1) That the slogan for '56 shall be, Country Before Party (suggested by Col. John Hitchings, of Florida), (2) That a "Poll of Patriots" shall be taken throughout America to get the names of all real Americans, (3) That "patriotic action" shall begin right inside each patriot's own precinct, (4) That all candidates will be screened by asking them their views on: Taxing and spending, proper sphere of federal activity within the states and with private enterprise, attitude towards the Bricker Amendment, (5) A precinct workers training manual will be prepared for the use of workers.

It appears that nationwide cooperation between all good Americans is fast becoming a reality. Main question: is there time enough--in the North--to be effective in the '56 election?

CORRECTION, PLEASE: In last month's issue, RIGHT reported that Chancellor Adenauer signed the Austrian State Treaty. Technically, this is incorrect, as the document was only signed by the Big Four. Adenauer was forced to "accept", or "consent to" the terms of the Treaty, and did not actually sign it.

ADDITIONAL ACTIVITY with a direct view towards the coming election is taking place the legnth and breadth of the land. The ABRAHAM LINCOLN REPUBLICAN CLUB announces that the annual Lincoln Day celebration will be held, this year, at the Morrison Hotel, in Chicago, on February 11. Announced speakers include Senators Malone and Jenner. Reservations, reports Capt. Bundy, the President, cost $10. Send to 82 W. Washington St., Chicago 2. . . . WE, THE PEOPLE has members in 48 states and over 800 towns. 111 N. Wabash, Chicago 2. . . . The CONSTITUTION PARTY has placed Sen. Jenner on the ballot in Colorado. Activity in other states is contemplated. . . . Another "third" Party in the making, reports Lucille Miller. PEOPLE FOR McCARTHY 'twil be the name. "This is to be a 'balance of power' Party," she writes, and is full of ideas on the subject. If you write, ask for her tracts on "Barrotry and Garrotry." Terrific. Bethel, Vt. . . . "A survey of every county within one hundred miles of Augusta indicates now that Talmadge will carry every one in this area with the possible exception of three," reports the militant "Augusta Courier" about the forthcoming George-Talmadge battle shaping up in Georgia. George is being backed by the liberal-internationalist element in the state. . . . Ray Tucker, syndicated columnist, predicts that interposition will be adopted by eleven Southern states.

THE LORDS OF LABOR: The marriage of the AF of L and the CIO is seen as one of the gravest threats to the Rightwing in a long time. The extreme left California Committee for Fair Employment Practices calls the merger, "The most important Civil Rights development of December." . . . The "Apartment Bulletin," published in San Francisco, reports that a socialized housing bill is being drafted by Big Labor "which makes the 1949 bill pale by comparison." . . . Who will win the '56 election? No one but Walter Reuther, writes Joe Kamp in his latest booklet, About the Man Who Will Win in '56. Order for 25¢ from 342 Madison Ave., New York 17.

A GREAT AMERICAN, Tom Gaskins, the originator of cypress knee art objects, has proven what guts, a dream and free capitalism can accomplish. Gaskins, an outspoken patriot at the same time that he is a successful entrepreneur, has shown himself to be one of the few really courageous businessmen in America. Having no truck with bureaucratic red tape, Social "Security" and other forms of totalitarianism, Gaskins refuses to expand his business--in spite of increasing demand for his products. Expanding would mean hiring extra workers, writes Gaskins, which, in turn, would mean too many headaches with federal rules and regulations, and he has had more than his share, already. (The federals have to periodically confiscate his bank account to get their SS "contributions.") Gaskins personifies the kind of independence and courage which built America. Write and ask him for literature on the industry he founded. His museum is in Palmdale, Florida, on Route 27, in case you're driving. . . . Gov. J. Bracken Lee, of Utah, another rebel against the heavy hand of the militarist-internationalist Superstate, is causing Ike officials some concern by his flat refusal to pay his income tax in full. In case his test case fails, Lee has deposited enough money to cover his taxes in a local bank. Lee is protesting against foreign giveaway projects. . . . You know, he might make a good President!

Willis E. Stone

FOREIGN AID IS NOT THE ONLY BOONDOGGLE, according to Willis Stone, dynamic President of the AMERICAN PROGRESS FOUNDATION (6413 Franklin Ave., Los Angeles 28). Stone once thought that there were only 88 federal corporations and now reveals that his office has identified 707 federal corporate activities! Regular monthly bulletins are being issued on the more spectacular of these. A recent good one: ESKIMO DWELLINGS! This one gives the fantastic story of how one million tax dollars were spent, apparently to improve ice-cube boudoirs and deep-freeze dinettes. . . . THE AMERICAN TAXPAYERS ASSOCIATION, Munsey Bldg., Washington 4, is a political action group dedicated to the repeal of the 16th Amendment and a 25% ceiling on income taxes. Dan Casey is Exec vice-President and Secretary. They've been very successful in preparing legislation for many of the states which have passed such measures. . . . DEAN MANION recently said, on a broadcast, that the Hoover Report reveals that the National Debt--instead of being a mere $300 plus billion, is actually over $500 billions! Maybye someone punched the wrong key on an adding machine. . . No?

RE: LIBERTY & PROPERTY, INC., ETC.; CINAL.

This publication also contained as an enclosure a special introductory offer for the publication "SOUTH," "The News Magazine of Dixie." It lists "SOUTH's" representative as BESS HUTTO, 3613 Meadow Drive, Nashville 12, Tennessee.

For the information of offices receiving copies of this communication, "RIGHT," from its published articles and letters from the Editor, is an extreme right wing publication. It states that it intends to support without bias all significant activity of the American right wing, which was defined as groups opposing Marxism and internationalism. "RIGHT" has published articles indicating that the followers of the extreme right might attempt to split both the Democratic and Republican Parties between the right wing elements of the parties and the other groups and marshal their right wing supporters and elect their own candidates for the Presidency, etc. Much of the material printed in "RIGHT" is of an extreme nationalist nature, in opposition to foreign aid, NATO, the Supreme Court decision regarding desegregation, etc.

Enclosed herewith to the Bureau are two photostats of the above described document and its two enclosures and one copy of the document and its enclosures are enclosed to the Knoxville and Chicago Offices for information.

Flash! NATIONALIST NETWORK TO COVER BOTH CONVENTIONS! Evidence of the growing aggressiveness and confidence of the American Rightwing is provided by two grass-roots plans of constructive ACTION this month. Carrying forward with its plan first announced in Progress Report No. 6, issued last January, LIBERTY & PROPERTY, Inc. (P.O. Box 180, San Francisco) is organizing the CONSERVATIVE REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS. In Chicago, the organizational work is being taken on by representatives of many different groups who are temporarily banding together as the CHICAGO COMMITTEE FOR RECEPTION OF NATIONALIST OBSERVERS AT THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION, and the address is 469 W. Deming Pl. Both of these enterprising, unselfish groups plan to serve not only as a meeting-ground for patriots and reservoir from which patriotic strength can be quickly mobilized, if needed, but will offer a wide variety of services, including assistance to help you find a hotel room, information on the location of other patriots, car pools, etc. Cost to patriots is nothing, as both groups are going ahead with childlike faith that finances will be somehow provided. However, the groups ask that you send along at least $5 for each hotel reservation you want. The plans of these groups are commendable and the opportunities are immense. Here is a chance for badly-needed constructive ACTION in the very nest of internationalist intrigue. Never has it been more needed. Never has the opportunity been as great. A large turnout of aggressive patriots will assure the maximum effectiveness.

THE TRUTH OUT! A hilarious episode in San Francisco started when the unartistic Republicans chose a statue by Rodin to decorate the programs. Supposed to represent "Peace, Progress and Prosperity," the figures actually are called "Three Shades At The Gates Of Hell," or "Abandon Hope All Ye Who Enter Here!" (The last one is the best, RIGHT thinks.) Upon being informed of their long-nosed boo-boo the horrified GOP bigwigs quickly settled upon the grimacing face of you-know-who as more "fitting." (RIGHT still thinks the other one is more apropo.)

DON'T YOU BELIEVE IT when you read in the national press that the South and the radicals will kiss and make up at the Democratic Convention. RIGHT still stands on its prediction that a breakup is inevitable. Whether the South packs up and walks out or whether they are thrown out makes no difference for it will be a miracle if the two factions can weather the storms ahead in the leaky old scow called the Democratic Party. Real questions: WILL THE GOP ALSO SPLIT UP?

Communism Dead In Russia!

Informed Rightwingers have always known that there was a vast gulf between Communist theory and Russian practice. Actually, the Red butchers have practiced no more than a "Soviet Socialism" and have instituted the strictest system of incentives imaginable—although they have never bothered to tell the dumb liberals about this. But the Kremlin learned years ago that the theory of Marxism was a fraud and a lie. So the only way that they could get the production they needed out of their peasants for their planned assault on the West was to enforce the harshest system of incentives—both inside and outside their slave labor camps. RIGHT has stressed that the REAL communists are the detestable, renegade liberals, who are to dumb to know that communism cannot work and so they have done all within their power to assist the Russian state to expand and subvert against the West.

With this historic issue, RIGHT anounces that even the theory of Communism is now being abandoned in the Soviet!

This world-shaking news is contained in the scholarly Journal of Heredity for March-April, 1958, in an article by Conway Zirkle entitled "L'Affaire Lysenko: Spring, 1956."

"There is no doubt," Zirkle says in measured terms, "that the Communist Authorities realize that American agriculture is based on sound scientific practices and that Lysenko's is not." In language easier to comprehend, this means that the Russian intellectual elite have dumped the very core of Marx's childish theories!

T. D. Lysenko, a Stalin sycophant, was the most outrageous fraud and bumbling quack ever. Lysenko's incredibly stupid theories of genetics were promoted by Stalin and the American liberal machine because these worthies realized that Lysenko-Michurin genetics—or the theory of acquired characteristics—was absolutely essential for Communist theory. In a nutshell, the Lysenko-liberal deception proclaimed that all men are born with equal faculties, and that every man can be shaped into whatever the state desires by merely applying the proper environment, or "brainwashing." In this manner, the "Soviet Man" was to be mass-produced, presumably on an assembly-line of psychiatrists, just like an automobile is made. Furthermore, the "Soviet Man" was to genetically transmit to his posterity the characteristics thus acquired.

That this asinine dribbling is the core of Marxist thought cannot be denied. That it is asinine dribbling is known by all Americans except the liberals.

Although liberals are not expected to realize it, sensible Americans know that all men are born different from each other, and that therefore each man is capable of different things—and that some are not capable of anything at all. Scientifically, this is known as Mendelian genetics, and is the foundation for all advances in breeding science.

So, what this article in the Journal of Heredity actually is saying is that now even the theory of Communism is dead in the higher Russian intellectual circles, even though they will not, of course, admit it.

As RIGHT was saying: Let's go after the communists—but let's look to where they are—right here in the Republican and Democratic parties.

POLITICS THAT ARE RIGHT: In the past few months many more "third" parties have sprung up all over the nation; too numerous to list. Suffice it to say that the American grassroots are fairly boiling over with activity and all that is needed is firm, well-financed leadership to create a real political force. From Chicago comes the welcome news that Dean Clarence Manion will deliver the keynote address at the Sept. 14-16 CONSTITUTION DAY CONVENTION (111 N. Wabash, Chicago 2) which will now be under the joint sponsorship of WE, THE PEOPLE, FOR AMERICA, CAMPAIGN FOR THE 48 STATES and CONGRESS OF FREEDOM. Here can be seen the most important gathering-up of Rightwing forces in American history and anything can be expected to happen, especially since the meet will be after the two national conventions!! . . Discussion continues as to the most fitting candidate for Americanists. Robert H.W. Welch, Jr, in the latest issue of One Man's Opinion, Belmont 78, Mass, has a fine character sketch of Ohio's Lausche. Verdict: A fine man and one who would be a credit to the Presidency. However, it is true that most Rightwingers would probably oppose him because of his slightly liberal views on some subjects such as FEPC and welfare measures. . . CONSTITUTION CLUB OF OKLAHOMA as well as MASS. FOR AMERICA announce their support for MacArthur and Lee for President and Vice-President, respectively. . . Yankee South-hating politicians are watching fearfully growing signs that their days are numbered. Accustomed to licking the boots of the ADL, NAACP and allies at command, they view with horror the establishment of what is apparently the first CITIZENS' COUNCIL in the North! Just organized in Newark, N.J. with 5000 members, this group is shooting for 40,000 by the end of the year! Race riots and lawlessness in unsegregated New Jersey makes life a living hell for law-abiding citizens. Hence: a CITIZENS' COUNCIL! . . Chicagoland has just given birth to another healthy anti-NAACP group of homeowners who--like the heroic people of Trumbull Park--refuse to sell and run when their neighborhoods are threatened by the invasion of vast numbers of undesirables. The CHATHAM CONSERVATION ASS'N publishes the Chatham Fields Bulletin which gives facts about their common threat not found in the newspapers. Box 112, Chicago 17 is the address. . . THE COMMONGOOD LEAGUE, 3203 Azeele St, Tampa 9, Fla, continues to offer worthwhile, experienced advice as to how you can set up a workable, effective political-ACTION group in your own locality. . . Herman Talmadge is hoping to carry every one of Georgia's 159 counties in his race for the Senate. . . "(George) Meany is a big loudmouthed punk that crept up out of the gutters of New York to join a plumbers union," says two-fisted Senator Jim Johnson, of Arkansas, (Southern Digest, Box 112, New Orleans 3) who has been persuaded to run for governor. Johnson's high dudgeon is produced by the short-sighted anti-South policies followed for years by trotskyite demagogs like Reuther and his ilk, which is finally resulting in the breakup of the Labor Bosses' monopoly in Dixie. Covering this dramatic split faithfully is the steadily-growing slick-paper magazine South, which is stealing readers from rags like Time and Newsweek at a great clip. (c/o B.Hutto, 3616 Meadow Dr, Nashville 12, Tenn.) Planned on July 21 was a monster rally in Birmingham for the newly-formed Southern Aircraft Workers. Also covering the significant labor news in Dixie is Victor Riesel's column and Augusta Courier, Southern Finance Bldg, Augusta, Ga. What a fine piece of news it is to be reassured of the loyalty of a group of REAL Americans--the laboring men of the Southland!

WARNING! BEWARE! THE LIBERALS ARE TRYING TO STEAL ANOTHER RIGHTWING WORD! Many years ago, the trotskyite communists stole the name "liberal" from the Rightwing and the socialists stole the good name of the Democratic Party. By posing as "liberals" and "Democrats," they have been able to put their communistic program across. Recently, liberal Clinton Rossiter wrote a book in which he tried to steal the word "conservative!" Now, the Nation, extreme leftwing weekly, is trying to make off with the word "libertarian!" Who's a "libertarian"--according to the Nation? You guessed it--Earl Warren and his eight comrades. This, of course, is the same Earl Warren and the same Supreme Court that has consistently refused to even rule on the Bill of Rights when it applies to AMERICANS like Mary Cain, Paul Fisher and many others. And also the same Court that has invariably favored the communists, the traitors and the NAACP. . .

The dynamic Mississippian who is credited with originating the idea behind the all-American CITIZENS' COUNCILS movement, Judge Tom P. Brady, is quoted in South: "Socialism is a Frankenstein monster and its head is the Supreme Court!" . . Speaking of the persecuted Right, be sure to read the article about Ezra Pound in the July Task Force. (1255 New Hampshire Ave NW, Washington 6) This quotes the great poet when he said, in 1941: "Communism and Russia are the real enemies and anyone who can't see it is a simpleton or a fool." The article goes on:"They punish Pound for being right." . . Ham Fish, in a terrific rebuttal to the State Department's recent accusation that he accepted German money in his campaign to keep America out of the war, calls this a lie and goes on: "For every dollar Germany spent to keep us out, Britain spent millions to drag us in." See Voice of the Federation for June. 406 W. Olney Ave, Phila. 20, Pa. . . Harry Overingham, in the Fact Finder (111 N. Wabash, Chicago 2) quotes John T. Flynn: "We went into WW II to defend something called the 'free world' against Hitler. We turned over the fruits to Russia. You can't say we won. Hitler lost but Russia won." . . English patriots have the same thing to say and the same trouble saying it. From Free Britain 74 Princedale Rd, Beamish Hse, London W 11, comes, "There is not one national newspaper that dare admit that it was wrong in urging us to give every assistance to 'Our Gallant Russian Allies.'" . . For an exposition of the timeless Russian plan for world-conquest, see Soviet Foreign Policy, 234 W 21 St, N.Y. 11. Says author Wm. R. Plumme: "Soviet foreign policy is a continuation . . over a period of 500 years."

WHILE AMERICAN COMMUNISTS AND LIBERALS screech that "disorimination" in the U.S. makes people like Nehru, Chou-En-Lai and Haille-Selassie mad at us, they do all they can to wreck our foreign relations with strong, self-reliant, strategic nations like the Union of South Africa. Witness the vile smear attack on that great country by Newsweek, which is filled with the usual liberal falsehoods, twisted halftruths and distortions and follows the Commie line all the way. Is this filthy article the result of Communist infiltration into Newsweek? A Congressional investigation could tell. Read South Africa Reports, 655 Madison Ave, N.Y. 21 for the truth about Newsweek's hit-and-run. . . For a closer look at the Union, its terrific problems and its magnificent determination to rise above them, see the South African Observer, P.O. Box 3638, Capetown, S.A. $1.50 per year. 16 pages of first-class material each month.

ALTHOUGH THE SOUTH-HATERS ASSERT THAT "RACE TROUBLE" IN DIXIE (which actually has far, far less such trouble than the North) is keeping industry from expanding into that area, the facts, as usual, give the lie to them. By the millions of dollars and dozens or hundreds of plants, Northern industry continues to migrate Southward where it can be assured of not only a high level of workmanship but also a comfortable, segregated atmosphere. In the June issue, the Citizens' Council (605 Plaza Bldg, Jackson, Miss.) reports, "Mississippi has more money being spent on new plants and plant expansion than for any period in history."

STRANGELY LIKE ITS NEW DEAL PREDECESSOR, the Ike administration seems involved in a great conspiracy to enslave the American farmer through a network of laws which are terrifyingly similiar to the agriculture laws of fascist Italy and National Socialist Germany. Apparently opposition to Ike's designs increase as sporadic news from this or that section of the country indicates that another farmer has stood up for his rights and has been jailed or fined for it. In the past few months there have been over 70 penalties in Ohio alone! Far from intimidating those many farmers who voice opposition however, this persecution only makes them more determined to recapture the political power they lost to liberals under FDR. Probably the most famous roadblock to Ike's complete regimentation of the farmer is a rifle-totin' farmerette from Pennsylvania, Elsie Mumma. (See RIGHT 7) Her epic of defiance of the U.S. agricul- 5 ture goons has earned her publicity and sympathy. Her case is now pending before Earl's Supreme Court so scant hope is held for her survival after the experiences of Mary Cain, Paul Fisher and a score of others who have tangled with the black-robed commissars of the Court and emerged second best. For a copy of the excellent brief of her case, prepared by attorney Andy Groom, send 50¢ to Box 236, Hummelstown, Pa. An even more flagrant violation of the Bill of Rights is seen in the case of Walter T. Carroll, of Milton, Fla. Carroll was physically overpowered and jailed for defying the Agriculture Dept. Here is a living testimonial of the length America has travelled to liberalism's ultimate goal: communism. But not all farmers are standing alone. Here are most of the All-American farmers' groups:

ASSOC. FARMERS OF ORANGE COUNTY, PO Box 470506, N Los Angeles St, Anaheim, Cal.
ASSOCIATED FARMERS OF RICHLAND COUNTY, Box 1063, Mansfield, Ohio.
FARMERS LIBERTY LEAGUE, c/o George Combs, Blue Grass, N. D.
INDEPENDENT FARMERS OF INDIANA, c/o Ethan Stangland, RR2, Albion, Ind.
INDEPENDENT FARMERS OF MICHIGAN, c/o Ralph Shumaberry, RR2, Hudson, Mich.
INDEPENDENT FARMERS OF OHIO, c/o Jim Mannix, Greenville, Ohio.

If any have doubts about the extent of Communist activity in agriculture, as well as about the success of their objectives, he should refer to page 44 of the famous "Interlocking Subversion" report of the Senate subcommittee on the Judiciary. This, as well as other good material, is obtainable from Mrs. Ruth Clendaniel, Rfd, Syracuse, Ind, and Mrs. Clarence Uhl, Wooster, O. Also, see the Oct. 16 Firing Line, put out by the AMERICAN LEGION (P.O. Box 1055, Indianapolis; 25¢) Many good Americans are willing to go along with farm controls, feeling them necessary. For convincing refutation, see Free Market Farming by Dr. W. M. Curtis in the Feb. Freeman, Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y.

FROM HERE, THERE AND MOST EVERYWHERE: National Review's new cartoonist, John Kroutmor, makes a picture tell a thousand funny words. With a style all his own, Kroutmor diagnoses "the state of the liberal 'mind'", which is--pretty sad, pretty sad. . . A little more controversial is NR's July 25 story on the "Alaskan Siberia" Bill, which the author--Priscilla Buckley--finds "harmless." Many Rightwingers will agree with the author that some of the opposition to the Bill was perhaps overdone but they will also point out that no one who is familiar with the genesis and the backers of the "mental health" drive can doubt that it is subversive through and through. For good documentation on this, see the appropriate back numbers of Tenney Reports (50¢) and Tenney's booklet, Mind-Washing in America (50¢). 2765 Belden Dr, Hollywood 28. . . An entirely new view of this Bill is provided in an article by the Flum twins, inserted in the Record by Congressman Usher Burdick on June 12. Here, much documentation is given to show that the Bill was a land grab by oil interests! Very convincing. . . A new idea worked out by some San Francisco lady patriots, members of the QUILL CLUB, is the SUGAR BOWL CAMPAIGN FUND. The purpose is to financially support patriots who are either running for public office or are in trouble with the packed courts. For information on this novel way to direct assistance to patriots who need it write Mrs. S.C. Clark, 2200 8th Ave, San Francisco 16. . . One of the most ambitious Rightwing programs taken on in many years is the FREEDOM SCHOOL. (See RIGHTSCOOP, issue 6.) This is going to teach a brand of bedrock Americanism and libertarianism unobtainable in liberal schools. A new booklet is out, complete with plans and diagrams of the buildings. Box 165, Colo. Springs, Colo.

RIGHT'S SENSATIONAL OPEN LETTER TO PRESIDENT EISENHOWER (Feb.) creates an ever-increasing stir. Latest patriotic publication to reprint it is the Kingdom Digest (Box 13718, Dallas 24) Editor Dr. J.A. Lovell writes, "I can honestly say your article has caused more comment than any article I've used in 15 years. . " Some 50,000 persons read the Open Letter thanks to Dr. Lovell's courage in reprinting it. Incidentally, RIGHT suggests that Congressman Albert H. Bosch (R, NY), who leads the fight to investigate the forced repatriation program, is deserving of highest honors for his humanity and courage. Indicative of the moral bankruptcy and cowardice of the liberals and large segments of church "leaders" is their nauseating determination to ignore these unpleasant facts about Ike. Until this matter is fully investigated and Ike's guilt or innocence is firmly established the American people are justified in believing the worst about this grinning hypocrite and his subversive, inhuman backers!

THAT ARE RIGHT: The Collected Works of Gustave LeBon. This is a book that does not exist. Yet LeBon is the most powerful anti-communist writer who has ever lived. Written sixty years ago, his Psychology of Socialism is a classic. "Far from deserving to be considered revolutionary, Marxism is highly retrograde and its disciples timid reactionaries. They announce each day the triumph of their Utopias. But we were their victims long before they were born." If you are lucky, you may get a book of his in the library. Is there not a Foundation or millionaire to reprint LeBon's genius? Apparently not! Millions for the Myrdals, Waltfishes, Roses, etc, ad nauseum but ZERO for anti-reds!

Political and Economic Structures, by Dr. Bela Hubbard is one of the best studies in political science. Just released by Caxton (Caldwell, Idaho), this $4 book should be--but won't be--required reading in colleges. Hubbard's theme is the reactionary nature of collectivism and he proves it with diagrams and readable text. A justifiable criticism of modern "teaching" methods included.

A New Look at Job: Vol. II by evangelist A.E. Wandt, is an inquiry into the meaning of Bible prophecy for our times. Vigorously anti-communist, this places the liberal phenomenon in its theological perspective: "Liberalism began with Cain, the original liberal who rejected God's Word, Way and Love." $3 from Greenwich Book Publishers, 489 5th Ave, N.Y. 17.

The Kingdom Without God by Gerald Heard, Edmund Opitz and others and The Powers That Be by Opitz are the latest from the FOUNDATION FOR SOCIAL RESEARCH, 1521 Wilshire Blvd, Los Angeles 17. The former book, subtitled "Roads End For The Social Gospel" sells for $2.50 paper and $3 cloth: 188 pps. of strong criticism of the "Social Gospel" as well as constructive suggestions as to what the church should be doing. The latter, subtitled "Case Studies of the Church in Politics" is $1.50 paper and $2.50 cloth. Both books, paperbacked, $3.

A new measure of achievement in Regional Journalism

In its rise to economic prosperity and political strength there are few things the South needs more than a journalistic voice dedicated to its continued progress and preservation of its way of life . . . dedicated, moreover, to the principle that Southerners are determined to maintain segregation as mutually advantageous for both races.

South News Magazine is such a voice. It honestly and forthrightly reports significant developments in Dixie's march of progress, its struggle to maintain principles that have stood the test of time. It placards radicals, ridicules the unwitting who seek to tell the South how to run its affairs.

South is not a new magazine. For 20 years it has reflected Southerners' pride in their region. It is relied upon for authentic appraisal of Southern news, hailed for its serious, constructive and responsible approach to problems peculiar to the South.

South is the one magazine to which EVERY Southerner should subscribe!

South
The News Magazine of Dixie

South News Magazine Gives You the FACTS — "News Behind the News"

South records and interprets the significant events and solid achievements of the times. It consistently seeks to represent the essential and dominant outlook of the Southern states in their undoubted distinctions—politically, economically and in many other ways—from other regions.

Its fearlessness, its crisp but comprehensive coverage of news (and news behind the news) bring you the facts you NEED to keep informed of fast-breaking developments in the nation's BIGGEST internal crisis in almost 100 years.

In addition South carries reader-appeal in news of government, politics, business and industry, labor, health, education, agriculture, personalities and sports . . . and in scores of other "beats" where significant developments are shaping Dixie's future.

South is truly the "News Magazine of Dixie," the ONLY such regional newsweekly in the nation. It is a new concept in regional reporting . . . an important achievement in sectional journalism. South is meeting the demand of thinking Southerners for a magazine of their OWN . . . a journal which remains steadfast in its conviction that America's system of free, competitive enterprise is the greatest in the world. It will never hesitate to draw a bead on machinations of radical elements seeking to undermine our progress.

Readers prefer South because it speaks out for individual freedom and for preservation of the South's time-tested traditions and customs. Thousands of letters attest to this preference. Samples:

"Your publication has lifted a voice unmatched by the voice of any publication in its devotion to the ideals of limited government and free enterprise. The people of the South are entitled to a journal that will ever be a forceful reminder that there are still such things as 'fundamental principles.' . . . They will find in South thoughtful and intelligent support of a point of view courageous, and freer from political and bureaucratic propaganda than any other media."—Hugh Morrow, chairman, U. S. Pipe & Foundry Co., Birmingham.

"Looks like South is going places."—Tom Stewart, public relations director, Tennessee Manufacturers Assn., Nashville.

"South is more and more authoritative every week as it takes the entire sub-Potomac-and-Ohio for stride and subject matter."—Columnist John Temple Graves.

"I want to compliment you on the fine job you are doing."—L. P. Sweatt, president, Mississippi Power Co., Gulfport.

"South fills a definite need."—Jesse Core, International Trade Mart, New Orleans.

"South is the most helpful printed matter for Dixie that I've seen."—Virginia Dalrymple Medley, Memphis.

Reference is made to my memoranda to you dated 7/25/56 and 8/1/56 captioned "The Chicago Committee for the Reception of Nationalist Observers at the Democratic National Convention, August, 1956," in which information was set forth that individuals who have been identified as members of neo-Nazi organizations or who have expressed pro-Nazi sentiments plan disturbances for publicity and harassment purposes at Democratic National Convention. Data concerning this matter was not furnished Secret Service inasmuch as that agency has responsibility to protect only President and Vice President elect and not Democratic nominee; however, information was furnished regarding this matter to [redacted] b6 b7C b7D

Information received in San Francisco airtel dated 8/1/56 that Liberty and Property, Inc., publishers of "Right" newsletter plan to establish during 1956 Republican National Convention a "Conservative Republican Headquarters" in order to "serve the needs of America and the American Rightwing." In the August, 1956, issue of "Right" statement made "Nationalist Network to cover both conventions" and refers to Chicago committee mentioned above.

Bufiles reveal previous issue of "Right" received in June, 1956, contained violent attack on President Eisenhower insinuating he was incompetent military leader and that his policies have been carried out for benefit of Russia. By letters 6/19/56 Secret Service, Department and Post Office Department were furnished pertinent portions of this issue of "Right" and San Francisco was instructed to initiate security investigation. In view of this new development San Francisco was instructed telephonically on 8/8/56 to submit a report on Liberty and Property, Inc., to reach Bureau by 8/13/56 which will permit dissemination of that report to appropriate Government officials and agencies prior to the convention which starts 8/20/56. San Francisco was also instructed to furnish information set forth in its airtel of 8/1/56 and any additional information received relative to this matter to local representatives of the Secret Service and the San Francisco Police Department. San Francisco also instructed to keep Bureau advised of all pertinent developments.

DETAILS:

The title is marked changed to fully identify Liberty and Property, Incorporated, as the publishers of "Right" Newsletter.

I. INCORPORATION

The Articles of Incorporation filed by Liberty and Property, Incorporated, (L&P), with the California State Secretary of State, Sacramento, California, were examined July 20, 1956. These Articles, under number 289632, asserted that the name of the corporation shall be Liberty and Property, Incorporated, whose stated purposes include the following:

> "The initial business to be transacted by the corporation is formation of groups and committees for the purpose of exploring public grievances, and for the purpose of general public education on political, economic, and social subjects.
> "To do research in, and prepare model constitutional amendments and legislative enactments designed to inform the various citizens and members of a means of proper action for the preservation or restoration of personal liberties and property rights.
> "To formulate, develop, and promote public interest and education in basic democratic principles, civil rights, and property rights through dissemination of information by all types of printed publications, radio, television and other means of dissemination of information....."

Other stated purposes generally state that it was provided for the corporation to receive, hold, and develop by prescribed means real and personal property for benefit of the corporation, to borrow money and incur indebtedness and to enter into contracts to further its objects.

These articles show that tax exemption as a civic league was granted to L&P.

II. FORMATION OF THE GROUP

On October 1, 1954, [redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished a pamphlet entitled "The Job Can Be Done", which stated that L&P was the successor to "America Plus" and that the administration of this organization was being taken over by WILLIS CARTO. This pamphlet also indicated that L&P favors segregation, opposes Communism and the United Nations. The address was listed as Post Office Box 180, San Francisco, California.

b7D

In November, 1955, [redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that W.A. CARTO rents Post Office Box 180 at San Francisco and that he maintains both his business and residence address at Room 3, 1312 Jackson Street, San Francisco. According to [redacted] CARTO is in the mail order business.

III. IDENTITIES OF OFFICERS

On January 30, 1956, according to the Articles of Incorporation, L&P entered a change regarding its officers, which listed WILLIS A. CARTO as both President and Treasurer and [redacted] as Secretary.

IV. STATED PROGRAM AND OBJECTIVES

A communication on the letterhead of L&P, Post Office Box 180, San Francisco, which was dated June 15, 1956, and which was generally circulated to the enrollees of L&P, and which was furnished to the San Francisco Office, contained in part the following descriptive information:

"Liberty and Property, Incorporated, is lots of things, primarily it is another one of the dozens of Right Wing political action groups. Consequently, we officially favor only our 10 proposed amendments to the Federal Constitution, called the Second Bill of Rights.....The point is that 'Right' is certainly not the official L&P publication at all. 'Right' stands staunchly on its own legs under the able leadership of its editor, Bradford Martin. Moreover, our National Committee advisors are even further removed from 'Right' because each one of these leaders is concerned only with their own particular amendment, which is one of the 10 in the Second Bill of Rights. So you can see although L&P publishes 'Right' as a service to the American Right Wing, it is not in any way an official publication but speaks only for itself."

On January 13, 1955, [redacted] furnished the San Francisco Office with a document entitled "A Second Bill of Rights" (abbreviated form), which states that its contents were proposed by Liberty and Property, P.O. Box 180, San Francisco 1, California: b6 b7C b7D

"I

"Every member of the United States Supreme Court shall take an oath that he will not vote to reverse any previous decision of the Court affecting the Constitution where the general public interest is involved. Violation of such oath shall be ground for impeachment.

"II

"The 16th Amendment to the Constitution is hereby repealed, and the 10th Amendment to the Constitution respecting the powers reserved to the States or the people, is hereby reaffirmed. It is herewith specifically decreed that the States shall have sole jurisdiction over their own schools, and that federal aid to education shall be prohibited.

"III

"The right of the owners of private business to choose their own guests, patrons and tenants; the right of private property owners to choose their own neighbors, and to make contracts between themselves for that purpose; and the right of employers to choose their own employees, subject only to the right of labor to bargain collectively, shall not be abridged.

"IV

"The right of a citizen to work without being forced to join, or pay dues into, or to contribute money to, any labor or other organization, shall not be abridged.

"V

"No person, in time of peace, shall be quartered or allowed to remain by law, in any house or living accommodation, without the consent of the owner, nor in time of actual war but in a manner prescribed by law.

"VI

"No person, without his consent, shall be compelled by law to collect monies due the government from his employees; nor shall any person be compelled by law to purchase insurance, or any other private benefit, made available to him by the government.

"VII

"The government shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial, or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution.

"VIII

"No law shall be passed imposing economic controls and price ceilings upon any privately owned business or industrial enterprise, provided, however, that during actual war, the government may establish priorities on materials and products needed for the conduct of the war, the remainder to be sold in a free and open market. This Amendment shall not apply to the regulation of rates charged by privately owned public utilities.

"IX

"The right of freedom of the air, of television, the cinema, and of the stage shall not be abridged. No license fee shall be imposed upon any newspaper or magazine; nor shall any government agency have the right to revoke the mailing privileges of such publications; to allocate or fix the price of newsprint; nor to suspend or to revoke licenses granted to radio and television stations. Every person accused of violating the laws of libel, slander, fraud, obscenity or sedition shall be tried only in a regularly constituted court before a jury of his peers.

"X

"The Senate of the United States is hereby prohibited from ratifying any treaty with foreign powers, under a world organization, or otherwise, whose conditions provide that laws may be prescribed for member nations, or that member nations may be committed either to engage in international police actions, or to go to war, without their consent. Secret executive agreements are hereby prohibited."

On May 28, 1956, [redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished the San Francisco Office with Progress Report Number 6, entitled "Year End Report; 1/18/56," published by Liberty and Property. The first page of this report contains a heading entitled "National Committee Advisors" and is being set out below: b2 b7D

"No. 2-Income Tax and States' Rights [redacted] b6 b7C

"No. 3-Freedom of Choice [redacted]

b6
b7C

"No. 4-Right to Work [redacted]

"No. 6-Outlaw Pay Deductions [redacted]

"No. 7-Outlaw Socialism [redacted]

"No. 8-Outlaw Price Controls [redacted]

"No. 9-Freedom of Speech [redacted]

It is noted that National Committee Advisors are not listed for Amendments 1, 5, 10 of the proposed Second Bill of Rights.

On November 1, 1955, SF T-1 furnished Progress Report Number 5 on the letterhead of Liberty and Property, Post Office Box 180, San Francisco. This report is dated October 14, 1955, and is addressed "To All Enrolees and Good Friends of L&P". This report in part stated as follows:

> "It is necessary to create a means whereby all new developments and new--as well as tried and true ideas can be expressed. L&P, being outspokenly pro-Capitalistic, believes that through the honest competition of ideas just as through the honest competition of goods the best of the lot will eventually prevail, and so result in the general welfare.
> "Consequently, we are proud to announce that this marks the beginning of publication of 'Right', a new monthly bulletin, of, by, and for the American Patriotic Movement.....

"In order to be effective, 'Right' intends to report, without bias or favoritism, all significant activity of the American Right Wing. As we define it, this means any organization or group which is interested primarily in one or two basic essentials qualifies for such matter. Because of the vast scope of the ideals envisioned by the groups concerned, these two criteria are necessarily negative. The two negative criteria are Anti-Marxism and Anti-Internationalism. Taken together, these two principles come close to meaning Americanism in our book."

This report identified the publication office of "Right" as 418 Ellis Street, San Francisco, and the Editor as CHARLES W. THOMAS.

This same report, under a caption "Growth of L&P", states as follows:

"In the few short months of the existence of L&P, an amazing amount of progress has been made. Step by step, our Organization Plan is being completed. New services were added constantly, all designed to build and strengthen the 'American Underground'."

V. FINANCES

The records of [redacted] contain b7D

[redacted]

[redacted] b7D

According to [redacted]

[redacted]

The January, 1956, issue of "Right" contained an article which stated that L&P operates on an extremely limited budget and that in its entire history had only received one $100 gift (its largest), and three $50 gifts. This article also states that revenue for the continuation of L&P activities comes from two sources; 1) Sale of L&P materials, such as the Directory and "Right" and 2) savings effected by donations of time by local patriots and officers of L&P. This article mentions that none of the officers of L&P has ever received a salary.

VI. ACTIVITIES

On November 17, 1955, [redacted] b6 b7C a businessman, furnished the San Francisco Office with a leaflet which states that it was issued by L&P, Post Office Box 180, San Francisco. This leaflet advertises "The Second Edition of the New Enlarged First National Directory of 'Rightist' Groups, Publications and Some Individuals in the United States (and Some Foreign Countries)." This was identified as a special service of L&P and listed the following as a partial group of attractions:

Anti-Internationalist groups!
Libertarian groups!
Anti-Communist and Anti-Socialist groups!
States' Rights groups!
Right To Work groups!
Anti-Fluoridation groups!
Religious groups!

SF 105-3824

On November 14, 1955, [redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished a copy of a letter written by WILLIS CARTO, which stated that he had made a trip throughout the United States and contacted numerous Rightist Nationalist Organizations and individuals. This letter also stated that CARTO was contacting groups which were against Communism, against Communist infiltrated state governments, the Supreme Court decision on segregation. This letter further states that he had also contacted groups called the Citizens Councils of the Southern States, which are against desegregation. The letter stated that the purpose of his trip was to contact people concerning L&P with the end of gaining some important support for it. The letter indicated he had been successful in getting this support.

The August, 1956, issue of "Right", which was furnished to the San Francisco Office, contained as an enclosure a printed invitation for the recipient to be the guest of L&P, Inc., and "Right" at the San Francisco Conservative Republican Headquarters which is being established "To serve the needs of America and the American Right Wing." On August 10, 1956, [redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished an announcement headed San Francisco Conservative Republican Headquarters, Post Office Box 180, San Francisco. This announcement, which is dated August 3, 1956, announces that Conservative Republican Headquarters will be opened August 17, 1956, at 1263 Market Street, and closed one week later on August 23, 1956. The announcement further states that this downtown location will enable "us" to put on the kind of a performance fitting for a movement which encompasses millions of patriots from coast to coast. It also states that "we" will be able to put on a "show" in direct competition with other Market Street political headquarters "all of which are, of course, liberal." b2 b7D

This announcement states that due to the limited number of tickets available for the actual convention, this headquarters cannot guarantee tickets but will have a large television set for actual coverage.

A handwritten note on this announcement advised [redacted] that the Resolutions Committee meets at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco on August 15, 1956. He was further advised to write Senator PRESCOTT BUSH, Senate Office Building, Washington, for permission to appear at this meeting. CALIF. DC

The August 10, 1956, edition of the San Francisco Chronicle, Page 6, contains an article entitled "Rightist Republicans to Open HQ at Convention Here". The article states that WILLIS CARTO, Executive Director of Liberty and Property, Incorporated, "a group which appears to be composed of ultra right wing Republicans", made this announcement. This article stated that CARTO said he was not for EISENHOWER for President and that while his group had taken "no stand" on the nomination, Senators JENNER and MC CARTHY or Governor LEE of Utah are men who fit the program of his organization.

An attachment to this announcement concerning San Francisco Conservative Republican Headquarters is set out below:

VII. EXCERPTS FROM "RIGHT"

The August, 1956, issue of "Right" lists BRADFORD MARTIN as Editor. As set out previously, CHARLES W. THOMAS is a former Editor of "Right". CALIF.

The February, 1956, issue was set up in the form of an open letter to President EISENHOWER and directed numerous defamatory questions to the President. The following were included among these questions:

> "Is it true that you and you alone are responsible for the surrender of Berlin to the Russians?"
> "Did you cut off General Patton's gasolene so that he was unable to take the Balkans, as he was in the process of doing?"
> "Did you and Harry Dexter White, who was then known to be a Communist spy, hatch the Morganthau Plan in your London headquarters?"

SF 105-3824
GDC:clw

"Were you responsible for turning over to the Russians some 70,000 highly-trained German scientists while we received only a few hundred? Are these the men responsible for building Russia to a point of aerial and atomic superiority to us?"

"Mr. President, are you responsible for the murder of some two to five million anti-Communist Russians, Poles, Balts, and Balkanese?"

The July, 1956, issue of "Right" contains a statement on Page 6 to the effect that subscribers to "Right" are desperately needed if it is to survive.

A MONTHLY NEWSLETTER OF, BY AND FOR THE AMERICAN RIGHTWING

[illegible] P.O. Box 180 [illegible]
San Francisco 1, Cal.
(Phone: PRospect 6-2898)

October 16, 1956

Dear RIGHTreader:

This issue--No. 14--is two weeks ahead of schedule. It is being airmailed to all subscribers outside of the state of California.

As soon as you have read it (and I urge you to do so immediately) you will understand the reason for our great haste. You may then agree with us that this is the most important issue we have yet published.

For eight months, we have been attempting to secure enough documentation to enable us to make the charges against President Eisenhower that we do in this issue. A week ago, this documentation arrived. This is the result.

Then, just as we were about to go to press, Joe Kamp began his campaign to sell the American Rightwing on Dwight Eisenhower!

Either of these two factors are enough to justify the extra expense that this issue has cost us. Together, the two make it absolutely imperative that every patriot be supplied with a copy of RIGHT 14 at once.

Every real American needs to know the vital facts contained in this issue. Hence, we are appealing to you for the added assistance that we must have to place a RIGHT 14 in thousands of hands by November 6.

Obviously, if you live in the East, there is no time for the usual procedure of sending bulk orders by parcel post. That way, you would have to wait a week or two before you could mail them to your mailing list. Therefore, we are prepared to mail out as many individual copies as we can directly from San Francisco, sending them by air, if necessary, so that they will reach their destination in time.

Just send us a neat list of the names and addresses of those you wish would receive RIGHT 14. Put the names and addresses on one side of the paper, please, and type them if possible. Then rush the names to us in the enclosed envelope, sending along either 12¢ or 9¢ per name, depending on whether you wish them sent by air or first-class. (Caution: if you wish the enclosed business reply envelope to come to us via air you must put 6¢ postage on it.)

Of course, we have our own lists too, and we hope to send a copy of RIGHT 14 to every one of the 10,000 Rightwingers whose name we have. We will need financial assistance for this task as we estimate it will cost about $1000. We hope to start on this at once and whether or not we can reach every name will depend on the help we get.

Yours for an election thrown into the House of Representativ

A MONTHLY NEWSLETTER OF, BY AND FOR THE AMERICAN RIGHTWING

Mention of or comment on any group or activity absolutely must not be taken as indication of approval, either by the publisher or by any other group or activity. This publication is intended to give information only and to do so in an unbiased manner, with no favoritism meant or implied to any particular group or activity.

No. 14. Nov., 1956. | $3 per year, 25¢ per copy | Bradford Martin, Editor, P.O. Box 180, San Francisco | 6 to 49 copies, 10¢ ea. 50 to 499 copies, 5¢ ea. | 500 or more copies, 3½¢ ea.

This issue of RIGHT is entirely an editorial, and is being mailed out two weeks ahead of time because of the important emergency information it contains.

This issue of RIGHT brings to the American Rightwing some of the most important information ever assembled on a Presidential candidate. In addition, evidence of a deeply-laid plot to re-elect Dwight Eisenhower President has been discovered and is revealed here. This plot extends its slimy tentacles into the very heart of the Rightwing and rears its ugly head in unexpected places. This issue is divided into two parts. Part I will unveil the biggest crime of all recorded history—a crime perpetrated by no less a person than the grinning President of the United States himself. Part II will expose the "master plan" decided upon months ago by the masterminds of the Eisenhower administration which is calculated to recapture the votes of the disillusioned Rightwing "suckers" who supported Eisenhower in 1952.

PART ONE: THE GREATEST CRIME IN HISTORY

"The evil that men do lives after them," said Shakespeare, and so summed up in a few words the life story of Dwight D. Eisenhower. Few men are placed in a position during their lifetime to greatly help or greatly harm their fellow man. Dwight Eisenhower was. And his actions have earned him a place which is perhaps unique in all history. For he has the distinction of being the man who sold out a whole civilization and way of life!

This extreme-sounding statement, unfortunately, does not begin to describe the crime of Dwight Eisenhower. For it is mainly because of this man that the West is almost completely unprepared to cope with the rapidly-growing might of Central Asia.

THE ISSUE

Few seem to realize that the approaching conflict is much more than a war between two nations. The coming struggle between the rapidly-growing East and the liberal-infested, decadent West will be a life or death battle, with no holds barred. If we lose—and there is every likelihood that we will—it will mean the immigration into America of millons upon millions of hungry Asiatics and probably the exportation of millions of Americans into slave labor camps inside Russia. It means the final, definite, hopeless and ignominious end of the White man, Western civilization, the English language, the Christian religion and free capitalism. That and no less is the threat and the immediate outlook.

A CLOSER LOOK

A closer study of The Issue will bring out certain incontrovertable facts: (1) Population pressures in Asia are rapidly creating a situation where an aggressive war against the relatively underpopulated West is inevitable. (2) The Far East (China), from where this pressure will mostly arise, is controlled lock, stock and barrel by the Kremlin, which can use its numberless manpower and explosive energy for her own destructive designs. (3) Under the guidance of the Kremlin, a body of scientists and technicians vastly superior in numbers to our own and probably superior to our own in skill are being trained and are now busily engaged in shaping the technical sinews of a gigantic war machine in Central Asia. (4) These scientists have been trained and even now are probably guided by Germans who wished to come to America and Britain but who were forcibly deported to Russia by Dwight D. Eisenhower and his co-New Deal consiprators, Harry Truman and Franklin Roosevelt. (5) The United States, under the traitorous leadership of Eisenhower, is almost totally unprepared for the coming conflict and is knowingly still lending assistance to Russia and her satellites. Here is the proof, listed by numbers corresponding to those above:

(1) Dr. Vannevar Bush, leading American scientist, estimates that the world population in fifty years will be five billion. Sir Charles Darwin, grandson of the famous zoologist, predicts that the figure will be six billion in fifty years. The UN puts the figure at four billion in only 24 years. The greatest increase, the sources agree, will be in Asia. China alone will have one billion "long before the end of the century."

(2) In an address to California's famous Commonwealth Club, last month, Dr. Hollington K. Tong, Ambassador from the Republic of China, stated flatly that "The stern fact is that no break between Moscow and Peiping is possible because Red China is completely dependent upon Russia . . . The Russians have made it almost certain that Red China will continue to be a technical vassal for at least a generation . . . Unless we intelligently and vigorously use time to achieve a greater measure of unity and a keener awareness of the common danger, the future of the free world may well be lost forever."

(3) That the Russians are well ahead of the West in the development of technological weapons and the training of engineers is growing into a well-known and accepted fact. RIGHT first emphasized this in March. In the last seven months the Western world has been shaken to its very depths by revelations of this nature. We now know that: (a) The Russians exploded the world's first true H Bomb in August, 1953. (The U. S. exploded one seven months later.) (b) The USSR has the world's largest synchro-cyclotron and will begin operating the world's largest proton-synchrotron before the end of this year. (c) Russia is now out-producing the US in long-range bombers (according to Charles Wilson) and they are of a more advanced type than our own B-52, which is "only beginning to be delivered to the Air Force," according to Alexander P. de Seversky. (d) The USSR has more jet-equipped combat planes than any nation in the world (according to Gen. George C. Kenney and Lt. Gen. Thomas S. Power). (e) Russian design of some aircraft is "more advanced than anything likely to be available in America for at least three years" (according to the London Daily Mail). (f) "Russia is at present at least two years ahead of the West" in atom-bearing intercontinental guided missles, according to the Intelligence Digest. (g) Finally, General Twining topped it all off as he wrote finis to Western hopes by saying that the Russian "are ahead of us in rate of progress."

Russian students, according to Sir Francis Simon, an Oxford professor, are entering Soviet schools at a greater rate "than in the whole non-Communist world." "Russia is turning out twice as many engineers as we are," says Joel Hildebrand, University of California emeritus professor of chemistry and president of the American Chemical Society. The New York Times recently reported that Red China is graduating 64,000 youths from college in 1956. It is well-known that other thousands are being trained in the famous technical institutes and universities in East Germany. All this and more goes on while in America leading educators are alarmed at "teacher incompetence" and "the lack of scientific interest in American youth" and "socialistic, non-competitive methods of grading," and even West Point has so few applicants that it is planning to recruit cadets by radio and television promotions. Concludes Hildebrand, "Our relation to the world community may easily become that of a subject nation unless something is done quickly. There is a catastrophic decline in many schools in enrollments and teaching competence in mathematics and science, subjects basic to the very survival of Western civilization."

The Soviet Union and China are engaged in vast five year plans to change the very face of the map. Rivers are being reversed in flow and diverted to provide power and to change the climate of the vast spaces of Central Asia. New communities are being established, huge hydro-electric plants, new factories and technical installations are being erected at a pace which leaves foreign visitors, fed on the senseless pap of the invisible government, goggle-eyed with wonder and giddy with apprehension. Said the Chief of the Reactor Physics Department in the Norwegian Atomic Energy Institute after visiting the USSR: "All the time I was in the Soviet Union I had the strangest feeling of experiencing something I could not believe was true . . . discussing the most advanced problems with Soviet scientists, problems that we never imagined the Russians were investigating . . ."

With the active assistance of traitors in the West, the Kremlin has done its work well. It now commands an army in Europe which is of such size as to make anything the West might put up strictly useless. The stupid "collective security" delusion of the UN and NATO is hardly worthy of being mentioned, as even General Alfred M. Gruenther resigns his hopeless post of command, realizing that his is an impossible position and freely admitting that Europe cannot be defended with NATO. (The real purpose of NATO is to strip America of her sovereignty, to rob her of her Constitution and to reduce her to a province in a socialist world government, as Senator William E. Jenner states.)

(4) There can be only one logical explanation as to what caused this explosive improvement in the technical competence of Central Asia in the period since the end of the last war. This explanation is the most closely-guarded secret of the Pentagon and the White House because it directly implicates the President. What RIGHT will now reveal is so deadly a secret that even Joe McCarthy shrank before it. This closely-guarded secret is simply this: that the incredible technical advance of Central Asia—an advance which is shaking the entire Western world to its foundations, an advance which imminently threatens the survival of not only every man, woman and child in Europe and America but also threatens our survival as a nation, a culture and a race; this advance is directly because of the treason of General Dwight D. Eisenhower in forcing German scientists who wished to come to America, into the anxious arms of the bloody swine of the Kremlin!

The estimate of these kidnaped, betrayed men goes to 75,000 or more. These men are the guiding spirits behind the phenomenal rise of Russia and it is the unsurpassed German technical skill and genius which today is the prime factor in the burgeoning economy and power of Central Asia.

Thanks, then, to Dwight Eisenhower and a few equally treacherous accomplices, the Western world is presented with the very threat against which men of vision like Kaiser Wilhelm and others warned us decades ago. Under the leadership of the Kremlin, the technical genius of half of Germany and thousands of captured German scientists are being used to mobilize the unlimited human and geographical resources of Russia and China for a final assault on the West.

And one of the men most directly responsible for this is still grinning at us and still asks the betrayed American public to have faith and confidence in him!

(5) In spite of the thousands of skilled publicity men who are constantly working to cover up the crimes of the New Deal and its foremost pet, Dwight D. Eisenhower, certain questions emerge in the light of history which the American people still have the right to ask and to which they demand answers:

(a) Why does Dwight Eisenhower still promote and defend aid to Yugoslavia and even Russia? Why is it that Harold Stassen, with the approval of Eisenhower, recently removed from the embargo list some 200 critical items? Why are we allowing some of the most advanced machine tools, specialized metals and the like which is being used to manufacture jet planes, tanks, guided missles and et cetera to be shipped to Russia? In a recent investigation which brought out these and other equally shocking facts, which the Administration is trying desperately to hush up, Senator John J. McClellan said, "It would be better for the United States to permit shells, guns and guided missles to be disembargoed, for they could be used against us only once, while these machine tools could and will be used to make armaments of war which could be used against us many times." McClellan accused Eisenhower of supressing this information and said, "I don't see why we should keep it as secret as possible, but agree that such tools may go to the Communist nations."

(b) Why have we continued to "leash" Chiang until it is now too late and the Red Chinese are now too strong? Why was Chiang prevented from returning to the mainland four years ago, with American blessing and supplies?

(c) Why the "sudden" knowledge of the build-up in Central Asia? Are we to assume that the great "citizen-General" has been taken by surprise? If so, what was the super-duper secret CIA doing all this time? Why are we so totally unprepared? Is this what Ike grins about?

These are the stark, cold facts and the unanswered questions and no amount of Eisenhower lies can cover them up any longer. We have been betrayed. Rather than be re-elected, Eisenhower should be impeached, tried and punished as a war criminal.

PART TWO: THE CONSPIRACY

Immediately after Eisenhower's election in 1952 and it became growingly apparent to millions of conservatives that they had been made "suckers" of again—this time by Dwight D. Eisenhower's "crusade"—the Republican masterminds decided on a cunning scheme to retain the conservative vote while capturing much of the liberal-communist vote which normally goes Democratic. Briefly, the plan was this: to make the Administration outwardly a businessman's government by appointing to office many internationalist millionaires, many of them closely associated, it should be added, with the big international banking firms which have brought so much grief to the world by their financing the Russian Bolshevik Revolution and their successful agitation for wars which have all but destroyed Western Civilization. With such "respectable" men around him, Ike would have the support of the genuinely conservative business community and this would give him carte blanche power to promote internationalist and pro-communist measures with the paradoxical support of the very business community that he was busy selling out!

The diabolical scheme worked well enough until the Republican Convention, where out of nowhere sprang the CONSERVATIVE REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS which greatly disturbed the atmosphere of "unity" manufactured with such expensive trouble by Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne. Later, the CONSTITUTION PARTY Convention and the WE, THE PEOPLE meeting in Chicago as well as a score of other indications convinced the Republican bosses of the urgency to do something before it was too late.

The natural result was to fall back on the time-honored and tested weapons of confusion and falsehood.

So a Myth was born, as if by magic.

THE MYTH

This Myth runs something like this: If Ike is re-elected, because of the Constitutional limitation that will prevent him from running again, (in 1960, that is) because of this, they say, he will lose influence and he will be a veritable tool in the hands of the so-very-very conservative businessmen (like Paul Hoffman and Bernard Baruch and Sherman Adams and Arthur Goldsmith and John Roosevelt, presumably) that surround him like protecting lillies around a pile of manure.

Needless to say, this Myth is a Myth and it is nothing more than a Myth. It is a Myth invented by some anonymous and highly-paid employee of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne and it has been successfully palmed off on many a good conservative who does not bother to look behind the Myth. Well, RIGHTreader, let us look behind this Myth. Let us use some good old horse sense.

First of all, it must be remembered that any politician's political influence is directly equal to his popularity with the voters—and this is true whether or not he is a candidate!

So it is easy to rip the first gaping hole in this manufactured and goofy Myth. Obviously, if the oft-repeated story of Ike's personal popularity with the voters is true at all, then the Myth is false! Because if Ike is so popular with the voters, then every other politician in the country will spend the next four years shining up to Ike, hoping to get his grinning nod of approval. And this is true whether or not Ike runs again!

And the second reason why this Myth is nonsensical, of course, is that if Ike does lose in "power and influence," the gainers of that "power and influence"—obviously—will be the claque of liberal internationalist me-too'ers that surround him, and certainly not the conservatives!

MISS THE POINT

Those genuine conservatives who hope for an Eisenhower victory because they are convinced that anything would be better than the nasty Adlai and his nasty cronies—like Walter Reuther, for example—these conservatives miss the point.

Of course Adlai and Estes and Walter are nasty fellows. They have a reputation for being nasty. They are well-known to be communists. And it is precisely because they are known to be communists that this crew would be less dangerous in the White House than Ike!

If the past four years have proven anything they have proven, in the words of George S. Montgomery, Jr., that "an open enemy is better than a false friend." Eisenhower is more dangerous than Stevenson exactly because Eisenhower is believed to be a conservative whereas Stevenson is known to be a communist. If there is anything sure, it is that the Congress would fight Adlai and Estes tooth and toenail—every inch of the way—whereas Congress would again cooperate with Ike and fall in with his secret plans to destroy America and the Western world. Anyone familiar with Eisenhower's past knows the truth about this grinning hypocrite, and the truth is that he is just as far to the left as Adlai! The only difference is that Ike has managed to pose as a conservative, whereas Adlai hasn't even tried. It is much easier to fight an open enemy than a secret one.

A POLITICAL REALIGNMENT

In addition, the election of the Democrats will do still more to widen the irreparable breach in the Democratic Party and the Republican Party as well, and this may cause—in 1960—the emergence of the long-awaited "third" party made up of the now unofficial coalition of Southern Democrats and Northern conservative Republicans. The Democrats have shown that they have greater unity out of power than in power. But the Republicans—due to Ike's deception—have shown the opposite is true. They have greater unity in power than they would have out of power!

Now all of this is true but the big reason why Eisenhower must—under no circumstances—be re-elected is this, and it is strange that so very little is heard of it. In the words of the Convention News,* if Ike is re-elected, "it seems certain that he will go even farther and faster to the extreme Left. Freed from all worry about a third term, he will make most Republicans rue the day that they ever heard the name, Eisenhower." Obviously, this is true. Far from becoming less dangerous after his re-election as the Myth would have us believe, he will become much more dangerous because he will not have to worry about being re-elected!

THE WORST IS YET TO COME

All of the above is only half the story, and the best half at that. The slick promoters of this Myth, their well-tailored pockets crammed with campaign funds, have left nothing to chance. By hook or by crook, they have somehow persuaded certain Right-wingers to fall for the Myth and to actually try to propagandize their unsuspecting readers and followers—believe it or not—to VOTE FOR EISENHOWER!

Naturally, it is absolutely imperative, in the minds of Ike's pals, to recapture the lost conservative vote, since this vote—or the lack of it—will undoubtedly be the determining factor in whether or not Ike wins.

Until this issue, it has been RIGHT's constant policy to never criticize another Rightwinger under any circumstances, regardless of how well merited, in the opinion of RIGHT's editors, such criticism would be. RIGHT has followed that policy because the prime purpose of the newsletter is to point out similarities, rather than differences, in the Rightwing.

RIGHT sincerely hopes that after this incident it will never again be forced to criticize a Rightwing leader. RIGHT will conscientiously refrain from doing this in the future, just as it has in the past.

JOE MUST GO

But there comes a time when not to speak out against a disrupter means to sell out America. There comes a time when even the mighty Joe Kamp must be faced down and stopped dead in his ill-advised campaign to sell the Rightwing on Dwight Eisenhower. For this is precisely what Joe Kamp is trying to do! In Kamp's latest booklet, deceptively titled, Election Guide for Voters Who Don't Like Ike or Adlai, Kamp goes through amazing gyrations. First, in a letter sent along with it he details the efforts of the Ike crowd to draw in the liberal-trotskyite vote. He frankly admits that the Eisenhower machine is making not the slightest genuine effort to appeal to the conservative voter. "These disgusted voters—and conservatively there are millions of them—will decide the election," he says. Then, just when one would suspect that he would exhort his readers to spurn the Republican Party and write in Andrews and Werdel, he makes the incredible statement that "pro-American constitutional conservatives (must) vote for Eisenhower and Nixon!"

SPEAK FOR YOURSELF, JOE

Now in a fighter like Joe Kamp, this is a remarkable kettle of fish. Especially when it is remembered that in 1952 it was Kamp who literally led the parade of those who were opposed to Ike by putting out the most biting attack against him that had—up to then—appeared in print.

And now, after four years of the Eisenhower "Crusade," during which time Eisenhower has lived up to the worst that Kamp could say about him in 1952—now Kamp turns around and starts promoting Ike for President!

Here is Kamp in 1956 calling Kamp in 1952 a liar! Here is Kamp in 1956 asking the Rightwing to forget all that Kamp said in 1952!

Kamp's excuse is that Stevenson is worse than Ike, and he lists a number of Adlai's communist supporters to prove it. Incidentally, he leaves out one of the most notorious communists in America, Harry Bridges. And the reason he leaves out Harry Bridges is because this Red is supporting Eisenhower! This is only one example of Kamp's rather strange and strained logic.

Well, we never thought we'd live to see the day when Joe Kamp — a veteran anti-Communist— would line up with Harry Bridges in trying to sell the American people a bill of goods!

No thanks, Joe. We don't know what happened to Kamp but we jolly well know that we aren't selling out! We've been made suckers out of just once too often. But if YOU want to make a sucker out of yourself, why go right ahead.

WE WON'T QUIT

Frankly, we don't know if victory is ahead or not. Sometimes we rather doubt it. The odds are too great. But there is one thing, at least, that we do know and there is one thing, at least, of which we are sure. And that is, that regardless of others, we intend to fight and fight and fight. Others may turn tail and run; others may be cowards and give in to the "inevitable." But we won't.
And that's final.

BULLETIN: Immediately after the typesetter finished setting type for this issue of RIGHT the news was heard that Democrat Congressman Adam Clayton Powell had decided—after a long and very secret conference with Eisenhower—to support his second term candidacy. Question to Mr. Kamp: Will you wait until Bulganin and Krushchev endorse Ike for a second term before you wake up?

ACTION! THAT WAS THE KEYNOTE at two Rightwing meetings last month. In Chicago, WE, THE PEOPLE decided on a course of aggressive strategy at the Congressional District level. WTP—a Rightwing political-action group like the left-wing ADA—plans to form units in each District. "We can't hope to elect a President until we control our own Congressional Districts," was the sound advice of ex-Congressman Kit Clardy, who was himself defeated by the well-heeled CIO-AFL. Clardy, incidentally, was elected President of WTP. Although this group is not—strictly speaking—a party, and therefore cannot endorse any candidate, the leaders, such as Harry Everingham, made it clear that they personally support the Andrews-Werdel ticket of the CONSTITUTION PARTY. (WTP: 111 N. Wabash, Chicago 2)

In Memphis, the States' Rights Conference, held at the same time as WE, THE PEOPLE, emerged with an endorsement of the Andrews-Werdel ticket. Although the various groups that participated failed to form themselves into one overall body, they represent a single party in fact if not in name. (Write Box 8181, San Antonio 12)

The consensus of opinion seems to be: Work to organize your own Congressional District. Aim to elect a suitable candidate this year, using the balance-of-power concept stressed by WTP. And vote the CONSTITUTION PARTY ticket, or write in the names of the candidates, Andrews and Werdel.

UNITED STATES DAY
October 23

The Only Flag
TO WHICH WE PAY ALLEGIANCE

UNITED STATES DAY, October 23, grows bigger each year, thanks to the steady efforts of Chairman W. L. Foster and his co-workers. All real Americans should prepare to celebrate this day, which comes the day before United Nations Day. Patriotic stickers like the above and information is available from Box 353, Tulsa, Okla. Where will the governor of your state stand? Will he proclaim UNITED STATES DAY or United Nations Day?

SIGNS OF THE TIMES: Harry Bridges, who should have been deported years ago, recently registered as a Republican so that he can vote for Ike! Well, you can say a lot about red Harry, but you can't call him stupid!

THE RISE OF CENTRAL ASIA AND THE THREAT FROM THE EAST: Can you guess who said this: "Written in unmistakable and fearful lines across the world horizon are the signs of the end of the ruthless rule of the white man over the peoples of color in the world. . . . But since no great world power voluntarily surrenders its rule and control of people, however unjust, undemocratic and unchristian it may be, the old colonial world nations, with palsied and feeble hands, still seek to maintain their crumbling colonial empires . . . But there is nothing more obvious . . . than that the subjugated, oppressed and exploited black, brown and yellow peoples of the world are no longer accepting a half loaf of freedom and independence—they want the whole loaf!"

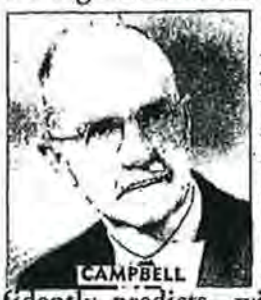

NOW GUESS! Did V.K. Krishna-Menon, Nehru's Caucasian-hating, Communist assistant say that? Did Chou-en-Lai say it? Was it Abdel Gamal Nasser? Perhaps it was a Mau-Mau leader, in Kenya? NO, IT WASN'T ANY OF THOSE! The author of that statement was A. Philip Randolph, head of the all-colored Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters!

Remember, Randolph wants to be thought of as an American. He wants his children to be "integrated." He votes in American elections for Presidential candidates. He doesn't want to be "discriminated against." BUT HE MAKES IT CRYSTAL CLEAR WHERE HE AND HIS FOLLOWERS WILL STAND IN THE APPROACHING SHOWDOWN WITH THE GROWING MIGHT OF CENTRAL ASIA. (Thanks for letting us know, Philip.) . . . Commenting on this approaching conflict, Capt. Eugene R. Guild asks, "SHALL WE SURVIVE ON ATOMIC PARITY DAY?" In other words, when Central Asia gains atomic parity with us—if she does not already have it—the atom will be neutralized and the victory will be to the Power with the greatest manpower, OBVIOUSLY. . . Lawrence Dennis correctly puts it, "Our invention of the a and h bombs has really lowered our relative world power position since 1945 as nothing else could have done." . . And the UN food and agriculture organization adds these meaningful statistics: BY 1980 THERE WILL BE 4 BILLION PEOPLE ON THE EARTH, as compared with 2.7 billion as of August 15. "The largest population increases are expected to occur in Asia, Africa and Latin America," says the UN, in apparent glee over the approaching end of the White man and European civilization.

PERSECUTION OF THE RIGHT increases in intensity as Philip O'Connell is sent to prison for his refusal to recognize the validity of the Massachusetts compulsory insurance law. O'Connell, declaring that the law is clearly violative of both state and federal Constitutions, is in a better spot than young Melvin Deats, a 17-year old youth who is now in solitary confinement because of the anti-communist activities of himself and his mother. For data on O'Connell, write the Summit Sun, Summit, Miss. For data on Deats, write New Mexico Women Speak, a new newsletter published by Mrs. James Thorsen, an attractive brunette who recently announced that she was refusing to pay her 1955 income tax. "It is not enough to talk against communism," she says. Address: 821 McDuffie Circle N.E., Albuquerque, N. M. . . . Manuel Miller, by the way, is still in prison as punishment for his anti-communist activities. For factual information, write his wife, Lucille, at Bethel, Vt. On the basis of her own first-hand experience, she says that there are "thousands of innocent Americans behind bars as political prisoners."

PATRIOTIC PROFILES: One of the great tragedies of the liberal-infested West is the perversion and suicide of its own intellectual integrity. The so-called "intellectuals" are largely fools, being mentally and morally bankrupt, bigoted and barren of constructive ideals or ideas. The total nothingness of these incredibly inept liberal-trotskyites who infest the academies of the West like maggots is clearly seen by contrast with two books which have just recently appeared.

These two remarkable books are by two remarkable men who are, in themselves, living refutations of the liberal-communist program of brainwashing. While the liberal-trotskyites have been holding "workshops" to plan how to further weaken the West, these two men have been busy earning a living. While the subversives have been busy debating the merits of "Stalinism," these men have been quietly thinking and writing. While the reds and liberals have been using the huge funds of the big Foundations and the endowments of colleges to promote meaningless yet subversive babble in ten hundred thousand subsidized and prostituted books, these two men have been spending their own money to publish really important material—material which—RIGHT confidently predicts—will be fanatically ignored by the lying "thought leaders" of liberal-communist persuasion who are in such disgusting profusion throughout America.

CAMPBELL

Byram Campbell and Charles Smith are strangers to each other. Neither have read the works of the other. They live thousands of miles apart. These businessmen are—in the tradition of great philosophers—both bachelors. Both are extremely courageous and determined in the face of terrible odds. Both have been exposed to liberal-communist doubletalk and know it for the intellectual lie that it is. And both of them have determined to do something about it!

So both of these men have privately published a book embodying years of thought and planning. Campbell has just released his World of Oneness (230 pps, $3.50, Pacific Book Co., 260 Kearny St., San Francisco) and Smith his Sensism (1577 pps, $10, Truth Seeker Co., 38 Park Row, New York 8).

Both of these books attempt an admittedly superhuman and probably impossible job: that of significantly changing the thinking of the West before it commits final suicide. Campbell feels "The troubles of our day are obviously a byproduct of our culture, (therefore) we shall question even its fundamentals." In so doing, Campbell diagnoses the "disease" of the West and comes up with some rather surprising conclusions. Briefly, he points to the idea of oneness as the basic cause of our troubles. Here, he puts his finger on a welcome trouble spot and he shows how the idea of ONE can create great and dangerous fanaticism; eg: One-world, One-race, One-religion, etc. On the other hand, most Rightists will find his implied criticism of monotheism (One God) to be repugnant.

Regardless of this, Campbell's book is deserving of deep study and attention—which we may be sure it will never get from the liberal press. Read with discrimination and judgment, World of Oneness has much to offer America at this crucial hour.

SMITH

Smith tackles an even more formidable objective. His aim is to establish the basis for an entirely new philosophical system suited to the West alone. To do this, he takes two volumes and works out a new vocabulary in the process! Written painstakingly, Sensism must be read the same way because it contains too much material to be swallowed in a hurry without bad after-effects. For instance, Smith seems to confuse all Chrisianity with modernist Christianity and he blanketly condemns it without a clear understanding of the difference. But this does not detract from the essential importance of the book.

The books are similar in that neither sees sure victory ahead. Campbell believes that so many fanatics have accepted the Oneworld religion that any number of failures by the internationalists only whets the appetite for more attempts. "I expect to witness the paradoxical situation where the UN continues to gain in prestige in spite of its failures to solve any real problems," he says.

Both authors sternly criticise the UN, internationalism, communism and mongrelization, and they view them all as part of the overall drive towards "equality" which will inevitably lead to slavery and degradation.

THE CRYSTAL BALL MUST BE A BIT CLOUDY! Opinions in the Rightwing as to whether we are to have a depression or more inflation differ widely. Murray Rothbard, writing in National Review, sees the distinct possibility of a runaway inflation, "that dread collapse of the currency that combines the worst features of depression and boom." Confirming this is the newly-formed COMMITTEE FOR A FREE GOLD MARKET. "One of the greatest hoaxes ever perpetrated on the people is the belief that 'our money is safe because of the gold reserves at Fort Knox,'" says a circular. Headed by the two-fisted Major George Racey Jordan, this group counts on the initial support of thirteen Western states in its campaign to restore the free market in gold. For interesting material, including Jordan's speech, Gold and Freedom, write Box 868, Angels Camp, Calif. Humphrey B. Neill, a "right-wing ruminator," editor of Neill Letters of Contrary Opinion, (Saxtons River, Vt.) believes that "monetary policies and trends point toward a coming moderate deflation in place of the inflation which is much-expected." William Baxter, 68 William St., New York City, still believes in the inevitability of a depression—as he has for many years. Lawrence Dennis (Becket, Mass.) pays no attention to the short term. In his view, although there may be minor market corrections from time to time, the trend will be upward, ever upward. Why? He points to the political necessity of the invisible government maintaining full employment and inflation through a cold war economy. Nor, he says, there will not be a runaway inflation. What's your guess?

FROM HERE, THERE AND 'MOST EVERYWHERE: THE WRAPS ARE OFF! For the first time in twenty years, a magazine of national circulation deals with the race issue in a factual way! See the Sept. 21 issue of U.S. News & World Report for Dr. F. C. J. McGurk's stupendous article on Negro racial inferiority. This unanswerable article pulls the rug from under the integrationists. The vital matter of immigration and the survival of the McCarran-Walter law may be decided by the next election. If Ike is re-elected, he may be successful in emasculating this law so as to admit hundreds of thousands of undesirable aliens. This is what he has already proposed to do, and with a subservient Republican Congress, he may get away with it. But if Stevenson and a Democratic Congress are elected, Adlai will surely find terrific opposition to the plan—not only from Republicans but from conservative Democrats, as well. For instance, the chairmanship of the Judiciary Committee is held by Senator James O. Eastland, Democrat, who would fight and kill any attempt by Adlai to flood the country with more aliens. "Parson Jack" Johnston, editor of the Georgia Tribune, Box 629, Columbus, Ga., thinks not. THE RIGHT TO SELF-MEDICATION certainly is one of the most important human rights and one which the government has no authority over, regardless of the ideas of the communists and liberals. The day that Americans become so decadent that they allow bureaucrats to attend to their health for them will mark the day that Americans have become slaves. Huge Negro Crime Wave Revealed In Congress Report

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The commercial press has suppressed the story, but during the last session of Congress one of the great members of the House of Representatives, John Bell Williams, broke a story which for all time refutes the contention of ignorant northern "liberals" that Southern segregation breeds crime, ignorance and moral degeneracy among Negroes, while Russian-style "integration" changes all this by giving Negroes "equal opportunity" and "first class citizenship". Congressman Bell neatly punctured the myth that Negroes become first class citizens under "integration" by citing FBI statistics and other reliable police reports to show that the Negro crime rate in the "integrated" North is from two to four times greater than in the deep South, and that in both areas the Negro crime rate is vastly greater than among whites . . .

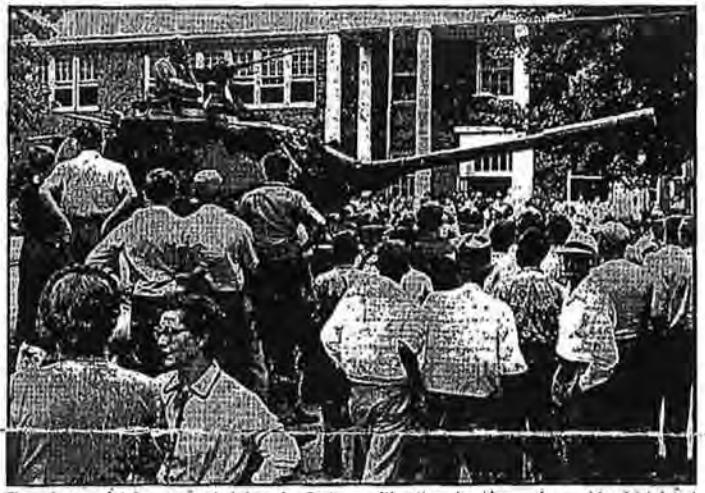

He also took a swipe at Northern propagandists who have consistently misrepresented the facts concerning the race question in the South. Observing that . . . "much of the propaganda assault made against the Southern people originates in the State of New

Reds Move To Suppress Polish Anti-Semitism

SPECIAL—The wave of revolt which swept over Poland in the wake of the Kremlin's "de-Stalinization" campaign, and which culminated in the bitter anti-Communist riots at Poznan, Poland earlier this year, is arousing increasing concern in the American Jewish press. This is particularly so since news from Poland indicates that the people's hatred of Communism is matched by an equally bitter hatred of the Jews who administer the Communist regime. During July and August, for example, American Jewish newspapers from coast to coast broke out with a rash of

The above picture was not taken in East Berlin or Poznan, Poland. It was taken on a school yard in the U.S.A. The tank and loaded machine guns are there to be used "if necessary" against the parents and citizens who gathered at the school in protest against the admission of Negroes. Thus, with the backing of a Marxist-tainted Supreme Court, and with the aid of two turn-coat governors (Clement of Tennessee; Chandler of Kentucky) bayonets, tanks and machine guns were at long last being used to enforce the N.A.A.C.P.'s vicious "integration" program.

Tanks, Guns And Bayonets Used To Enforce The NAACP's Program

SPECIAL—It was September and chief-justice Earl Warren, on a cook's tour of India, was being extolled to high heaven by Prime Minister Nehru and other assorted Indian notables for his Supreme Court decision outlawing segregated schools back in the U.S. But even while Mr. Warren was being hailed as a hero by the unwashed masses of India and Asia, tanks were rolling in American cities and bayonets were being used to force Americans to submit to that decision. Mr. Warren was not nearly so popular last month in the U.S.A. as he was in India . . .

REVOLT IN CLINTON

The first big trouble began in Clinton, Tennessee—a quiet, clean, self-respecting community of hard working, God fearing people who paid their taxes, minded their own business and (until last month) got along well with their Negro neighbors.

Just why the trouble-making National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) picked Clinton as the first town in Tennessee to be forcibly "integrated" can only be surmised. One important decision may have been the fact that the town's mayor, as well as the school principal at Clinton High, are both notorious Negro-lovers. This was to have a profound effect upon later developments, because it was their pig-headed determination to "integrate" the town's high school over the objections of the local citizenry which provoked the trouble to begin with—and when trouble did come, it was the mayor who called for the National Guard to "preserve order."

A PAUL REVERE

Virtually all observers are agreed that it was a modern Paul Revere in the person of John Kasper who crystalized public opinion in Clinton into violent opposition to the "integration" of the local high school. Kasper, a 26 year old graduate of Columbia University, and an organizer for the White Citizens' Council from Washington D.C., provided leadership (and a rallying point) for the aroused citizens of Clinton at a moment when it counted the

COMPULSORY "INTEGRATION" IS TYRANNY!

WASHINGTON

MOST political observers missed the point, but the only major political speaker at either the Democratic or Republican conventions who really took a strong stand for States Rights was Republican Senate-leader Wm. Knowland. It is ironic to note, too, that a few hours after he opened the convention at San Francisco with a strong denunciation of Red China, the Chinese Communists shot down one of our Navy patrol planes in the Pacific . . .

SINCE, barring another illness, it looks like Eisenhower will be re-elected, it is all the more important that a Democratic majority be elected to both houses of Congress. Here's why: Of the 35 top chairmanships in the House and Senate, the Southern states under a Democratic majority will control about 25 of them —the rest of the country only 10. This does not mean that good conservative Northern Republicans should not be supported, but in cases where New Dealers occupy both tickets, then a New Deal Democrat is preferable, since his election will help throw control of the Congress to the conservative South . . .

Admiral Lashes Jews

(Cont. from Page 1)

The Jewish Telegraph Agency also quoted Admiral Crommelin as saying that . . . "We've got to keep this last frontier of the real Anglo-Saxon race — and if I'm wrong, my name is Finklestein".

Admiral Crommelin thus joins a distinguished company of other prominent military men who have likewise incurred Jewish wrath by taking an open stand on the race question.

These include General Mark Clark, who stirred up a hornet's nest last May when he characterized the all-Negro 92nd division (during World War II) as . . . "the worst division I had." During the Korean War, continued General Clark, . . . "the sorry behavior pattern which I had experienced in Italy repeated itself: The all-Negro battalions would not stand dependably against fire; where they were placed in the battle line they weakened the line" . . . Thus spoke Mark Clark in arguing against the "integration" of our Armed Forces.

Other famous patriot generals who have braved the wrath of organized Jewry by daring to speak forthrightly on the racial issue include:

General Sumter Lowry, who earlier this year made segregation the principal issue in the Florida primaries by campaigning on an anti-intregation ticket in his race for governor;

General George Stratemeyer, who several months ago publicly denounced the "book burning" activities of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, thereby earning him the undying hatred of that sinister pressure organization;

General Van Horn Moseley, dean of the patriot generals and today the highest ranking officer of World War I, who for many years has been an outspoken critic of Zionist and Communist treason . . .

And now to this illustrious list of military men who have had the courage to speak their convictions is added that of Admiral John G. Crommelin, who last month dared to identify the real instigators of racial strife in the South as Zionist and Marxist Jews.

Hollywood

MOST TELEVISION VIEWERS are familiar by now with the TV industry's inordinate fondness for Negroidal entertainers, and they know, or at least suspect, that there is more to it than meets the eye. Actually, of course, the Jewish-owned TV networks, in conspiracy with the sinister American Jewish Committee and other professional propaganda agencies, have long engaged in a calculated campaign to foist Negroidal entertainment upon an unsuspecting American public as a means of breaking down racial "prejudice" (meaning racial pride). One way they do this is by signing Negro entertainers under contract, and then slipping them into "guest spots" on various family programs. In this way the American public, which does not want Negro entertainment, and which will not support all-Negro programs on their own merit, is made a captive audience. It's a very clever device . . . But the Jewish masters of the TV industry (all three of the major nets are Yiddish-owned), not content with pushing Negroidal entertainers into every American living room, also use their position to punish those who uphold racial segregation and self-respect. Last month a particularly brazen example of this practice came to light when the American Broadcasting Co. (headed by the Jew, Leonard Goldenson) served notice that the New Orleans Sugar Bowl football classic would not be televised this year because it is segregated . . . The ABC ban, which will cost the Sugar Bowl an estimated $125,000 in TV and radio revenue, may (according to a United Press report) "doom" the Sugar Bowl as an institution. (Note: The ostensible excuse for the ABC's ban of the Sugar Bowl classic is that it cannot find a sponsor for the affair. But neither a lack of sponsors nor public indignation has ever deterred the network from featuring the offensive interracial entertainment with which it befouls the air seven nights a week . . . The truth is that the ABC's refusal to televise the Sugar Bowl game is inspired by propaganda motives—nothing else.)

IF YOU USE Carnation Milk or B. F. Goodrich Tires you will no doubt be interested to learn that Yiddish comedian George Burns (Birnbaum) some time ago donated $2,000 to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). Real funny guy, that George Burns . . .

SOME TIME AGO the all Jewish Phil Silvers Show (YOU'LL NEVER GET RICH) was severely criticized by the Communist press. The complaint was that Silvers had stopped playing up the interracial angle in his comedy version of U.S. Army life. However, it is presumed the comrades are happy once again, since the program now manages to inject a goodly portion of interracial flavor into every show, with Negro "G.I's" cavorting in the barracks and otherwise demonstrating the joys of "integration" in the U.S. Army in a way calculated to gladden the heart of the Daily Worker itself . . .

York", Congressman Bell pointed out that . . . "in 1950, New York courts sent more Negroes to the penitentiary than the courts of Arkansas, Mississippi and South Carolina combined, despite the fact that the total Negro population of those three states exceeds that of New York by 1,317,019" . . .

He also drew a sharp contrast between the Negro crime rate in New York state and his native Mississippi: "According to the 1950 census," he said, "Mississippi's Negro population exceeds New York's Negro population by 68,303. Yet official Justice Department figures show that New York sent twice as many Negroes to prison in 1950 as Mississippi."

The Mississippi solon also compared the Negro crime rate with the white crime rate in both the North and South: "On a per capita basis," he pointed out, "New York sent 9 times as many Negroes to the penitentiary as whites; Pennsylvania sent 8½ times as many Negroes to prison as whites . . . [and] the same pattern holds true practically throughout the integrated states." On the other hand, continued Bell, "among the Southern states, South Carolina actually sent more whites than Negroes to prison on a per capita basis" . . . He then went on to show that whereas the Negro crime rate in the segregated states as a whole was 2½ times higher than the white rate, it was better than 6½ times higher than the white rate in the "integrated" Northern states . . .

These statistics, whose authenticity are beyond question, not only prove that Negro crime is rampant wherever "integration" prevails, but they at the same time disprove the false claim of Northern bleeding hearts that Negroes live under a reign of terror in the South, or that they are denied their constitutional rights in the South's segregated courts. They also strongly s gest that something besides s regation accounts for the lo status of Negroes in this coun As Mr. Bell succinctly put it . "there will always be a seco class citizenship so long as th are second-class citizens" . .

If any further proof were quired to demonstrate the bl inga which Northerners e under "integration", the case Washington D.C. ought to se as a clincher to Rep. Bell's ar ment. Using statistics obtai from the Metropolitan Police partment of Washington D.C. showed that coloreds commi 84% of Washington's murd 90% of the rapes, 86% of robberies and 73% of the th during the year 1955. S Negroes comprise less than of the District's total populat the Negro crime rate in nation's capital assumes alr incredible proportions . . . this, remember, in the one which Eisenhower has design as a "pilot model" of integrat and where by Federal decree.

most. As such he became the immediate target for those intent upon mongrelizing Clinton's schools. For his courageous efforts he was first arrested by local police authorities — and promptly exonerated. He was then arrested a second time and summarily sentenced to one year in a Federal penitentiary by the same Negro-loving Federal judge, Robert Taylor, who had ordered Clinton's schools to be integrated in the first place.

But John Kasper's effort had not been in vain, and for a few hours at least the nation was privileged to witness the reaction of free men against tyranny. It was put down soon—by force—but it lasted long enough to give a hint of things to come if the South is pushed too far . . .

NATIONAL GUARD

It was all over in a short time. When infuriated townspeople threatened to disarm a "home guard" mobilized by the mayor's Negro-catering son, state troopers were called in. And when they were unable to intimidate the local population, Gov. Frank (wonder boy) Clement, himself a strong advocate of "integration", called out the National Guard.

Meanwhile there were flare-ups of violence and bitter opposition in various other parts of the country as the school year got under way. There were anti-integration boycotts and demonstrations in Matoaka, West Virginia and at Mansfield, Texas. Troops were called out at Clay and Sturgis, Kentucky, and at Oliver Springs, Tennessee.

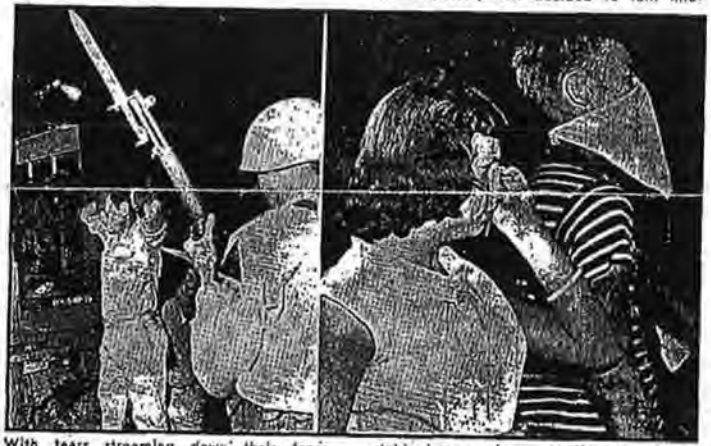

But it was Clinton, Tennessee which held the nation's attention, for here was enacted a drama which many Americans could never believe could occur in the U.S.A.: here the pattern of dictatorship was being fashioned; here the yoke of a future slavery was being shaped.

Here some of governor "Happy" Chandler's boys escort a buck Negro into an all-white school at Sturgis, Ky. Meanwhile, in Clinton, Tenn. (see cut below) tear gas and bayonets were used against white school children and their parents who protested against the admission of Negroes to their school . . . (Note: In the North, w Negroes have already taken over r "integrated" schools, bayonets are not quired to protect Negro students. Ther is the white children who need (but sel receive) protection against dull-min but aggressive, African "classmates".)

This Negro can force his way into a white Kentucky School under the protection of bayonets, but what happens when the troops leave is another matter. Responsibility for this disgraceful situation is directly attributable to two turncoat governors(Clement and Chandler) who decided to ram integration down the throats of the people of Tennessee and Kentucky at gun point. By contrast, Governor Shivers of Texas averted a crisis at Mansfield, Texas by simply dispatching six Texas Rangers—and ordering all Negroes transferred out of Mansfield's all-white High School . . .

With tears streaming down their faces, these school children are shown shortly after they were tear-gassed while attending an anti-integration rally at the Clinton courthouse. To the left a citizen of Clinton is shown being arrested at bayonet point (in nearby Oliver Springs National Guardsmen clubbed one prisoner to the ground with rifle butts). But when Negroes forced their way into Clinton's all-white school, Gov. Clement's troops were there to escort them in. This, obviously, is the kind of "democracy" the N.A.A.C.P. would like to see imposed everywhere . . .

BAYONET LAW

The town of Clinton, U.S.A. took on the aspect of an Iron Curtain city as the troops moved in. Pictures from there were reminiscent of those recently smuggled out of East Berlin and Poznan, Poland (where tanks and bayonets were also used to subdue local populations). Troops patrolled Clinton's streets. Tanks chewed up the pavement as they took up positions near the high school. Machine guns menaced the crowds. Citizens were arrested at bayonet point. Public assembly was banned. Those who dared to speak their opinions too openly were arrested as "agitators" . . .

At the same time the Federal judge who had sentenced John Kasper issued a permanent injunction containing the names of every citizen of Clinton, and making it a crime per se for them to oppose "integration" in any way, shape or form. Under this dictatorial order, any person distributing literature, holding a meeting or even advocating the removal of Clinton's pro-Negro school authorities risked imprisonment for an indefinite period in a felon's cell at a Federal penitentiary. For violating an identical injunction John Kasper had already been sentenced to prison (one of the charges against him being that he had sought to have the school principal ousted) and now the same injunction hangs permanently over the heads of every adult citizen of Clinton. These American's, in short, can now be hauled in for any criticism or any opposition whatever to school "integration", and they can be sentenced to any term the Federal judge sees fit, and they may NOT demand a jury trial . . . This, more than the use of bayonets and tanks, was the truly frightening part of the Clinton story, for it demonstrated that this nation lives under the shadow of dictatorship as total as that imposed upon Hitler's Germany or Stalin's Russia; a dictatorship which has already been tried and tested in Clinton, Tenn. For the lesson to be learned from the affair at Clinton was unmistakable: if the citizens of this one American community can be deprived en masse of their Constitutional rights to freedom of speech, freedom of assembly and right jury trial, then the same tech que can be used to tyrannize enslave an entire state—or entire nation. In short, if people of Clinton, U.S.A. can enjoined at bayonet point, under threat of summary imp sonment, from speaking or act in protest against "integratic then they and every other Am ican can be prohibited from ex cising their Constitutional lib ties in any other controversy the Federal judiciary so deci stories describing the intense "anti-Semitism" of the Polish masses, and telling of renewed activity by the Communist party to suppress this "anti-Semitic prejudice".

On July 6th, for instance, the California JEWISH VOICE featured not one, but two, major news stories on its front page on "Polish anti-Semitism". One, entitled, "Chart Anti-Semitic Upsurge in Poland", began with the following paragraph:

"The attention of leaders of the Communist Party in Poland has been drawn to the growing anti-Jewish sentiment in the country and to the 'poison of anti-Semitism' which is being spread openly at public gatherings, it is reported in the latest issue of the Warsaw Jewish newspaper, 'Folkshtimme' . . . A great number of articles on anti-Semitism are currently appearing in Polish newspapers . . . Some of the articles give clear hints that the sources of the recent anti-Semitic events are being sought within the party."

On the same page of the JEWISH VOICE appeared another story under the headline, "Warsaw Radio Reports New Anti-Jewish Propaganda". This article led off with the remark that . . . "Radio Warsaw has admitted in a broadcast that 'signs of anti-Semitism have lately appeared in public life in Poland.' It pointed out that the present manifestations of anti-Semitism 'cannot be liquidated by orders from above' and emphasized the need to appeal to all the people of the country to combat them" . . .

Other Jewish newspapers carried reports of a similar vein. On August 17th the AMERICAN HEBREW featured a story under the title, "Admits Anti-Semitism in Poland", which began this way:

"The re-emergence of anti-Semitism in Poland since the democratization of Polish life began in the last year is admitted in the current issue of Nowe Drogi, official organ of the United Workers Party, the Polish Communist party, which published an article urging party members to combat anti-Jewish prejudice . . . The general lines of the propaganda campaign to be conducted against anti-Semitism were laid down in Nowe Drogi as follows: 'Anti-Semitism is incompatible with the very essence of the movement whose incarnation is our party. It is incompatible with its ideological and guiding principals. A party member who is enslaved by anti-Semitic prejudices or shows leniency to adherence of anti-Semitism disgraces the banner of the party and betrays the humanist ideas of socialism. The awareness of this must prevail among all party members in all party organizations and agencies". These, be it noted again, are the words of Communist Poland's official party organ, "Nowe Drogi", as reported and commented on by the AMERICAN HEBREW on August 17th of this year.

On the same date (i.e. August 17) the B'NAI B'RITH MESSENGER, which claims to be the West Coast's largest Jewish newspaper, carried a Jewish Telegraph Agency (JTA) story identical to the one appearing in the AMERICAN HEBREW. It also featured the comments of its syndicated columnist, David Horowitz, on the same subject: "Communist leaders in Poland now admit", bleated Horowitz, "that the ugly disease of anti-Semitism is again infecting the Polish masses. They have announced a vigorous campaign against the 'disgrace' ". . .

All of which served to emphasize to Jews everywhere that if and when the smouldering hatred against Communist tyranny ever bursts into the flame of open rebellion (as it threatens to do throughout the Communist empire), the vast Jewish bureaucracy which has ruled the Communist world ever since the Bolshevik revolution is due for a day of reckoning—a day of reckoning which will make Hitler's Nuremburg decrees seem tame by comparison . . .

SIGNIFICANCE: It is essential that the nature and origin of the Polish "anti-Semitism" so widely reported in the Jewish press be properly understood. It is important that this grass roots anti-Semitism among the Polish masses should not be confused with official Communist policy, although Zionist propagandists in this country would like to confuse Americans on that score by having them believe that Jews are being "persecuted" under Communism. As the above facts indic rather conclusively, however, exact opposite is true, since it is Communist regime which is fra cally seeking to suppress "a Semitism" (along with other co ter-revolutionary activity) while Communist-hating Polish peo themselves are rising up agai their Jewish-Communist oppresso

Actually, it is not surprising t the anti-Communist riots at Pozn and elsewhere took on an anti-Se tic aspect, since the enslaved millio behind the Iron Curtain have lo recognized Communism as Jew tyranny. By the same token the c rent campaign of Poland's Co munist party against anti-Semiti is understandable too, since the pa traditionally regards anti-Semiti as counter-revolutionary activity as in fact it is.

The thing to remember is th Communism remains, as it has be since the days of Karl Marx, a Je ish-led conspiracy. For that reas any successful rebellion against Co munism, either in Soviet Russia pr per or in the satellite nations, m by necessity be anti-Jewish. Ame can Jewry knows this, which is g good reason why the Jewish pr took such an avid interest in t anti-Communist riots at Poznan, a the subsequent attempts by the Co munist party to suppress Polish an Semitism.

Incidentally, it is interesting note that since the Poznan rio the Kremlin has made considera efforts to mollify the Polish peop by bettering their living standar and working conditions. Another a parent concession was the remov of the Jew, Jakub Berman, as Dic tor of Poland—a position he h held since the Reds took ov Poland after World War II. Berm was quietly eased out a few mont after the Poznan. riots.

Press Report

BUDAPEST — In August of 1954, when the World Council of Churches held its "World Assembly" at Evanston, Illinois, it became the object of considerable criticism when it seated delegates from behind the Iron Curtain — and particularly when it seated the Communist collaborator and propagandist, Joseph Hromadka, of Czechoslovakia. This year, as the Central Committee of the 162 member World Council of Churches held its annual meeting, there was no such controversy, and no question at all over the presence of Hromadka, or the delegates from Communist China, Rumania, Hungary or Poland. The reason: the organization for the first time in its history held its annual meeting BEHIND the Iron Curtain — in Communist Hungary, to be exact. Some 400 "fraternal" delegates and committeemen (including representatives from all the major U.S. Protestant denominations) were in attendance . . .

WINTER PARK, FLA. — No mention was made of it in the kept commercial press, but the long arm of Jewish censorship reached out last month to silence one of America's great military heroes. The incident occurred when the Jewish-owned Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) requested Gen. George Stratemeyer, the man who commanded the U.S. Air Force in Korea, to deliver a two minute, tape recorded commentary as a part of a half hour radio program commemorating the third anniversary of the Korean armistice. The assigned topic: "What major lesson should we have learned in the Korean War?" General Stratemeyer minced no words: "Had Gen. MacArthur been permitted, he could have thrown the murderous Communist Chinese back across the Yalu as early as Dec. 1950, but those in power in Washington would not allow this . . . Don't ever again fight under the United Nations. You will not be permitted to win . . .". Those were some of the words spoken by General Stratemeyer, but they were not the words that went out over the air. Instead, his tape recorded statement was cut and censored until it bore no resemblance to his original remarks . . . Details of CBS's brazen censorship, along with General Stratemeyer's blistering denunciation of the network, appeared in the September issue of Gerald Winrod's DEFENDER magazine . . .

MOSCOW — Under a Moscow dateline the New York Times reported earlier this month that Lazar Kaganovich, whom it described as "Stalin's No. 1 troubleshooter", has taken over the crucial post of Minister of Building & Materials Industry. Kaganovich, a Jew, enjoys the unique distinction of being doubly related to Stalin — his sister having been married to the dictator, while his son is married to Stalin's only daughter. Kaganovich is a First-Deputy Premier, an "old Bolshevik", and a leading member of the Presidium which rules Soviet Russia today.

The headquarters of the Conservative Republican Party in San Francisco was financed by L&P. The program of the Conservative Republican Party was to split both major parties and combine their right-wing elements into one party and put a right-wing program over. Conservative Republicans did not expect to defeat nomination of EISENHOWER but wanted to be ready if such a possibility existed.

II. STATED PROGRAM AND OBJECTIVES

The "San Francisco Chronicle" in its final Home Edition on August 24, 1956, published an article which stated that the "Conservative Republican Headquarters" was located in a vacant building at 1263 Market Street, San Francisco, which was to serve as "a focal point for strategy in opposition to the schemes of the Liberals" and "a nerve center for fast organized action in case the unexpected happens."

According to the article there was present, among others, WILLIE CARTO, the young Executive Director of an organization known as "Liberty and Property" which is footing the bill for the Headquarters. CARTO feels the United States should "immediately withdraw from the impotent and subversive United Nations."

SF 105-3824
PMA:vrg

[redacted] on October 1, 1956, furnished a Convention Supplement to the September, 1956 issue of "Right" which stated that the Right Wing must work to split the two major parties of the United States so that the Right Wingers of each party could join together their part of a right-wing program. b2 b7D

[redacted] on September 11, 1956, furnished "Progress Report #7" on the letterhead of L&P, Post Office Box 180, San Francisco 1, California, dated August 1, 1956. This report is addressed "To All Enrollees and Good Friends of L&P" and stated in part that many persons had volunteered to help at the Conservative Republican Headquarters in San Francisco during the convention week.

The report stated, "As you can see, the Conservative Republican Headquarters will be more than a place to meet and talk to ourselves. It will be a constructive attack on the so called 'two-party' system right in the very nest of Socialist-Internationalist intrigue."

The report reflected that they did not believe that this relatively "small-time" operation was going to prevent IKE's re-nomination. They did believe that they would be negligent unless they were prepared for the unexpected. If IKE does withdraw at the last moment, the report reflected that there would be "marching masses of paid partisans beating drums and whooping it up for another Internationalist-Liberal to continue IKE's 'Great Crusade' of Socialism, traitor-coddling, patriot-persecuting and Internationalism." The report stated that in this eventuality they should have force of their own ready to swing into action at a moments notice for a candidate of their choice.

The report also reflected the following:

"THE RECORD OF LIBERTY & PROPERTY

"We believe that to date L&P has the most outstanding record of success of any patriotic organization. For instance, the DIRECTORY of 'Rightist' Groups that we publish has had a tremendous impact on the "thinking of the American Rightwing. It has started innumerable thousands thinking about the mutual problems of the patriotic forces of our land as a whole instead of as isolated groups. Consequently, it has achieved its goal of bringing all 'a little closer together.' Our publication, RIGHT, has also been a terrific success in this way. Especially in view of the very severe shortage of money with which all this has been accomplished, we think that our record is hard to equal.

"Now what I am trying to say is this: We will make this operation a success also if it is humanly possible to do so.

"There is only one fly in the ointment, my friend, and that is the alarming lack of money we have with which we are to do this big job.

"HAVE BORROWED MONEY

"But we are not letting that stop us. We have such faith in the tremendous importance of this operation that we have gone ahead without money and we have, in fact, borrowed funds that have to be repaid.

"So the purpose of this letter is to bring the situation to your attention in the hope that you may be able to help us along a little. I assure you that every dime you send will be gratefully appreciated.

"FUND TO HELP SAVE THE REPUBLIC

"The Ford Foundation gave fifteen million dollars to the 'Fund For The Republic' which that organization uses to promote communism.

"We are setting up the FUND TO HELP SAVE THE REPUBLIC and the purpose of this Fund is to finance activities of the San Francisco CONSERVATIVE REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS. We can do as much with fifteen "hundred dollars and the truth as the Fund For the Republic can do with fifteen million dollars and Paul Hoffman.

"If you live in the east, can you reply by air? Just put six cents postage on the enclosed envelope and mark it 'Airmail.' Haste is vitally important because your response to this will decide how much we can expand our activities.

"Yours for victory,

"Bruce Holman "Willis Carto
Secretary Executive Director"

III. FINANCES

[redacted] on October 1, 1956, furnished a mimeographed letter on the letterhead of "Right" dated September 1, 1956, thanking everyone for their response to their emergency appeal in behalf of the "Fund to Help Save the Republic." Their goal of $1,500 for the fund was met in full, which enabled L&P to finance the Conservative Republican Headquarters and to produce the fine record of achievement that it did during the Republican Convention. b2 b7D

The letter further invited the reader to subscribe or to furnish subscriptions to anyone else.

The letter was signed WILLIS CARTO, Executive Director, L&P, Publishers of "Right".

[redacted] on September 11, 1956, furnished "Progress Report #7" on the letterhead of L&P dated August 1, 1956. This report addressed to "All Enrollees and Good Friends of L&P" stated in part as follows:

"HAVE BORROWED MONEY

"But we are not letting that stop us. We have such faith in the tremendous importance of this operation that we have gone ahead without money and we have, in fact, borrowed funds that have to be ropaid.

"So the purpose of this letter is to bring the situation to your attention in the hope that you may be able to help us along a little. I assure you that every dime you send will be gratefully appreciated.

"FUND TO HELP SAVE THE REPUBLIC

"The Ford Foundation gave fifteen million dollars to the 'Fund For The Republic' which that organization uses to promote communism.

"We are setting up the FUND TO HELP SAVE THE REPUBLIC and the purpose of this Fund is to finance activities of the San Francisco CONSERVATIVE REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS. We can do as much with fifteen hundred dollars and the truth as the Fund For The Republic can do with fifteen million dollars and Paul Hoffman."

IV. ACTIVITIES

[redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, on August 23, 1956, advised that he spoke with WILLIS A. CARTO at the Conservative Republican Headquarters on Market Street in San Francisco. At this time, CARTO said that he was not against labor as labor but was against the abuses perpetrated by the officials of labor unions and the injustices that they practice on the rank and file of the union, the general public, and employers. b2 b7D

According to the informant, CARTO was against foreign aid. He said that most bankers in the United States are against this give-away program. The only bankers who are for the aid program are those, who for one reason or another, are getting some of their money back through their banks or as individuals.

CARTO was opposed to taking part in any war in the Middle East. He said it was best for the United States to keep out of any private throat cutting in the Middle East or any other involvements.

According to the informant CARTO stated that they do not consider the Jews as a whole as being good Americans or capable of being good Americans. CARTO stated that they did not intend to support the Arabs either.

The "San Francisco Chronicle" on September 7, 1956, in its final edition published a letter to the Editor from WILLIS CARTO, Executive Director, L&P, San Francisco. CARTO objected to an article published in the "Chronicle" on August 24, 1956 which, according to CARTO, mispelled his name.

CARTO also objected to the "dishonest and vicious treatment" given by the "Chronicle" in its article on Governor J. BRACKEN LEE of Utah, at a reception for the press at the Conservative Republican Headquarters. CARTO demanded an apology from the paper.

CARTO also said that the paper misquoted him personally in stating that the United Nations was "impotent and subversive". CARTO stated that what he really said was that the United Nations was "impotent but subversive. Impotent for the purpose we created it, ie, to stop war, but subversive because of the haven it is for spies and because of its anti-national propaganda and activities which are designed to throw the American people unknowingly into a world Government."

[redacted] on September 11, 1956, furnished a mimeographed "Progress Report #7" addressed "To All Enrollees and Good Friends of L&P." The letter stated that they felt that the L&P has the most outstanding record of success of the new patriotic organizations. Their Directory of "Rightist" groups has brought them all closer together. The publication of "Right" has achieved a similar success, especially in view of the severe shortage of money. They felt that their record was hard to equal. b2 b7D

The letter was signed BRUCE HOLMAN, Secretary, and WILLIS CARTO, Executive Director, L&P.

[redacted] on October 18, 1956, furnished a mimeographed leaflet entitled, "To All Conservatives in the Bay Area," which was a bulletin on the proper procedure to follow

so that your vote will be counted for the two nominees of the Constitution Party, T. COLEMAN ANDREWS, and THOMAS H. WERDEL. The leaflet explained how to vote for these candidates on voting machines or by absent ballot. The leaflet was signed by Mrs. S.G. CLARK, Chairman, Quill Club, Mrs. T.H. LARKE, Jr., Treasurer, Quill Club, Mrs. L.C. ROBINSON, member Executive Committee, Quill Club, and WILLIS CARTO, Executive Director, Liberty and Property, Inc.

V. EXCERPTS FROM "RIGHT"

[redacted] on October 1, 1956, furnished the September, 1956 issue of "Right" which stated that President EISENHOWER was going to withdraw as a candidate but changed his mind when the rumor leaked out. "Right" accused MILTON EISENHOWER of attempting to break the American Government and business by a crusade to "end poverty on earth." b2 b7D

The special Convention Supplement stated that the Left Wing candidates gained when they elected STEVENSON as the candidate. The southern Democrats sold out to the northern Democrats to protect their congressional leadership posts.

The special Convention Supplement also attempted to justify setting up the Republican Conservative Headquarters in San Francisco by showing supposedly how many persons were contacted and how much literature was distributed. They accused the Young Republicans of dishonesty, hypocrisy and corruption which "Right" stated they were learning from their elders in the GOP.

The special Convention Supplement stated that "Right" must work to split the two parties down the middle in order to put their Right-Wing program over.

[redacted] on October 17, 1956, furnished the November, 1956 #14 issue of "Right" which contained an article pertaining to be an expose on the background of President EISENHOWER, in which it accuses the President of "selling out a whole civilization and way of life." EISENHOWER is named as the man responsible for the fact that the "West is almost completely unprepared to cope with the rapidly-growing might of Central Asia." The article reflects that China's growing population, controlled by Russian advanced technical perfection, will overcome the United States in the not too distant future.

The article further stated that EISENHOWER is a very dangerous politician for the United States because he has posed as a Conservative when, in actuality, he is an extreme Liberal. The article states that ADLAI and ESTES are "known to be communists"and the article states that EISENHOWER is just as far to the left as ADLAI.

"Right" reflects that they will fight on to rid the United States of EISENHOWER and others like him.

[redacted] on November 24, 1956, furnished the December, 1956, #15 issue of "Right". This issue reflected that President EISENHOWER promised the voters of the United States to keep this country out of war. "Right" accuses EISENHOWER of bowing to the British, the Zionists, and the international bankers, and vested interests in the Middle East oil fields. The article reflects that the best way to stay out of a war is to stay out of the small incidents such as the Middle East oil and Suez crises. "Right" said that the United States has no right to become tangled in the problems of other countries or for vested interests. b2 b7D

All literature furnished by [redacted] also contained various mimeographed requests for new subscriptions or subscription literature to be sent to other persons.

Careful consideration has been given to each source concealed, and "T" symbols were used only where the sources must be protected.

In view of the Bureau's recent directive not to investigate Citizens' Councils or similar organizations, and in view of the fact that the activities of Liberty and Property is limited primarily to the publication of the news letter, "Right", this case is being closed with this report. Any pertinent information concerning the expansion of L&P activities will be furnished promptly to the Bureau.

Photostats of the monthly copies of "Right" will be furnished to the Bureau as directed by previous Bureau instructions until the yearly subscription runs out in April, 1957. The Bureau will be requested at that time to determine whether an additional year's subscription will be necessary.

THE RIGHT LINE (An Editorial)

THE ISSUE

ON THE VIRTUE OF GENEROSITY

"Some rise by sin and some by virtue fall."
--Shakespeare. Measure for Measure

Western Civilization has been blessed with statesmen whose generosity (Ugh!) has never been questioned. Let us inquire into the case of one J. F. Dulles, at present the Head Soda Jerk at the free lunch counter, Striped Pants Department, Washington.

Just the other day the world was priviledged to witness the ponderous cerebrations of this virtuous character.

Now this was quite an occasion by itself, as usually Jerk John whooshes by so fast that he hardly has time for even a gay fare-thee-well.

But this time he stayed around long enough to speak at the annual luncheon of the Associated (controlled) Press, and all present had the rare opportunity to ponder upon his profound gurglings with the respect they deserved.

Mister Dulles is of an odd breed, much like his worthy contemporaries, Frankie Roosevelt and Winnie Churchill. He has all the facts handy at his well-manicured fingertips but has yet, strangely enough, to make the right interpretation of them! It must be an occupational disease. Yet it is too bad, in a way, because it is because of Jerks like Emperor Franklin and Sir Winston Barleycorn and Perfesser John that the West continues to commit suicide. We, the people of the crumbling West, owe a great debt to the likes of Perfesser John.

Perfesser John Foster Dulles pracices Eisenhower grin; does good job, too!

Emperor Frankie and Sir Barleycorn demonstrated their selfless generosity in the last war, when their wise policies installed the Russian-mongol hordes in the heart of Europe and obliterated Germany, one of the few anti-communist forces the West has ever produced.

Not to be outdone, Laughing Boy Ike proved that his generosity was also unusual by making a gratis gift of Berlin, much of Germany and the Balkans to his buddies in the Kremlin. As a matter of fact you might say that Laughing Boy was sort of a star--a red star--donor because his famous grin never left his honest face as he forcibly turned over some two to five million anti-Communist civilians and soldiers to the Russians, not to mention some 75,000 German scientists and technicians and the Uranium mines of Czechoslovakia. These civilians, by the way, were obviously mentally ill, as they refused to return willingly to the Communist paradise they had fled from. Consequently, Laughing Boy apparently felt it his duty to see that they were forcibly returned for therapy. It is reported that the therapy administered to them by the NKVD was amputation of the head at the neck, and that the rate of cure was 100%!

The Russians were so grateful for this foreign aid that they promptly bestowed on Laughing Boy their rare and jewel-bedecked Suvorov Medal, and even temporarily switched drinks to Martinis from their native Vodka at his urgent request, causing some skeptics to assert that Ike always expects favors in return for favors.

Laughing Boy's generosity was so unstinted that one might judge that it far outdid the better-known generosity of a certain Henry Dexter White, whose compassion for the underpriviledged Russians led this idealist to give them American money plates so that they could print American taxpayer-backed bills whenever the spirit moved.

All in all, we might say, these statesmen have been so generous with the resources of the West that they have all but given away Western civilization. But never fear; we may rest assured that what little is left will not be left for long if Perfesser John has his way. Read on:

Currently, Perfesser John--with the avid help of Laughing Boy, we assume--is engaged in the task of completing the work so auspiciously begun by that much-maligned Atlantic Unionist, Benedict Arnold, whose own generosity, you may recall, once was also greatly appreciated in certain quarters overseas.

To get back to our story, after licking the whipped cream from his pinkies and flicking a crumb of cake from his well-turned French cuff, the Perfesser gave a broad, Ike-like grin and began his lecture at this luncheon. After explaining that the threat of Russia is growing less and less each day the inimitable Perfesser continued with irrefutable logic to point out that this lessening of tension obviously demands "greater emphasis on cooperation" between the NATO nations. Now translated into American this means that it is high time that the United States cope with this "lessening threat" by setting up an international authority which would give orders to American citizens without regard to American law. (If you find this clear logic hard to follow for God's sake don't let on or you will find yourself a candidate for therapy to cure your mental illness.)

We might point out that the federal courts, after 26 years of generous attention by Emperor Frankie, Give-'em-Hell Harry and Laughing Boy Ike, can be relied upon to see to it that Perfesser John's vision of American subservience to alien control is not a mere burst of boyish enthusiasm.

And then came the bombshell. The Perfesser, unquestionably out of wild chance alone, said something completely true, indicating that his writer must have slipped up. "The historic weakness of the West has been its disunity," read the great man. "Out of this disunity came wars which have taken the lifeblood of its finest youth and weakened its economies."

Now what conclusion are we to draw from this? Well, according to the Perfesser, only a reactionary bumpkin would infer that the way to strengthen the West is to strengthen the West. Of course not! Every well-perfumed liberal knows that the way to strengthen the West is to further weaken and disunite it: "More independence needs to be perfected." (What does that mean?) "More economic development needs to be planned and supported (by whom?) throughout the world. More sense of equality and human brotherhood needs to be developed." (Oh-oh! There are those words again!)

In case you have any doubts as to the Perfesser's meaning, please refer to his speech a few days later to the 100% American secret society known as B'nai B'rith (Bad Breath), where he warmed to his task and said, "We should be able to help find relationships expressive of true brotherhood and recognition of the fact that other civilizations than our own have immense values. We perhaps have material and technical things to give. They also have things to give. And if we are wise enough to take what other civilizations have to offer the balance struck between us will not be one-sided."

It is as clear as daylight, of course! The way to save the West is to commit suicide! Let us give ourselves away forthwith. Let us give our treasure to the natives of the Congo and our blue-eyed daughters to the natives of Harlem! Let us give everything away in one grand, final orgy of "equality" and "brotherhood" and then depart this life forever! Be generous--that's the way to "maintain (the) solidarity of the West," as the Perfesser expresses it.

RIGHT respectfully suggests that the first thing we might give away under this promising new program is Perfesser John!

And the sooner, the better!

ADDENDUM: Traitors and irrational fools can never be made to see that The Issue is East versus West until it is much too late. The Issue is preservation, not integration. It is pride, not shame. It is courage, not cowardice. It is survival, not suicide.

The Issue is West versus East, not West into East.

Flash! A RIGHT SCOOP! EXCLUSIVE: Anne Smart, 7 Liberty St., Larkspur, Cal., who has earned the bitter hatred of progressive "educationists" for her exposure of pornographic books in her local high school which were placed there by subverters in order to destroy American youths, has been quietly ordered by the Postmaster General to immediately cease sending "obscene" material through the mails or face stern punishment! This "obscene" material consists of verbatim excerpts from the books themselves! (One of the worst of the books is by Richard Wright. More of him later.) Apparently, the book publishers are to be allowed to continue to send the books through the mails to the schools which order them. Note the typical communist tactic of applying a double standard: One standard for Anne Smart, who is anti-communist and a patriot; another standard for the well-heeled promoters of the communistic filth.

Flash! ANOTHER EXCLUSIVE: A federal court in Washington has just handed down a decision which, in effect, gives official sanction to Maj. George Racey Jordan's charge that traitors in Washington, during the war, shipped expensive mining equipment, confiscated from American citizens, to the Russians so that they could dig Uranium!

WPB Order L-208, issued October 8, 1942, requisitioned certain gold mining equipment giving as excuse the lie that it was vitally needed for strategic copper mining. This seizure of private property shut down 200 mines in California alone, and made many ghost towns. Instead of being used to mine copper, however, the equipment was spirited off to Russia where it was used to mine Uranium!

15. 4993 - 31.

After the war, upon learning how they had been victimized, the gold mine owners sued the federals for damages, and they have just won their case. The decision will force the poor taxpayer to pay the mine operaters between 200 and 300 million dollars--and all because of wartime treason!

PATRIOTIC PROFILES: Whereas the only bone of contention on the Left is "Stalinism" (they all agree on a form of marxism) the Right is rich-hued in its variety. Whether this variety strengthens or weakens the Rightwing is a point of controversy. But the personalities within the Right are as diverse as life itself, though they are, God love them, all 100% American. Take Robert LeFevre and Lawrence Dennis as examples. It would be hard to find two men whose economic thinking is as widely diverse, yet all in all their similarities outweigh divergences.

DENNIS

To start with (though this will shock RIGHT's readers) both of these men are bigamists! For besides each being married to a lovely and musically-talented woman these two men are married to two principles: LeFevre is married to the stern goddess of human liberty and Dennis is married to the demanding nymph of nationalism!

Here are two quotes which sum up LeFevre: "The Libertarian philosophy is the study of man's nature, his individuality, his gregariousness, his economic abilities, his political foibles. The Libertarian philosophy is the concept of unlimited freedom and limited government. It is opposed to all kinds of collectivism. It favors bedrock Americanism." "Government is evil to the extent that it uses compulsion and, like other evils, unnecessary."

Dennis' most famous quote also sums up his granite-like outlook best. Written in 1940 of the then-predicted success of Roosevelt's war mongering, he said, "As soon as we enter the war I shall try to join up in any capacity in which I shall be found most useful. If I am found too old or incompetent for line duty . . . I shall be delighted to serve my country with its war propaganda. I am just as ready to lie as to kill for my country. Any ethic which does not put a man's country above all else is a stench in my nostrils."

LeFEVRE

Both men are brilliant writers; LeFevre being the editorialist for the Colorado Springs, Colo. Gazette-Telegraph and Dennis being the author of such prophetic books as The Dynamics of War and Revolution and publisher of The Appeal To Reason, Becket, Mass.

Both men are self-made and are therefore hardheaded realists. LeFevre, besides being a noted philosopher and prophet of Freedom, is a natural-born leader and organizer and was primarily responsible for the success of the San Francisco CONGRESS OF FREEDOM which, held in 1955, severly criticised the UN. Dennis managed to acquire a Harvard education, served in the AEF in 1917, worked for the State Department for seven years, resigned to join a Wall Street banking firm and retired in 1930 to write.

If consistency is a virtue, these men are saints. Take Dennis, for example. One of the superb martyrs at Roosevelt's faked and phoney "Mass Sedition Trial" of 1944 when the Roosevelt Communists persecuted 30 patriots for their anti-interventionism, he is no more favorable to overseas adventuring now than he was then. In a recent Appeal, he said, "The present function of American meddling all over the world is to build up and activate colored war unity against the whites and to expedite racial integration and assimilation in this country. Well, the Southern internationalist followers of Wilson are certainly getting what they asked for . . . and Ike is just the type to preside over it all. He does not understand what it is all about."

The differing outlook of the two men can be seen in this example: Both are utterly against the UN. But whereas LeFevre objects primarily to the restrictions on liberty that the UN bureaucracy would place on the individual, and the communistic slant of its activities, Dennis criticises the outfit for its general stupidity and unrealistic approach to history.

And there are two even more convincing ways to prove that these leaders are on the same side: The ADL has attempted to taint them both with the smear of "anti-Semitic," though, needless to add, neither have ever written or spoken against the Jews. Furthurmore, neither LeFevre nor Dennis have ever been granted so much as a thin dime from the Ford, Rockefeller or Carnegie Foundations!

FROM HERE, THERE AND 'MOST EVERYWHERE: While the liberals continue their well-financed and well-reported bawling about the mythical "persecution" of numerous traitor scum their typical hypocrisy prevents them from bringing their vast resources to the aid of real martyrs who--at this very moment--are being railroaded into prison or worse by corrupt federal courts. Hero Lucille Miller (Bethel, Vt.) who, with her husband Manuel is fighting a single-handed battle for the Constitution and freedom, writes to RIGHT: "Our appeals were turned down. . . It's very flattering to be the victims of a news blackout but rather inconvenient too as it makes for much letter writing. . . We may be in prison by the time you get this but whatever happens we know we hurt the communists real bad so it will be worth it." . . In the May 2 issue, National Review carried a superior article "Why does the World Hate America?" Conclusion by author Ray Cartier: "One, Americans are white; two, they are rich; three, they are the richest of the white peoples--three indelible facts which insure them, no matter what they do, the unfavorable prejudice of a majority of the world's inhabitants." . . The extreme Leftwing Nation reviews Richard Wright's latest book, The Color Curtain. Wright, who is colored himself, is a veteran redfronter and author of books declared obscene by the Postoffice. Now he generously tells his "solution," which sounds as if it is the source of Secretary Dulles' ideas: "The West must abandon all assumptions of racial superiority (and) an economic levelling-up must be accepted voluntarily. The white Westerner will have to accept . . . a much, much lower standard of living for that is what the de-Occidentalization of present-day mankind will bring about." In other words, SUICIDE is the answer. And these idiots are the ones calling us "mentally ill!" Pass the aspirn, please. . . Incidentally, be sure and read The True Story of Red China in the May 18 U.S.News & World Report. By an old China hand, it says things like "What the (West) faces is a monstrous bloc of 900 million people. . .What Napoleon dreamed of and Kaiser Wilhelm warned against--the yellow masses controlled by a predatory power--has at last come true!" This sounds like a RIGHT editorial! . . See April Southern Conservative (Flatiron Bldg., Ft. Worth). Quoting from an Eastland Report which, in turn, quotes Fred Smith, onetime Assistant to Secretary Morgenthau, this astounding revelation comes to light: "On August 7, 1944, in a tent in southern England, the Morgenthau Plan was born. Actually it was General Dwight D. Eisenhower who launched the project!" And to think that we've all blamed it on Harry Dexter White! . . Austin Howard, 430 Hawthorne St., Glendale, Calif., has a brochure out selling for $2 per 100 giving many little-known facts about the person in the White House. . . In the May Faith and Freedom (1521 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles 17) Gerald Heard packs an atom bomb in the middle of a terrific article. Correctly states Heard: "Certainly Genetics, the science of inheritance, has proved the inequalities of men. . . Whether (this) is undemocratic or no it is certainly unsocialistic. . . Men are unequal." Such plain talk, to date, has been to much for many Rightwingers who prefer to steer clear of the subject entirely. . . HOW ABOUT THE NEW BRICKER AMENDMENT? many Rightwingers are asking. Is it good? Opinion is divided but the VIGILANT WOMEN FOR THE BRICKER AMENDMENT (Route 4, Oshkosh, Wisc.) to date strong supporters, have come out opposed to the new version, claiming that it is insufficient. Not all Americanists agree with this view. Write Frank Holman, Hoge Bldg., Seattle, Wash., for arguments in favor of it. . . Congressman H.R. Gross (R, Ia) inserted into the March 13 Record an article in the VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS Newsletter which criticizes the Internal Revenue Service for their biased stand in refusing to grant tax-exemption to FOR AMERICA while such Leftwing outfits as the Atlantic Union Committee, Urban League, AJC, AAUN, NCC, NEA, American Friends Service Committee, Ford Foundation, ad nauseum, have the priviledge. . . Talmadge's recent statement of support for Stevenson hit many of his backers like a bombshell. While many entrenched Southern politicians fiddle, however, the South-hating radicals are burning with plans to scuttle the Dixiecrats and it begins to look as if the South will be unceremoniously thrown out regardless. Reuther makes no bones about it: "You cannot have Mr. Eastland and us at the same time;" and trotskyite weeklies like Labor Action and Weekly People demand the isolation of Dixie.

THAT ARE RIGHT: Americanist religious leaders are striking back with vigor at the unChristian and satanic doctrine of integration, so at variance with God's Word as revealed in the Holy Bible. Deprived of the huge funds which would be provided for them as a matter of course were they to advocate the communist principle of forcible integration, they are turning to cheap pamphlets and booklets to spread the truth.
